Simple, rigid construction. Fully enclosed cabinet. Noiseless in operation. Cylinder reverses every oth revolution combining advantages of revolving and oscillating principle. Latest improved safety features a plied to washer, wringer and motor.

Attractiveness: The "Universal" leads the field. The neat cabinet in which the whole machine is enclosed is beautifully decorated in distinctive blue gray enamel with decorative trade mark design. This gives an ornamental feature which appeals to the housewife who takes pride in her household equipment. Table top cover easily removed

Safety: All moving parts are entirely enclosed, eliminating any danger to children or operator from motor or driving mechanism. Can only be started by a positive motion—shifting the control lever to its correct position—the quick release control stops the machine by simply striking outward the knob of the control lever. The tension of the wringer rolls can be instantly released by one stroke of the hand. All electric connections thoroughly insulated

Automatic Safety Clutch in Drive Shaft: Should motor become overloaded, due to clothing clogging in the rolls, the Patented "Universal" Safety Clutch will immediately cut off power from cylinder and wringer thus preventing possible injury to motor or mechanism. When overload is relieved by reversing the wringer control the washer will start immediately. Without a doubt the most efficient and effective clutch on any Electric Clothes Washer.

Efficiency: By comparative tests the "Universal" Electric Clothes Washer has proved to be in a class by itself when it comes to thoroughly cleaning both the daintiest and heaviest fabrics in the quickest time and with the least possible labor.

Simplicity and durability: The control is simple, handy and very easily operated. All mechanism is easily accessible by removing one of the side panels—will not require the constant service which has been the bug-bear of most Electric Clothes Washers.

Mechanical Superiority: Equipped throughout with accurately cut gears completely enclosed and running in oil, eliminating the usual lubricating troubles. In ordinary use these parts will not have to be oiled for several years. Will give service for a lifetime if used according to directions.

The Wringer: Latest improved swinging wringer, cannot be operated unless locked in position. Position cannot be changed while rolls are in motion.

The Cylinder. Automatically stops with opening at the top and locks in that position thus preventing the cylinder from rolling while clothes are being put in or taken out Durable, sanitary, zinc cylinder, reversible typ Length 18½ in. Diam. inside 18 in. Wgt. 19 l Easily removed and cleaned Size and construction cylinder holes prevent possible injury to most delica fabric Cylinder revolves twice one way, then revers revolving twice in opposite direction, making 18 co plete revolutions per minute. Action combines adv tages of both revolving and oscillating type washe When not operating cylinder automatically locks position with opening at top. There are 5 Maple Lift on the inside of cylinder which carry the clothes up til they fall back of their own weight into the l suds. The action of hot suds surging through clothes as they fall, washes out the dirt.

The Tub: Quick draining, easily cleaned, galvaniz tub with settling zone. Drain cock outside of cabi 10¾ in. from floor, has threaded end for attaching ho if desired.

What's Your Telephone Score?

EVERY DAY many pleasant voices go over the telephone—many, many thousands of them. And it seems to us the number is growing all the time. For most people realize the business and social value of "The Voice with a Smile."

Sometimes what may appear like a gruff or hasty manner is not meant that way at all, but is simply carelessness or thoughtlessness.

Since this is the age of quizzes, how about a short one on some points of telephone usage?

Do You Talk Directly Into the Telephone?

The proper way to use the telephone for best results is to hold the transmitter directly in front of the lips while you are talking.

Do You Speak Pleasantly?

It may be your best friend or best customer. Greet him as pleasantly as you would face to face. Pleasant people get the most fun out of life.

Do You Hang Up Gently?

Thoughtlessly slamming the receiver may seem discourteous to the person to whom you have been talking. It's better to hang up gently.

Do You Talk Naturally?

Normal tone of voice is best. Whispered words are indistinct. Shouting distorts the voice and may make it gruff and unpleasant.

Do You Answer Promptly?

Delay in answering may mean that you miss an important call. The person calling may decide that no one is there and hang up.

"The Voice with a Smile"

can be a real asset. Haven't you often said—"My, but she has a pleasant voice." Or—"I like to do business with them because they are so nice over the telephone."

It's contagious too. When some one speaks pleasantly to you, it's easy to answer in the same manner. Many times a good impression is made by the sound of a voice over the telephone.

OUR PART IN NATIONAL DEFENSE

The Bell System is a nation-wide telephone system — ready to serve the United States in normal times or emergency. It has . .

Walter S. Gifford, President, American Telephone and Telegraph Company

1. The trained forces to operate telephone equipment and plant.
2. The trained staffs to direct these operations.
3. The latest motorized, mechanized telephone groups of great mobility which can concentrate anywhere quickly.
4. A dependable service of supply that reaches anywhere in the United States.
5. A source of supply — the Western Electric Company, devoted to telephone manufacture.
6. A great laboratory that brings the advance of science to bear on the improvement of telephony.
7. The financial strength to keep going and work ahead for the future.

Each is important. All are necessary for good telephone service from day to day and for the needs of national defense.

It is the organization, the team-work, that counts. That means trained, experienced men and management, working together and planning ahead, so that the right material and the right "know how" will be at the right place at the right time.

A NATION UNITED BY TELEPHONE

JUST twenty-five years ago, on January 25, 1915, the first transcontinental telephone call was made. East and West were united.

President Woodrow Wilson talked from the White House across the country, testifying to the nation's pride "that this vital cord should have been stretched across America as a sample of our energy and enterprise."

The inventor of the telephone, Alexander Graham Bell, in New York, repeated across the continent to San Francisco the first words ever heard over a telephone—"Mr. Watson, come here, I want you"—to the same Thomas A. Watson who had heard them in the garret workshop in Boston in 1876.

That ceremony ushered in transcontinental service twenty-five years ago. At that time it cost $20.70 to call San Francisco from New York. Now it costs $6.50 for a station-to-station call and only $4.25 after seven in the evening and all day Sunday.

In 1915 it took about half an hour, on the average, to make a connection. Now most calls are put through without hanging up.

These are measures of progress in the never-ending effort of the Bell System to give faster, clearer, more useful and courteous service to the people of the United States.

"AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE COST"

Keeping rates low, in the face of rising costs, has been one of the outstanding achievements of the Bell System.

This would not have been possible without efficiency all along the line, economies resulting from centralized research and manufacture, and a sincere desire to serve the best interests of the public.

"IT'S MY FAVORITE BARGAIN"

"A bargain," says the dictionary, "is an advantageous transaction."

Telephone service is like that.

Advantageous to you because it saves time, steps and trouble. Stands guard over the security of your home. Helps you to keep in touch with relatives and friends.

And does all of this as a real bargain should—at low cost. Pennies buy wings when you reach for the telephone.

We live in a big country and it takes a big telephone company to give good service to millions of people. The Bell System is doing its part in providing for the nation's telephone needs, whatever they may be.

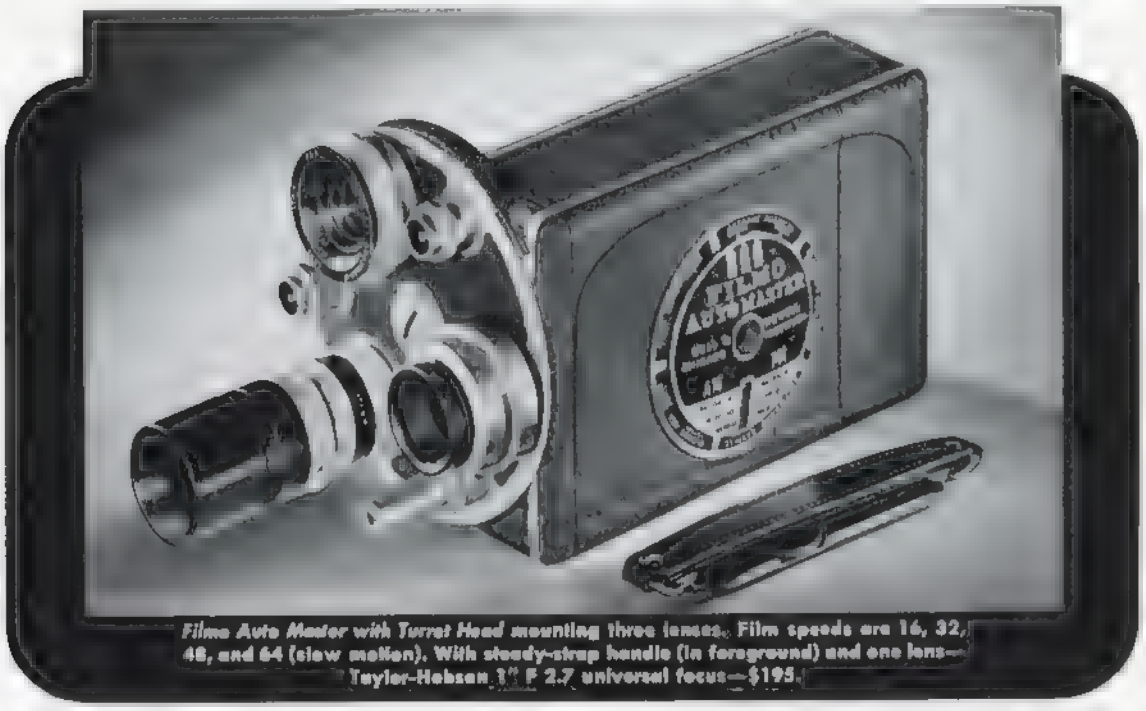
FILMO AUTO MASTER WITH TURRET HEAD

. . . the ace of 16 mm. magazine-loading motion picture cameras . . . by Bell & Howell



Filmo Auto Master with Turret Head mounting three lenses. Film speeds are 16, 32, 48, and 64 (slow motion). With steady-strap handle (in foreground) and one lens—Taylor-Hobson 1" F 2.7 universal focus—$195.

YOU have never seen . . . nor heard . . . nor read about this camera before. It is the ace of 16 mm. magazine-loading motion picture cameras—the newest member of a new line, combining matchless craftsmanship with practical rewards that eclipse anything you have seen.

Loading can be done in three seconds. There is no threading of film over sprockets. The magazine slides into place. One sweeping motion brings Auto Master into action. A built-in exposure chart gives readings, at a single setting, for both color and black-and-white film. By rotating the turret head, any one of three lenses and its matching viewfinder unit are placed in position. Positive-type viewfinder provides exceptionally brilliant image even in poor light—and what you see, you get.

Precision-built by the makers of Hollywood's professional equipment, with the infinite attention to detail for which Bell & Howell is famed . . . with four speeds, including slow motion . . . with fast, color-corrected lens . . . with single frame exposure for animation work . . . and every other advanced feature, Filmo Auto Master combines versatility that matches the most advanced skill with simplicity that smooths the path of the beginner. See it at your dealer's—or mail the coupon for details. Bell & Howell Company, Chicago; New York; Hollywood; London. Established 1907.

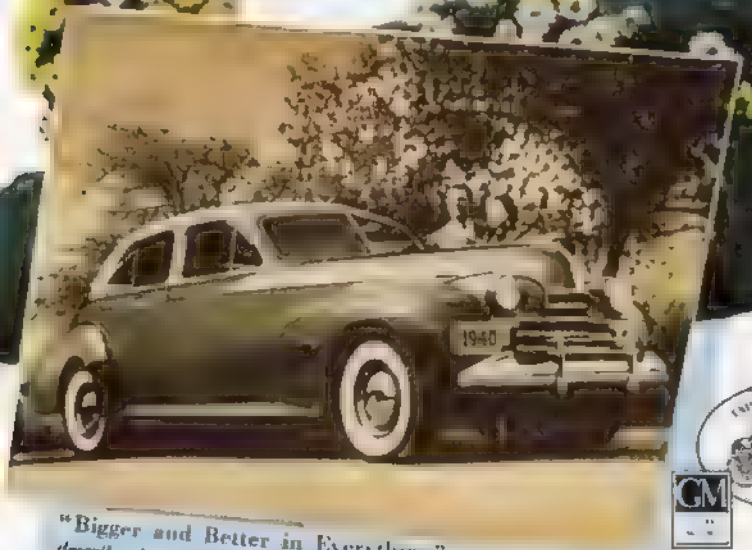
the pick of Spring Beauties!

IN spring it's beauty that gets the call, which explains why the new Body by Fisher is so much in evidence this season • There's no mistaking the cars that have it. You can tell at a glance by the longer, lower, ultra-modern lines it gives them • But better still, is the difference you feel when you ride in this latest accomplishment of Fisher craftsmen—the luxurious feel of room to spare, of sofa-soft seats and rich upholstery—the eye-opening, eye-saving benefits of this year's Planned Vision • Little wonder that smart motorists are saying, "The buy-word for '40 is Body by Fisher"—which means a General Motors car, of course.

Just add up the features the new Unisteel Turret Top Body by Fisher brings the Oldsmobile Custom 8 Cruiser below—a wider front seat and a wider windshield, an 18% larger back window, stronger, double-wall steel construction, and the use of safer, clear-vision, Hi-Test Safety Plate Glass not only in the windshield—but in all door windows and Ventipanes, too.



"Bigger and Better in Everything"—that's how its owners describe the 1940 Oldsmobile with its new Unisteel Body by Fisher.

We set our sights away High

What we set out to do in building this lordly Buick LIMITED was something simple to define — and anything but easy to do.

We wanted to combine, in one luxuriously superfine car, all the engineering knowledge we have gained in thirty-six years of fine car building, and all the skill and finesse and artful craftsmanship those same long years have given us.

So we planned a car of size — some eighteen feet from bumper to bumper — and gave every inch the staunchness of Buick at its stalwart best. We assigned it a giant 141-horsepower valve-in-head straight-eight power plant — and we micro-poise-balanced each individual engine to smoothness a wrist watch can't equal.

We dressed and finished this car as richly as we would a special-order carriage on which cost was no matter — and then, to make sure your own tastes were met, arranged options that add up to virtual custom production.

What we got, people now tell us, is a car not to be matched in ability, appointment, comfort or worth for less than a thousand dollars more than its price.

Why not try the LIMITED and see if you agree?

"Best buy's Buick!"

EXEMPLAR OF GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Yes, the Sky was the Limit on This One

You get an idea from the very size of the Buick LIMITED that we were aiming at something beyond the ordinary when we planned it.

It's when you step into its sumptuous spaciousness and feel it come smoothly, brilliantly, easily alive beneath you that you realize how completely we let ourselves go on this one.

The fact is that the LIMITED is not only the biggest and most luxurious car in our 1940 line; it is the crowning glory of some 36 years of rich experience.

Its power plant is a mighty, micro-poised Dynaflash valve-in-head straight-eight, electrically balanced to smoothness a wrist watch can't equal.

Its stride is the smooth, easy, cushioned stride of gentle coil springs on all four wheels, constant in their softness and forever free from need for service.

Its quality is the finest you can buy, its appointments subject to your taste—by any standard it's a car that should cost you hundreds more.

So we'd like to have you see it, try it—the sky was the limit in making it and we honestly think you'll not find its equal within a thousand dollars of its price.

"Best buy's Buick!"

Pattern

FOR THE WORLD'S FINEST

IN England is built a motor car which is recognized around the world as an illustrious example of craftsmanship, a car priced high in five figures for its least expensive model.

Once each year the builders of that car buy an American automobile, not to be driven, but to be torn down to provide part-by-part precision standards to be matched by the methods of British workmen.

This automobile is a Buick much like the one you see pictured here. It is not a special-order car, but a standard production model such as any Buick dealer can deliver to you.

In other words, when you drive a Buick LIMITED you drive a car fine enough to serve as pattern for perhaps the world's most costly automobile.

It would seem, then, that LIMITED owners are putting things mildly when they say no other car rivals this noblest of all the Buicks for within $500 to $1,000 of its price.

"Best buy's Buick!"

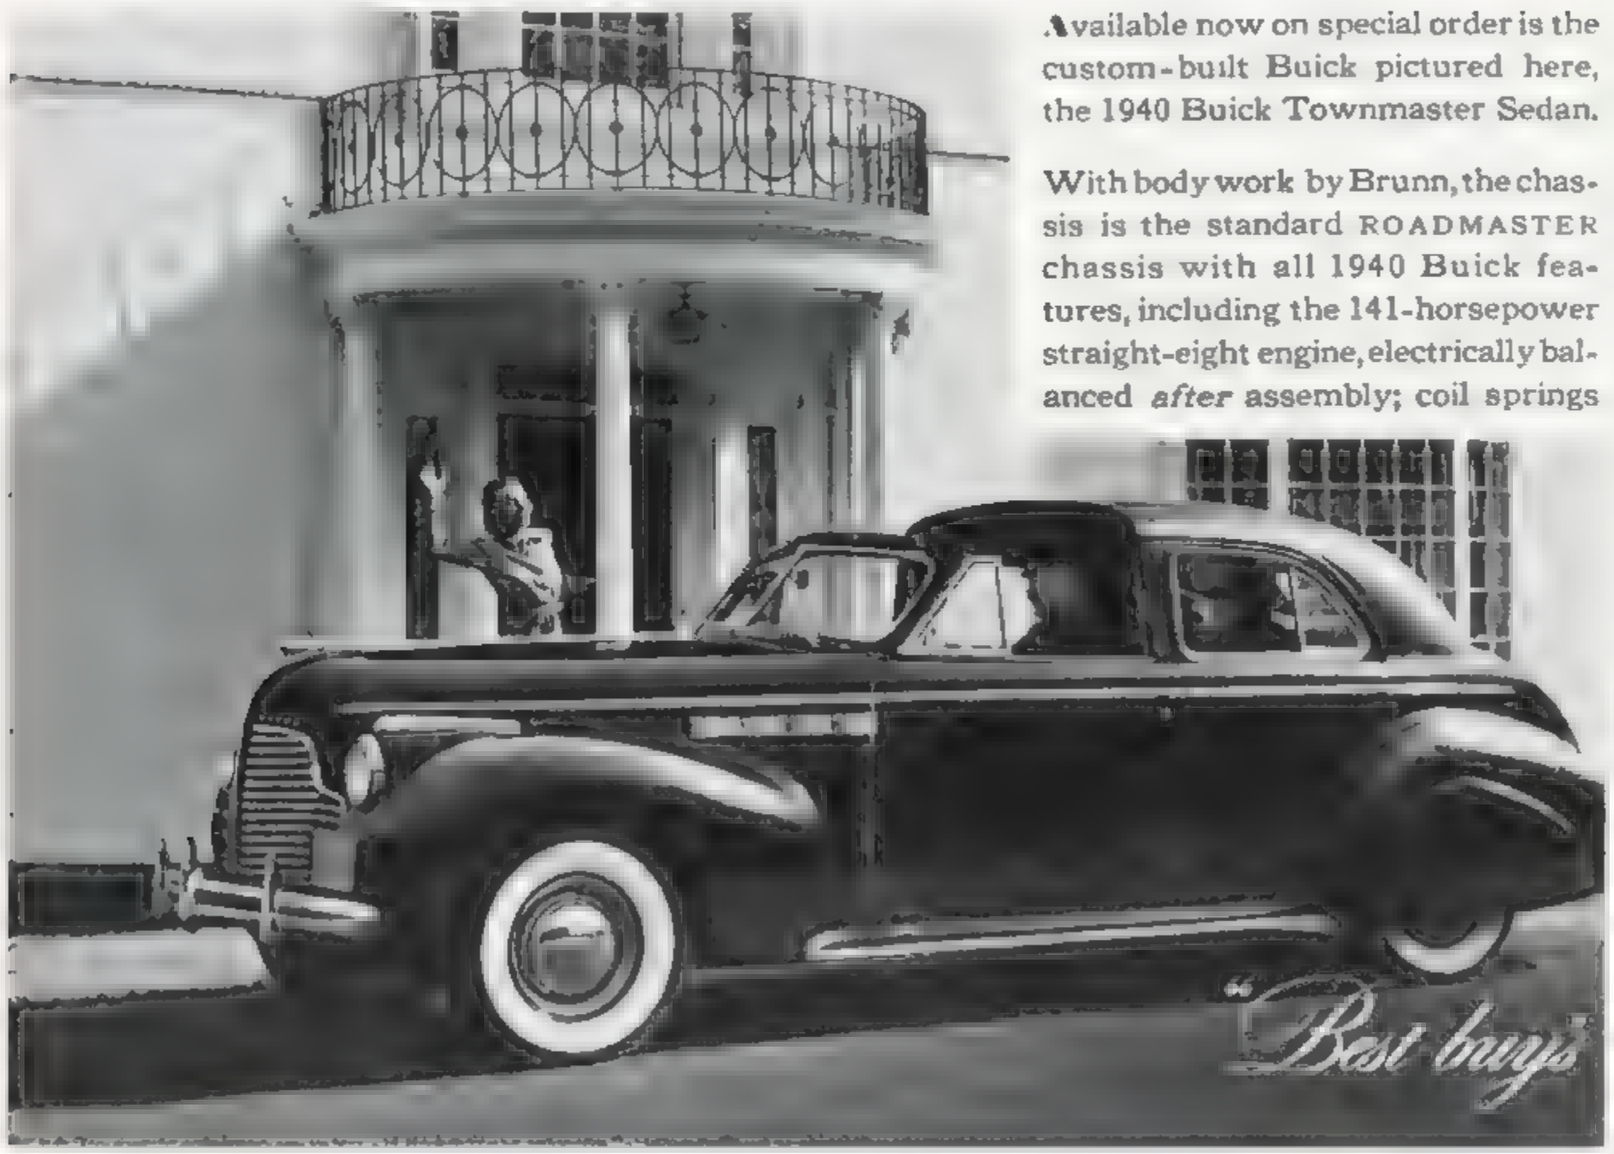
Custom Built FOR CUSTOM SERVICE



Available now on special order is the custom-built Buick pictured here, the 1940 Buick Townmaster Sedan.

With body work by Brunn, the chassis is the standard ROADMASTER chassis with all 1940 Buick features, including the 141-horsepower straight-eight engine, electrically balanced after assembly; coil springs on all four wheels; and the steadying torque-tube drive and heavy Buick frame.

Interior trim and appointments are subject to your taste through a wide variety of upholstery options. Standard equipment includes removable top for the chauffeur's compartment, speaking phone, center arm-rest in the three-passenger rear seat, sliding window behind the driver, and built-in heater.

At $3895*, delivered at Flint, complete except for transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), the Townmaster is a real value on its quality and fine finish.

OUR SECOND LINE OF AIR DEFENSE

pays its way

To the growing appreciation of our airlines as a second line of defense can be added the satisfaction that this matchless system has been built up without cost to the taxpayer. With no government subsidy other than air mail contracts, which postage now pays, our airlines have expanded their service into a major national defense network solely through passenger and cargo revenue. The efficiency and dependability of Douglas airplanes has been a major factor in this success. "It Pays to Fly."

DOUGLAS

First Around the World First in Air Defense

While we build up the military to meet any challenge, let us remember that no nation is stronger than its communications. With peaceful Douglas wings over the Americas our airlines have perfected the fastest, most efficient system of scheduled communications the world has ever known. Because this system is integrated with and best serves the economy we must defend, it should be accelerated in time of emergency. Only through expansion can this bulwark of defense be improved. "MY CRIES WERE WHISPERS AS MY LIFE EBBED!"

A true experience of P. S. NICHOLLS, South Bend, Ind.

"LATE ONE NIGHT, returning from a fishing trip, I dozed at the wheel of my car while going at a fast clip," writes Mr. Nicholls. "Suddenly there was a blinding crash!

"MY CAR HAD VEERED off the road and smashed head on into a tree. My throat was gashed and bleeding badly. I was able only to whisper—and seemed doomed to die in the inky darkness. Then . . .

". . . I REMEMBERED MY FLASHLIGHT! Somehow I managed to get it from my tackle box and crawl weakly back to the road. Quickly the bright beam of the flashlight, waved in my feeble grasp, stopped a motorist, who took me to a hospital just in time. There is no doubt that I owe my life to dependable 'Eveready' fresh DATED batteries!

at the price of ordinary refrigerators

Illustrated Cold-Wall Imperial 6-46 Interior fixtures Dayton $236.50

A revolutionary new principle of refrigeration already proven by the experience of thousands of enthusiastic users . . . Saves natural moisture in foods . . . Preserves their vitamins, freshness, color and flavor . . . Ends forever the nuisance of covering food!

In its long career of leadership Frigidaire has made important contributions to better home refrigeration. But none so great as Frigidaire's newest discovery—the Cold-Wall type of refrigerator.

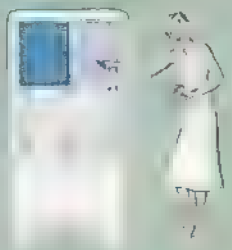
This entirely new Cold-Wall principle advances a great step beyond the simple cooling of foods. Now it adds the vital function of Moisture-Protection. For the new Cold-Wall method of supplying cold saves foods from drying out, protects their freshness, flavor, color much longer. But, more important still, the Frigidaire Cold-Wall also preserves precious vitamins and minerals indispensable to vigorous health and vitality

No other refrigerator has this marvelous new Cold-Wall principle, which is so effective that you don't even have to cover foods!

You'll be amazed at the new low prices for these remarkable Cold-Wall models as low as $167 (installed in Dayton). And Frigidaire standard models are priced as low as $112.75. See your Frigidaire Dealer!

FRIGIDAIRE DIVISION
General Motors Sales Corporation • • • Dayton, Ohio, Toronto, Canada

The Dew-Fresh Seal is a glass shelf that divides the interior into two separate compartments—each providing a different and vitally essential food keeping service.



In the Upper Compartment air is dry because its moisture constantly changes to frost as it circulates past the freezer. This provides proper cooling for foods not subject to drying.

In the Cold Wall compartment air is moist being cooled through the walls by concealed chilling coils instead of by circulation of air as in other types of refrigerators.

What This Means to Your Food. This revolutionary design combines moist, still air and uniform low temperatures throughout the entire Cold-Wall compartment. Fresh vegetables and fruits retain vitamins and other food values; fresh and cooked foods remain more tender and palatable and retain a more appetizing appearance over a longer period.

A WORD OF CAUTION

Some stores may use the name "FRIGIDAIRE" loosely to identify other makes of refrigerators and thus confuse the public. Don't be fooled! If a refrigerator does not bear the "FRIGIDAIRE" nameplate, it is not a FRIGIDAIRE and will not offer the advantages set forth in this advertisement.

FRIGIDAIRE is the trade mark of the refrigerator manufactured by the Frigidaire Division of General Motors world-wide leaders in the refrigerator, range and motor car industries. Be sure the store you go to sells FRIGIDAIRE, made only by General Motors

A New Achievement by Goodrich

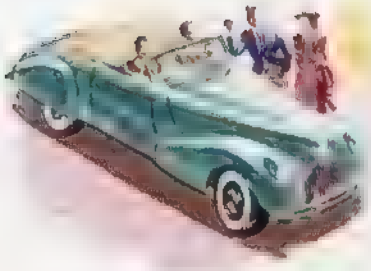
Silvertown



America's Most Distinctive Tire!

● The craftsmanship of America's oldest tire builder is abundantly used in this new Patrician Silvertown . . . to give you a tire with custom-built appearance and custom-built service.

With its gracious styling, it gives you an even greater measure of engineering achievement. It provides thousands of extra miles of silent "cushioned comfort." Ask your nearest Goodrich Dealer or Goodrich Silvertown Store about their "change-over" plan to put this tire on your present car or your next new one.

Quiet as a kitten on a velvet rug . . .

The new-type rib tread pattern of the new Patrician Silvertown gives you a "hushed" ride on all types of road surfaces. It operates quietly . . . on city streets or country highways . . . as quietly as a kitten on a velvet rug.

Reversible sidewalls . . .

One sidewall is white . . . the other one black. When the white sidewalls become too badly curb-marked, the Goodrich Patrician may be reversed . . with gleaming black sidewalls to enhance the appearance of your car

So You Say You Don't Gamble!

LifeGuard is a 2-ply safety tire inside an extra-sturdy tube. In sizes available replaces conventional tube. Should outer tire and tube collapse, LifeGuard remains inflated. You brake and steer safely.

YOU don't play the horses... cards...dice...or the stock market...so you say you don't gamble!

But you're a gambler just the same...and with a stake worth more than money...if your family rides on tires that are not equipped with Goodyear LifeGuards.

It's a typical gambler's excuse to say..."Oh, blowouts don't happen often...they won't happen to me." That's just plain betting against the odds...because blowouts do happen every day, to new and old tires.

And if a blowout does throw your family into a post or the ditch—or into the path of an oncoming car—you'll suddenly realize that you've been betting not just with dollars, but with lives you wouldn't trade for all the money there is!

Goodyear LifeGuards take all the danger out of blowouts... they are sold everywhere by tire dealers and new car dealers... the cost is moderate.

There is no reason for your not having them except your own neglect or your bet that an accident won't happen to you.

So if you say you don't gamble —and you mean it...why not see about getting LifeGuards in your tires.

In America ...Life is Precious!

IN America, the government protects your liberty... it goes a long way to protect your life!

But the government can't undertake to keep you from running needless risks... without interfering with your freedom.

You are aware, for example, that blowouts do happen by the thousands... every day... to new as well as to old tires. They can happen to your tires!

In an awful moment all your love and care... all your thoughts for health, education and character-building... can be for nothing if a sudden tire failure hurls your motor car into a ditch, or a telegraph pole, or into the thick of oncoming traffic.

But with Goodyear LifeGuards in your tires that doesn't need to happen. Because LifeGuards are an inner safety tire on which you ride securely should the outer tire suddenly collapse.

Instead of gambling... and with a stake worth more than money... that you'll escape a blowout, why not wipe out this danger?

If you can afford a car you can afford to equip it with LifeGuards. If you love your family, you'll do it... today!

Do You Want to Keep Your Daughter?

ACCIDENTS are no respecters of persons. Your daughter ... your wife ... yourself ... all are in equal danger of serious accident if a tire should suddenly collapse ... unless your car has protection against blowout accidents such as Goodyear LifeGuards provide!

No pneumatic tire is blowout-proof. Even a new tire may be cut or bruised so as to cause a dangerous blowout ... if not immediately then weeks or months later when you least expect it.

But you needn't gamble with safety any longer. Add to your peace of mind when motoring by joining the hundreds of thousands of safe LifeGuard families who find them the best kind of insurance ... because they prevent accidents!

See your Goodyear dealer and learn how, in sizes available, LifeGuards can be used in tires now in service as well as in new tires ... how you can pay as you drive. Or if you are buying a new car, have your car dealer add them.

You can't stop all motoring accidents ... but you can help to stop the toll of life and limb due to blowout accidents ... by giving yourself, your family, your car this LifeGuard protection.

NEXT THING TO WINGS

You who value comfort will find no tire to compare with this classic Goodyear Double Eagle Airwheel. So superlatively free is it from the hard-riding stiffness of conventional tires, so completely does it smother all road vibrations — you have the feel of flying! Certainly, there's a reason: its carcass is sinewed with tough wiry Rayotwist cord spun from continuous rayon filaments that combine amazing flexibility with tremendous strength and stamina. This explains the Double Eagle's smoother-rolling, easier-riding, record-mileage action that makes it the finest tire money can buy. Equip your Double Eagles with Goodyear LifeGuards — the modern successor to inner tubes that makes the worst blowout as harmless as a slow leak — and you will have luxurious security beyond price.

LUXURY BEYOND COMPARE

By every measure of tire excellence this handsome Goodyear Double Eagle Airwheel stands without peer. That is because it is bodied with Rayotwist — a new silk-like cord, possessing extreme strength and resiliency, spun from rayon. This tough sinewy carcass so frees the Double Eagle from road-fighting stiffness, it's like riding on a featherbed. It rolls so much smoother, you actually get more miles to the gallon—a step-up in your top speed. With this superb traveler you will want Goodyear LifeGuards — the modern successor to inner tubes that makes the worst blowout as harmless as a slow leak! Greater luxury and safety than this you cannot buy at any price.

PERFORMANCE WITHOUT PARALLEL

One fact will tell you what a superb performer this stunning Goodyear Double Eagle Airwheel is. It travels with such light-footed agility, you actually get more miles from every gallon of gas! It stands without counterpart, too, in road-pillowing soft-riding luxury and sure-footed long-distance wear. That is because it is entirely different in design and material — built with tough wiry Rayotwist cord spun from continuous rayon filaments that give it unequaled suppleness and stamina without wheel-dragging bulk. Naturally so fine a tire costs a little more, but those who want the best will find it splendidly worth the difference!

REMEMBER when we snapped this, mother? Was it last summer, or was it really 1923? I can see him now, chasing those waves. He wasn't afraid of anything. Still isn't.

Sometimes, though, I wish I'd been smarter or richer. I'd have enjoyed smoothing some of the bumps for him. He wanted a lot of things he never got, and never asked for.

Not that it would have made any difference between us. He understands. We could give him some little gadget tomorrow. Or nothing at all. He wouldn't mind.

But tomorrow's going to be our big day as well as his. I'm going to be just as excited as he is when we give him his Hamilton.

He'll say, "Dad! Mom! You foolish people, you needn't have done so much." And I'll probably say, "Forget it, son." But none of us ever will.

A Subsidiary Eden . .

Enthusiastic Hawaii is pretty close to Garden of Eden as it is easy to understand even before a visit. Hawaii is most difficult to explain when you haven't been there. That's the reason for making the visit.

It will be a gorgeous morning when you arrive in Hawaii. Aboard your bubble boat into the Pacific you will be a romance surrounded by sunlight and warm trade winds.

Driving toward the sea will be palm trees in the spectrum of purple and bougainvillea yellows. Sunlight will test with rainbows and the fragrant perfume of countless flowers will be flowing on the air as sweet music and necklaces of flowers will drape your neck. Reason why it's called "Hawaii, Where Everyday is a Day in Eden."

To describe what to do would be impossible in this space and would test the versatile strength of a typewriter to crack test. But our pictorial booklet "Aloha O Hawaii" (illustrated by natural color photographs) which any Travel Agent will be pleased to present to you with best compliments and ours — will give you a comprehensive picture of what it's all about.

Moreover, he can suggest what to see and when to see it. Let you about the Five Islands, Hawaii, Maui, Kauai and Oahu — about Waikiki Beach, sports and entertainment, the cosmopolitan mixture of peoples, the modern cities of Honolulu, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Vancouver B.C. — about cruises to the Islands and to the mainland. Your Travel Agent can be very helpful.

THE PEOPLE OF HAWAII

A little boy looks up from his basket of fish . . . gleaned from the bounty of the sea. In his eyes is something of the fire of far-off stars studding a night sky over Waikiki. In his smile, the flash of silver surf. In his heart, prompting both, something of the joy of his forebears, when they beached their outriggers at the island of every desire, and called it "home."

Always appealing, today it is irresistible, this lure of Hawaii, for it remains clothed in peace. A war-weary world feels a new surge of happiness when it beaches a fond wish on these serene, untroubled shores. Things that seemed to matter so much . . . worries, the hard lines and squares of inhibited civilization . . . are blown away with the first flower-scented breeze. Living's the thing. Contentment, the only ritual. So the world continues to find Hawaii, with a blossom in her hair, and happiness in her heart.

Plan to slip away from Oahu (where Honolulu is located) to other islands of the group . . . by ship or plane to Hawaii, Maui, Kauai . . . each more lovely than the one before, rising out of the Pacific.

Catch a breath of island exoticism, in an armchair at the office of your Travel Agent, with unusual literature. The brilliant color photographs will start you questioning about Hawaii and the magnificent ships that sail so frequently over an ocean that maintains the tradition of peace and safety.

Hawaii

WHERE THE IMPOSSIBLE IS A MATTER OF COURSE

THE TRADITIONAL hospitality of an Hawaiian luau is just as casual as it is prodigal. And that's Hawaii . . . regally casual about the entertainment she spreads before the visitor. Anywhere else, such hospitality, celebrated with so many flowers of so many colors, would be impossible. But, in Hawaii, along with twelve months of June, it is a matter of course.

There's no magic about it. Nature merely turned prodigal and casually showered Hawaii with more things conducive to human happiness. Showered her with such incomparable attractions as a sea warmed to split-degree perfection, whole hillsides spattered with an exploded rainbow of color, and matchless Waikiki.

And, while she was about it, Nature turned out other island perfections . . . Hawaii, Maui, and Kauai, which with Oahu form the four-island group comprising Hawaii . . . all easily reached by plane or steamer, each delighting with a rising climax of enchanting contrast.

Taken in any season, Hawaii delights the visitor with more variety, exciting entertainment, rest, and rejuvenation than he will find anywhere else . . . and does it so casually.

You would find it interesting to drop in casually at your Travel Agent's office. Ask him for a copy of "Nani O Hawaii," beautifully illustrated with color photographs. Magnificent liners sail frequently from Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Vancouver, B. C.

THE BAND CONCERT

An Old American Institution

REMEMBER . . . the band concert of a summer's evening in your home town?

YOU knew the men of the band. They were farmers, carpenters, tradesmen, the newspaper editor, the doctor's son. You knew their "pieces", too. The repertory ran to marches—brisk, loud and stirring. Sousa's Washington Post...Ta-Ra-Ra-Boom-De-Ay, heavy with cymbals . . . a Strauss waltz now and then...Swanee River...In The Sweet Bye and Bye.

NIGHT noises filled the breaks in the music . . . crickets and tree toads like fiddles, far away, the soft cello coo of sleepy doves, and every once in a while a bullfrog chiming in like a big bassoon. Presently a single star showed up alongside the spire of the Congregational Church.

WHILE radio and automobile have thinned band concert crowds, in many a town the bandstand still remains in the Square, its slender carved pillars and fretwork gray against the evening sky. Birds have nests under the pagoda-like eaves. Children, using the stand as "home" for run sheep run, clatter up the circling stairs. Yet throughout the nation, old-fashioned band concerts still play a part in the lives of kindly towns where folks believe that nothing graces a summer evening quite so well.

GOOD wholesome things, whether they be food or custom, have a way of becoming a permanent part of American life. Long before most of you were born, Heinz foods were lending their goodness to family get-togethers after the band concert. And though Heinz methods and facilities have improved from year to year to keep pace with the times and changing habits, Heinz continues faithful to old-fashioned recipes, careful old-time ways and well-remembered tastes and flavors.

GENERATIONS of American families recognize the House of Heinz as a fine old American institution —just as they remember the band concert, the grocery store "forum", the voices of old friends.

MEMORIES of friendly gatherings, small-town festivities and good food go to make up the pattern of American living—a pattern in which H. J. Heinz Company has had a part for the past seventy years.

SCHOOL DAYS

An Old American Institution

IF YOU LIVE to be a hundred, you'll never forget the excitement of the first day at school . . . your hair plastered down with cold water . . . squeaky new shoes . . . a shiny pencil box. Nothing, not even your name in gold on an office door, can equal the pride of writing 4B at the top of your paper—instead of 3A. You're promoted . . . to a new room, a new desk, a mysterious new arithmetic book full of the strange workings of long division.

THIS year twenty-three million young Americans in our public schools will be putting down roots into the deep riches of American culture and they will be learning, along with their three R's, the history and traditions, the stories and songs of our great land:

"I love thy rocks and rills
Thy woods and templed hills . . ."

Thy rocks—veiled by the fine, cool spray of waterfalls. Thy rills—the shallow brown rivulets, edged with forget-me-nots, that crisscrossed the low fields, early in spring. Thy woods, where you gathered the first pale arbutus for the teacher's desk. The hills, templed with apple orchards and solemn evergreens . . .

SUCH are the memories that build up your love of the land—the truest form of patriotism . . . memories of homely sights and sounds, scents and tastes. And the tastes of childhood linger on the tongue, longer than remembrance of voices, longer than the look of a well-loved room. That's one reason the H. J. Heinz Company, maker of American foods for the past 70 years, has become so important a part of our national scene. Generations of Americans have been brought up with Heinz 57 Varieties—well know the satisfying flavor of Heinz good, old-fashioned cooking.

TIMES change—but good things stay the same. For instance Heinz Tomato Ketchup, Chili Sauce, Oven-Baked Beans or Heinz Strained Foods. They are heartening to the soul as well as the body, for they make folks feel more at home in a changing world.

IN a sense, the world-wide use of Heinz old-fashioned foods is a continuation of the neighborliness of other years. Nowadays Heinz helps out with the cooking in many a busy household. Every year more and more of America's favorite foods are added to the Heinz list to bring you modern convenience, along with that well-remembered savor that comes from the finest ingredients, careful cooking, old-time recipes—as dependable as old friends.

The Strawberry Festival

An Old American Institution

THERE'S something about a Strawberry Festival that's thoroughly American. It couldn't happen anywhere but here . . . where the banker's lady helps to wait on table and Mrs. Doctor Hazlett makes the coffee. In the church basement the young folks catch each other's hands across the freezers—feeling themselves suddenly grown up. But still not quite too old to lick the rosy, luscious strawberry cream right off the icy dashers.

IN SOME towns the ladies have a sale of fancy work or baked goods. But usually the festival consists of visiting back and forth, and eating strawberries, dripping with sugary juices, drenched in blobs of thick yellow cream! Or strawberry ice cream of the palest hue—guiltless of any brash red coloring. In many towns it's a feast of strawberry short cake—and that's all! But there's short cake enough to satisfy the whole town's yearning.

SUCH are the festivals of America's true epicures who come together to savor in due season the sun-drenched bounty of berry patch and fields. Food plays an important part in so many of our celebrations. Americans from our earliest days gathered around tables where food made plain meetings festive. Good eating is an American tradition—so it's natural that good food be a traditional part of our festive occasions.

WE LIKE simple things well prepared. We like old recipes best and the flavors of our foods, like our customs, have been handed down from generation to generation.

DURING the past 70 years the name of Heinz and our "57" mark have become as much a part of the American scene as the strawberry festival itself. Generation after generation have used Heinz food products to add festive spirit and enjoyment to family dinners and friendly gatherings.

INTO all the things we make go the best of American produce, the best of American methods, guided and guarded by the best of American traditions of quality in food.

23.76 MILES to the gallon was the record set by the Nash Lafayette, when it beat all others in its class in the 1940 Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run. Only Nash has the Manifold Sealed engine! With record economy, you also get flashing pick-up from 15 to 50 MPH in 12.9 seconds, in high gear! Try it!

SEE AMERICA, and sleep in your own bed. Double-size Convertible Bed in sedans saves money, time, discomfort. Nash service everywhere at 1800 dealers. Product of a company with $45,000,000 resources. See your dealer and drive a new Nash today!

You've Had that Longing Long Enough

Does Spring do funny things to you? Is there something you want —and you don't know what it is?

Go out now and flag a long, low, racy green Nash—and you'll find out!

Grab the wheel before 99 frisky colts break loose in a breath-taking dash.

Then look—and listen. There's a click . . . and you're suddenly in a speed so smooth you wonder where your wheels went . . . so quiet you wonder what's happened to the engine . . . so utterly swift you can't imagine what's holding the others back.

(Now you know, with Nash's Fourth Speed Forward, how small the world is!)

See that car ahead? Just toot the horn . . . tap the throttle . . . and watch how your Automatic Overtake leaves him dawdling behind.

Lightly, blithely you skim over hills. Sure, there are ruts, but you don't feel them — in the lullaby-glide of this Arrow-Flight Ride.

There's a crash of thunder . . . and a sudden April shower sends your windows up.

But not even the weather can spoil your day in a Nash. Just turn that magical "Weather Eye" dial and rain and cold and dust are out of motoring forever!

Soon it's time for your Sealed Beam lights—but you won't stop 'til you're ready for the Nash convertible bed.

Then turn in—knowing how different the rest of your life is going to be!

It costs so little more than a small car —and resale value is so high— you'll actually be money ahead. That is—if you ever want to give it up. That double frame, 7 and 9-bearing crankshafts, Manifold-Sealed engine — make fun a long-life investment.

This magazine can wait; but a Nash can't. See your dealer, today!

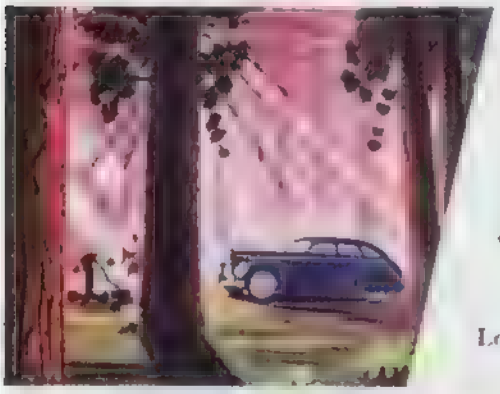
You'll be Happier in a NASH

INSTANT STARTING In any weather, with the exclusive Nash Manifold Sealed engine. Pick-up of 15 to 50 MPH in 12.9 seconds in high gear. New Fourth Speed Forward has an Automatic Overtake for safe passing, fast hill climbing. Sealed Beam lights—50% brighter for night driving.



RESTFUL TRAVEL. Smooth, silent Arrow-Flight springing, Foam Sponge seats, Fabreeka body mountings keep you rested 'til you turn into your Nash convertible bed. Over 1800 Nash dealers offer nation-wide service

YOU'LL FIND a Road of Mystery

SOMEDAY THIS WEEK you're going to rub your eyes and wonder where you are.

You'll find yourself on a road of mystery. The scene is hauntingly familiar—but, what's happened?

The day is clearer . . . the sky is brighter . . . you can almost count the shingles on the houses flashing by.

Suddenly, you realize why. You're in a Nash—and for the first time, there's no blur or jiggle between you and the landscape . . . thanks to a new kind of ride called Arrow-Flight!

Where's that hill you used to crawl up in second . . . those ruts that yesterday jarred you to the teeth?

Look! You're flashing over them now at forty—in a new kind of Fourth Speed Forward!

Where's the engine roar . . . the banging springs . . . the howling wind?

Listen! Even at the speed you're going, you can hear a whisper from the back seat. (It's something new in car quiet that Nash soundproofing achieves!)

And that blizzard blowing up outside? It must be a mirage for you're breathing in air as fresh and warm and friendly as a May morning.

Perhaps it's this Weather Eye magic that produces perpetual spring . . . or the absolute ease of Arrow-Straight steering—but something leads you on. . .

Yes—you'll follow this strange, uncanny road—free from cold and dust . . . without ruts or bumps or menacing hill . . . for at least a hundred thousand miles.

What a pity you haven't yet driven a Nash.

If it's price that's holding you back—forget it! Nash prices begin next to the lowest-priced cars . . . and when you weigh in Nash economy and high resale value, you can't spend much less for any kind of an automobile!

That road is waiting . . . get on it now!

Weather Eye Magic

GO WHERE THE FUN IS! In new conditioned air comfort . . . on a miraculous new Nash springing combination called "Arrow-Flight". At night, drive in the glareless safety of new Sealed Beam lights.

A SHRIEKING GALE has smothered the sun and swept the lake bare of skaters.

You're standing there, chilled to the bone, dreading the journey home.

Suddenly—a flash of light, and laughing faces . . . a whisper of tires on the snow. Someone's brought a new Nash!

You slip into the broad, welcoming front seat—someone twirls a mysterious little dial, and instantly it's June!

With all the windows closed, there's a draftless flood of fresh, invigorating air—exactly heated as "tuned in". Out goes stuffy air, cigarette smoke, the moisture of your breath. The windshield stays clear.

The mercury tumbles . . . the wind howls louder—but stop or go, fast or slow—your comfort is automatically kept the same. That little thermostatic sentinel just inside the windshield never lets a chilly breath slip by. Yes—it's Weather Eye magic that even out-guesses "old man Winter"!

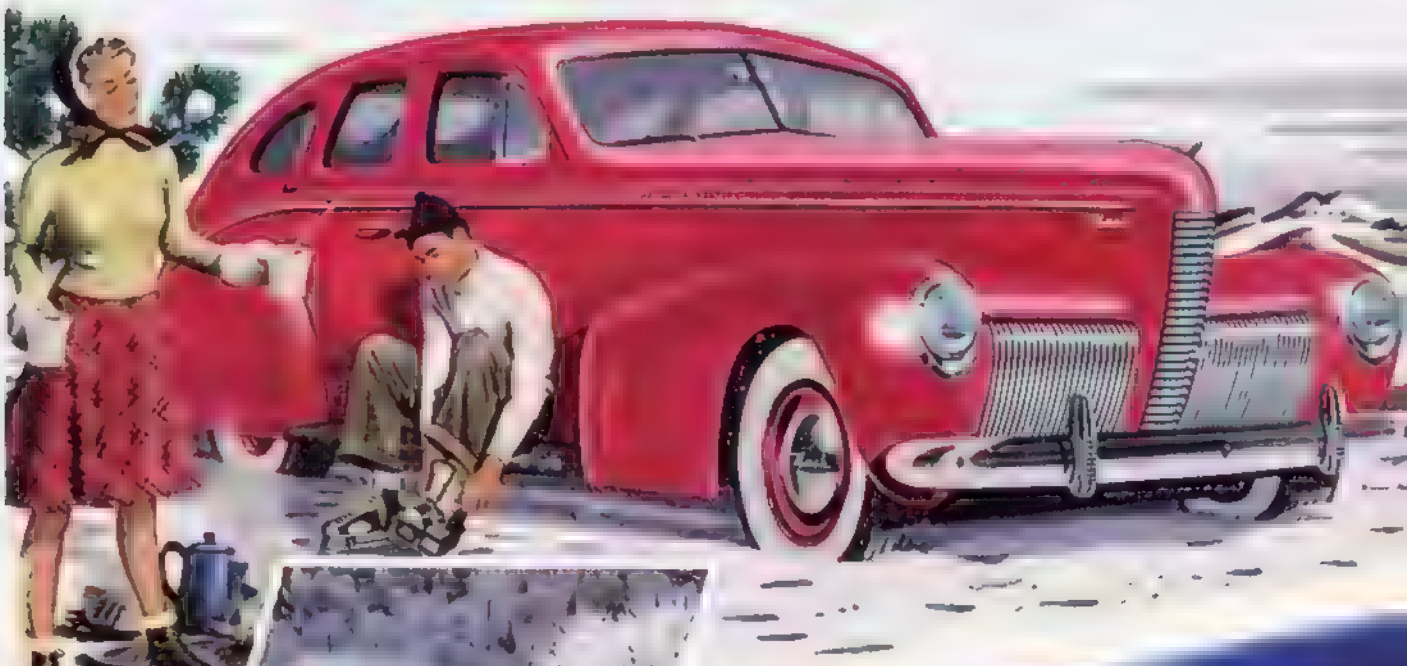
But that's no harder to believe than a new Fourth Speed Forward with an automatic Overtake that shoots you way ahead of those traffic stragglers.

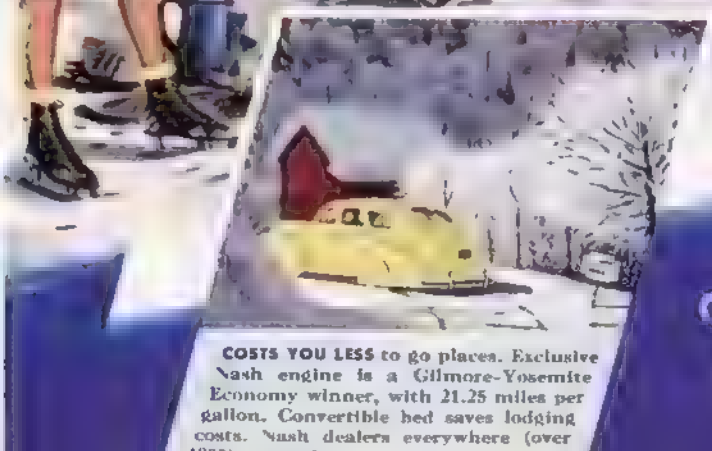
Or Nash's silent Arrow-Flight ride that lets you relax in comfort over the worst Winter roads. Or that new feather-touch wheel that wields a magic influence over curves and rough spots.

Fact is, you'll have to revise all your ideas of what a car can be—and do. And that's going to be the thrill of a motoring lifetime!

It's priced so low, with resale value so high . . . that it will pay to trade away your troubles to your Nash dealer today—and start having year 'round fun!

THERE'S A NEW THRILL in the throttle. Pick-up of 15 to 50 MPH in 13 seconds, high gear—and a new Fourth Speed Forward for gliding speed—with an unbeatable automatic Overtake.





COSTS YOU LESS to go places. Exclusive Nash engine is a Gilmore-Yosemite Economy winner, with 21.25 miles per gallon. Convertible bed saves lodging costs. Nash dealers everywhere (over 1800) are ready to serve you.

Again... IT'S THAT NEW NASH

COASTAL NAVIGATION

Left: Split Rock Lighthouse, standing on a rocky cliff in Minnesota on Lake Superior, is one of the most frequently visited. Its incandescent oil vapor lamp, in a third order lens, produces 370,000 candlepower. The light stands 168 feet above the lake and is visible 22 miles

Left: Fire Island Lighthouse rises 167 feet above the low south shore of Long Island (N. Y.). This is one of the most important navigational aids to ships bound for New York Harbor. First erected in 1827, the present tower of brick was built in 1858

Right: Portland Head Lighthouse at South Portland, Me. The original station went into commission in 1791, construction having been started a year earlier by the Colony of Massachusetts. The present light is 32,000 candlepower Extreme right: Navesink, the first primary seacoast light to be electrically lighted, overlooks New York Lower Bay from the Highlands of Navesink, N. J. Its 9,000,000 candlepower beam, visible 22 miles, is the most powerful maritime light in the U.S.

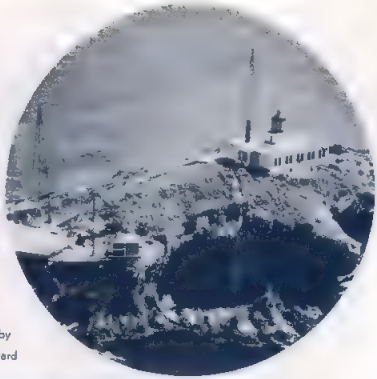
Left: Old and new lighthouses at Cape Henry, Va., marking the entrance to Chesapeake Bay. The original lighthouse (1791) was the first to be built by the Federal Government. The new tower is of cast iron plates. The old tower is not used as a lighthouse

Right: Eastern Point Lighthouse (Mass.) has guided Gloucestermen for more than a century. The present white brick tower built in 1890, replaces one built in 1832

LIGHTHOUSES



Right: Isolated Cape Spencer Lighthouse, 150 miles from a town, marks the northern entrance from the Pacific into the Inside Passages of Southeastern Alaska. It is a primary light, fog signal and radiobeacon station

Photographs by U. S. Coast Guard

Above: Ponce de Leon Lighthouse, six miles below Daytona Beach, Fla., guards the long section of coast between the lights at St. Augustine and Cape Canaveral

Below: Biloxi Light (Miss.), a cast iron tower on a brick foundation, has withstood many hurricanes. It was built originally in 1848 to guide small trading sailing vessels. In 1867 it leaned two feet out of perpendicular, but this was corrected

Left: Tillamook Rock Lighthouse, standing a mile offshore at Tillamook Head, Oregon, is one of the most exposed stations on the Pacific Coast. The protecting glass of the light, 133 feet above sea level, has been smashed several times by stones driven by great storm waves. Landing at this station is often difficult, if not impossible

Right: Jupiter Inlet Lighthouse lights the northern approach to the passage around the Florida Reefs. The station is equipped with radiobeacon and a million candlepower light. Construction, in 1860, was beset with many difficulties

Left. The skeleton iron structures of the lighthouses of the Florida Reefs between Miami and Key West are practically hurricane-proof. Six of them, similar in appearance, are located at Fowey Rocks, Carysfort Reef, Alligator Reef, Sombrero Key, American Shoal, and Sand Key. Each is manned by four keepers

Stanley Plane Irons

For Bed Rock and Bailey Iron Circular and Wood Planes

It will be noted that in many cases the same single iron fits a number of different planes, but the cap iron (which combined with the single iron makes the double iron), is not the same on the iron, circular and wood, planes and consequently is not interchangeable In ordering, it is necessary to give number of plane, size of iron, and state whether single or double iron is required.

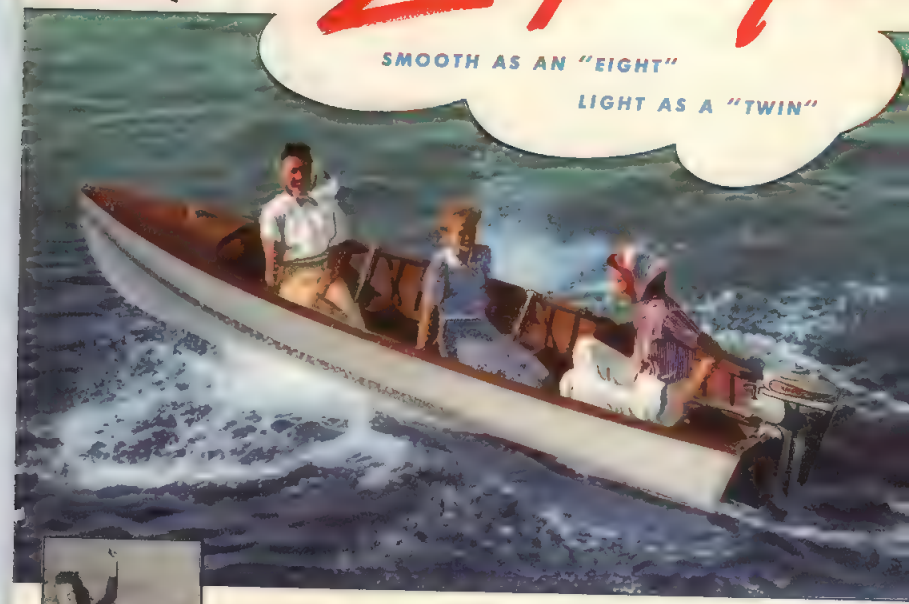
SMOOTH AS AN "EIGHT"

LIGHT AS A "TWIN"



"Quick Starting? Just Watch!"

Mechanical balance equivalent to an eight in a fine motor car! Open the throttle of a Zephyr and feel the rush of 4000 balanced power impulses streaming out with liquid smoothness. Check 'er down to the lowest speed...you drift softly along at a slow trolling glide. That's the kind of performance Evinrude has now brought to the light motor field.

It's the big news for thousands of fishermen, yachtsmen and cottagers who have wanted four-cylinder superiority in a motor suited in size and power to average boats and average service. Now it's here . . . an accomplished fact . . . every fine phase of its performance certified by years of rigorous testing.

With the Zephyr's four-cylinder construction, starting is exceptionally easy. Starting torque is low, and two cylinders fire at every half-revolution of the crankshaft. At small additional cost the Zephyr comes equipped with the Simplex Starter . . . no cord to wind . . . simply snap back on the starter grip . . . the motor starts . . . and the Simplex automatically rewinds for another easy start!

Speed to "get there"— QUICK!

What a "Power-House"!

Handling ease is an equally important feature of the Zephyr. Throttle control is of the twist-grip motorcycle type, located on the steering handle. Primer and carburetor adjustment are of advanced dial design, and an ignition cut-out is provided. No feature has been overlooked in making the Zephyr the de luxe motor in its power class . . . not only in performance, but in every detail that could contribute greater satisfaction and enjoyment to an owner!

The New Rattan Ensembles Are Symphonies Of Color

All the comforts and conveniences of other furniture are duplicated in rattan furniture, including cocktail tables and magazine stands. But what a difference in color and feeling is presented in Rattan pieces! They seem to be free from the care and hum-drum of life and to suggest a continuous holiday spirit. An important consideration in rattan furniture is that it be well constructed, really scientifically constructed; for the bracing is a different matter from that of regular wood furniture. While these fine barrel-mass pieces look lithe and graceful, they are rigidly strong, due to their superior construction features. The chairs and settee have spring-filled seat cushions while the back seat cushions are spring-filled and reversible. The frames are finished in natural, white enamel, turquoise blue or burnt orange. The coverings are in blue, green, orange, yellow or lacquer sailcloth; also in printed cretonnes, linens, mohairs and homespuns.

The New Rattan Ensembles Are Symphonies Of Color

All the comforts and conveniences of other furniture are duplicated in rattan furniture, including cocktail tables and magazine stands. But what a difference in color and feeling is presented in Rattan pieces! They seem to be free from the care and hum-drum of life and to suggest a continuous holiday spirit. An important consideration in rattan furniture is that it be well constructed, really scientifically constructed; for the bracing is a different matter from that of regular wood furniture. While these fine barrel-mass pieces look lithe and graceful, they are rigidly strong, due to their superior construction features. The chairs and settee have spring-filled seat cushions while the back seat cushions are spring-filled and reversible. The frames are finished in natural, white enamel, turquoise blue or burnt orange. The coverings are in blue, green, orange, yellow or lacquer sailcloth; also in printed cretonnes, linens, mohairs and homespuns.

Evolution of

LOOKING over the highly perfected runabouts of today with their trim lines, beautiful finish and flashing speed one cannot but think of the years which separate the product of the present with the humble launch of yesterday. Such thoughts, of course, lead naturally to future developments. Will these lovely boats be back numbers in ten or fifteen years from now, their places taken by new and advanced types? If so, will these new developments be dictated by improvements in engines or will some new hull form be evolved? We are inclined to think that the power plant will be the dominant factor, just as it has been in the past.

The runabout, as we know it to-day, did not spring into existence in a year or so, but was a gradual evolution brought about through the development of lighter and more powerful marine engines. As these engines became too powerful for existing hulls it was found necessary to design and build new types which would show higher efficiency with the new engines.

While a great many designers and builders contributed to this development work the writer is of the opinion that the most important parts, in the early stages, were played by three men, all naval architects, William H. Hand, Jr., George F. Crouch and John L. Hacker. Later came Elliott Gardner, E. W. Gregory, Chris Smith and his sons Jay and Bernard, Gar Wood and Horace E. Dodge.

The first motor boat in this country, so far as we are able to discover, was built about 1889. Previous to that time there were steam and naphtha launches. First, of course, was the steam launch with its cumbersome boiler, smoke and cinders. Next came the naphtha launch, much prefrerred because of its cleaner operation. The first gasoline engine was imported from Germany, but about 1891 the Pennsylvania Iron Works, Philadelphia, began to build the Globe marine engines. These were huge, awkward affairs considering the power developed, but they ran and established quite a reputation for reliabilty.

Just about this period the electric launch was making quite a flurry. Readers may remember a story which appeared in these pages a number of years ago regarding the origin of the Elco Works. This company, then the Electric Launch Company, started as builders of electric launches and in 1893 built fifty-five 36-foot electric launches for the World's Fair in Chicago, probably the first step in standardized boat building.

Gradually gasoline launches increased in popularity until, in 1901, they weren't any particular novelty. Much of this popularity was due to the development of the two-cycle engine during the middle and late 90's.

In 1901 the Truscott Boat and Engine Sompany, St. Joseph, Michigan, built about twenty-five launches for use at the Pan American Exposition in Buffalo, quite a notable achievement in those days.

As more powerful engines came on the market the boat builders discovered the need for more efficient hulls First came the compromise, or canoe-type stern, a considerable improvement over the fantail. This served for a while but gradually gave way to the full torpedo type, then the V-type stern, originally known as the Normand stern, and finally the flat transom type.

To the best of our knowledge the word runabout was first used to describe fast launches in the Thousand Islands district. The St. Lawrence river, from Ogdensburg to Clayton, was really the cradle of the runabout and many fast boats were developed in this district as early as 1904. Most of them were of the very narrow, or toothpick, variety and were built by Joe Leyare of Ogdensburg, Fitz Hunt of Alexandria Bay and the Milton Boat Works, Brewerton, N. Y. The popular engines were the Barber and Leighton two-cycle engines in two, three and even four cylinders.

About this time the V-bottom hull began to attract attention, but in those days the Vee was very deep forward, with practically no lifting power, the idea being that a sharp wedge could be driven through the water with a minimum of resistance. A V-bottom runabout, Durno, of Rochester, won the Inter-State Trophy on the Hudson River in 1905. This race was a handicap affair open to boats of less than 33 feet in length. Durno was a 25-footer with 4 feet beam, powered with a two-cylinder 7-horsepower Rochester engine, and made 12 miles per hour. The engine was installed forward of the driver, a feature which was becoming popular about that time.

Above: Kiota III, designed by George F. Crouch in 1915, and the first runabout to claim 40 m.p.h. Right: Marco III, the first Crouch-designed 28-footer built on the Great Lakes

The V-bottom type was not new. Previous to 1900, boats of this type were known as the deadrise model. John L. Hacker was early attracted to this type and actually built several of them while still a boy in his 'teens. William H. Hand, Jr., a young naval architect at New Bedford, started to build Hand V-bottom boats about 1904. We believe that he was the first to call the type the V-bottom boat and certainly he was the first to popularize it by offering low-priced plans of easy-to-build V-bottom boats to the general public. Both Hacker and Hand discovered that, even with the heavy single and double cylinder engines of the early 1900's, it was possible to obtain two to four miles per hour more from their boats than from the conventional round-bottom fantail and compromise stern types of similar size and power, but it was not until the coming of the lighter and faster engines that their hulls really began to attract general attention.

During the first couple of years in the new century the influence of the automobile was making itself felt, but in those days practically all the cars were powered with engines of one or two cylinders. In 1903 the four-cylinder car began to attract attention in Europe and by 1904 several American builders had started to produce this type. Several European four-cylinder automobile engines were imported and installed in boats and it didn't take American manufacturers long to realize their many advantages.

Organized racing began with the formation of the American Power Boat Association in 1904. Four-cycle engines of this date were heavy, slow and cumbersome and most of the higher speed boats were over 30 feet in length. In 1905 the trend toward higher speed, lighter weight four-cycle engines became noticeable with engines of greater power packed in shorter boats.

About 1908 designers began to see the possibilities of wider boats capable of running over the top of the water rather than the narrow wave-splitters then popular. William H. Hand, Jr. developed a 25-footer in 1908 which showed better than 21 miles per hour with a four-cylinder 18-25 horsepower Sterling engine. Looking back at this particular boat it would seem that it was at least three years ahead of engine developments. About this time rumors of a new form of hull—the hydroplane—came from Europe, but it was not until 1910 that we had the opportunity of seeing a real hydroplane in action. In that year the famous Pioneer, a Fauber type 40-footer, owned by the Duke of Westminster, came over here to race for the British International Trophy, then held by Dixie II. She was at least 10 miles an hour faster than Dixie but she lacked the reliability of that famous craft and lost. However, the coming of Pioneer revolutionized boat design in this country.

The first American hydroplanes appeared in 1911. Tams, Lemoine and Crane, famous naval architects, designed Dixie IV, which successfully defended the British International Trophy. In the same year John L. Hacker, Adolph Apel and Chris Smith leaped into fame as designers and builders of hydroplanes. The era of high speed had arrived. In this connection it is interesting to note that John L. Hacker was the first to design and build a single-engined, one-step V-bottom type hydroplane. And his Kitty Hawk of 1911 wasn't so far removed from the latest designs of to-day.

In 1911 George F. Crouch designed a 26-foot runabout for James Simpson of New York City. This little boat was called Reliance IV. In general profile it looked like an ordinary round-bilge runabout of that period, but actually it had a concave V-bottom and planed nicely with an engine of only 50 horsepower, attaining the then sensational speed of 26 miles per hour. John L. Hacker of Detroit, working in conjunction with the Van Blerck Motor Company of Detroit, designed and built several V-bottom boats which showed about 30 miles per hour with engines of about 100 horsepower.

To the best of our knowledge the first V-bottom runabout to be fitted with a forward cockpit was Ginger, 25-footer designed and built by William H. Hand, Jr. about 1914. This boat, however, did not have the steering and engine controls in the forward cockpit. This development was to come much later.

A Hacker runabout of 1924. Note that the general style does not differ greatly from present day models

In 1913 George F. Crouch designed many highly successful V-bottom runabouts which made better than 30 miles per hour with engines of less than 100 horsepower. Prominent among these were Cinderella, a 26-footer, and Marco III and Peter Pan Sr., 28-footers.

The Sterling Engine Company developed a 250 horsepower racing engine for hydroplanes and one of these engines was installed in a Crouch-designed 35-foot runabout, built by the Canadian Beaver Company at Toronto, Ontario, for Richard Waldron of Kingston, Ontario. This boat, Kiota III, was the first runabout to claim a speed of 40 miles per hour and in international racing at Alexandria Bay, N. Y., set an official A.P.B.A. runabout record that stood until 1919. True, she did not show 40 miles per hour in this race, yet it is a fact that the engine swung a three-blade propeller of 20 inches diameter and 34 inches pitch at 1600 revolutions per minute and better than 40 miles per hour was made in mile trials on a number of occasions.

John L. Hacker and L. L. Tripp became associated in 1913 and operated a boat plant in Watervliet, N. Y., under the name of the Hacker Boat Company, later changed to the Albany Boat Corporation. So far as we have been able to discover, the first runabout with forward cockpit and controls was built by this company in 1916 for W. E. McCann of Cincinnati and used on Lake George. This boat was a 32-footer and was powered with a six-cylinder Van Blerck engine. The hull was designed by John L. Hacker, who resigned from the company about this time, and the details were carried out by Elliott Gardner, who had been assistant naval architect.

It is interesting to note that the Albany Boat Corporation spent a great deal of money advertising and pushing the forward cockpit idea but the public didn't appreciate the advantages of the type at that time. In 1917 they tried out the idea of installing the engine aft with gear drive, with one large cockpit forward. The first of these boats was bought by President Woodrow Wilson, but the type didn't have popular appeal. Three years later they didn't have any trouble in selling these boats.

Looking back on these boats from a present-day viewpoint, it seems strange that it was so difficult to introduce the forward cockpit idea. However, it is noteworthy that all these original forward cockpit runabouts were 32 feet or over in length. They didn't have the light weight, high speed marine engines as we know them to-day and the shorter and more spectacular forward cockpit runabouts were impossible with the engines available.

In 1915 the various boating magazines carried advertisements under the name of the Hacker Boat Company, offering plans for fast runabouts, also complete boats in several sizes. It would seem, therefore, that of all the firms of to-day who specialize in fast runabouts that the Hacker Boat Company was the first to advertise them generally as stock boats.

Runabout development stood still when this country entered the World War in the spring of 1917, but with the close of the war there was a great burst of development work. The government had thousands of airplane engines to sell at junk prices and many of these went into boats despite the objections of the marine engine builders. These engines had a tremendous influence in the development of boating. In fact, they were responsible for the opening of a new era in creating a demand for more powerful marine engines of lighter weight. They forced marine engine builders to meet their competition and produce newer and lighter engines of higher horsepower. It was a tough struggle for the engine builders and their accomplishments in the next decade are worthy of the highest praise.

In 1922 Gar Wood introduced the Liberty powered Baby Gar capable of 60 miles speed

The Runabout

Early in 1919 the Hall-Scott Motor Car Company, which had been building airplane engines during the war, announced a new high-speed marine engine in two models, a four-cylinder of 125 horsepower, weighing 1070 pounds, and a six-cylinder of 200 horsepower weighing 1300 pounds. John L. Hacker designed and built the first two runabouts for these engines. These were 28-footers, N'Everthin' for Al Pack of East Chicago, Indiana, and Miss Los Angeles for Dustin Farnum, famous actor of stage and screen. Both of these boats were sensationally successful. N'Everthin' was sold to W. A. Kemp of Detroit and later that year set a new official A.P.B.A. runabout record of 36.40 miles per hour for 10 miles in competition. Miss Los Angeles won six cups on the Pacific Coast that same year, including the famous Nordlinger trophy.

Early in the same summer Chris Smith of Algonac installed a 12-cylinder 450 horsepower Liberty engine conversion in a 28-foot runabout Miss Nassau and sold it to C. W. Johnston of Cleveland. We believe that this one was one of the first, if not the first, Liberty engine to be installed in a runabout and was, unquestionably, the first runabout to attain 50 miles per hour.

In the fall of 1919, E. W. Gregory of the Belle Isle Boat and Engine Company, Detroit, bought four 26-foot standardized runabout hulls from the Hacker Boat Company. Six of these boats had been designed and built by John L. Hacker for 90 horsepower Sterling engines. The first of these boats had been powered with a Sterling and sold to Paul Strasburg of Detroit and the second went to B. C. Scott, president of the Hall-Scott Motor Car Company, and was shipped to California. This boat was powered with one of the new six-cylinder Hall-Scott engines and proved sensationally fast, easily attaining 40 miles per hour. Mr. Gregory thought, however, that 200 horsepower was too much for a boat of this length and, with four boats to sell, decided to use four-cylinder Hall-Scott engines of 125 horsepower and fit them with forward cockpits and complete forward control.

The idea worked out splendidly and resulted in the famous Belle Isle Bear Cat, a type which revolutionized the runabout style. The boat was a sensation from the day it was launched and the Bell Isle Boat and Engine Company attained national prominence in the field, exhibiting at the New York Show in 1920.

Looking back at this particular boat, from the viewpoint of 1939, it seems peculiar that the idea did not sweep the country but, like many other notable improvements, it was several years before other builders recognized its worth.

Early in 1922 Chris Smith and his sons severed their connection with Gar Wood and started up a small shop at Algonac under the name of Chris Smith and Sons Boat Company. This shop still stands as a small unit of the present huge Chris-Craft plant. Their first boat was a 26-footer, supplied in either double cockpit style with forward control or with single cockpit aft. It was powered with a four-cylinder converted Hall-Scott airplane engine and was priced originally at $3950 complete, a price much below the figure quoted on the 26-foot Bear Cat. The Hacker Boat Company also came out with a 26-foot runabout using the same type of power plant.

This same year the Belle Isle Boat and Engine Company brought out the first runabout with a double cockpit, seating four persons forward of the engine.

The following year, 1923, brought added rivalry and really marked the beginning of large production in runabouts. John L. Hacker, one of the pioneer designers and builders, had been building a small number of boats each Super Target Spot.

This Lyman Targetspot scope is designed for the target shooter who desires the ultimate in sighting equipment. It enables the shooter to bring out the last degree of accuracy in both gun and ammunition. Either the 10, 12 or 15 power with objective of 34 mm. (1-11/32 in.) effective free aperture provides approximately twice the size of the field of view of scopes of equal magnification. The advantage of the larger field enables the shooter to hold with considerably less effort, notwithstanding the higher magnification. The Super-Targetspot scope may easily and quickly be focused for range Parallax can be entirely removed by the range focusing or objective lens adjustment and the correction for individual eye made by moving the ocular lens. This is an exclusive feature of Lyman Targetspot and Super-Targetspot scopes. Both have non-rotating objectives lens and easily read range scale. Optically the Super-Targetspot with its large objective offers remarkable light gathering power, hence its ability to pick up shots at greater distances with higher magnification and greater resolution. Lenses of highest quality Bausch & Lomb, polariscope tested optics available in 10, 12 or 15 magnifications with all magnifications having exceptional brilliance, sharp definition. Flat, crystal white field to extreme edge. Under reasonable light conditions, shots may be easily separated in the black at 100 yards. Under good light conditions many shooters have spotted shots up to 200 yards. The field of view in the 34 mm. objective Super-Targetspot scope is unusualyy large for magnifications as high as 10, 12 and 15. The 10 power provides a field of 12 feet at 100 yards, 12 power is 9 feet 3 inches at 100 yards, and the 15 is 8 feet 9 inches at 100 yards. Ranges of 50 feet, 25, 50, 100 and 200 yards are given in clear white graduations on rotating front sleeve and tube.

Targetspot.

This Lyman Targetspot scope is a precise optical instrument that has been designed for the target shooter who desires to have both optical excellence and mechanical precision. Both the 8X and 10X Targetspots are made with 1⅛ in. objective (28 mm.) free aperture lens providing approximately twice the size field of view of scope of equal magnification. The advantage of the larger field enables the shooter to hold with considerably less effort notwithstanding the higher magnification. The Targetspot offers the advantage of easy and almost instant parallax elimination made possible by an exclusive feature of design. Parallax can be entirely removed by adjusting the objective lens which is non-rotating and by an adjustable ocular lens. When the ocular lens is properly focused for individual eyesight the setting is permanent. Optically and mechanically the Targetspot is of the highest quality and made to exacting specifications. A complete description follows: The lenses are Superior Bausch & Lomb Polariscope tested optics, in 8 or 10 power, of exceptional brilliance and light gathering ability. Sharp definition. Flat and colorless to extreme edge. Unusually large field with 1⅛ inch objective free aperture. The 8X provides a field of 14 feet diameter at 100 yards. The 10X field is 12 feet diameter at 100 yards. Shots may be spotted up to 100 yards under reasonable light conditions. Front sleeve gradnations are clearly marked for ranges of 50 feet, 25, 50, 100 and 200 yards. The rear mount is three point suspension with 1/4 min. micrometer click adjustments for windage and elevation. One piece frame clamp. The front mount scope is held by top spring and plunger. Rib to prevent turning is on top of scope tube. Bases are circular beveled mill cut and hardened, front and rear mounts. Reticules are extra fine cross hair, .0007 in. standard. MOSSBERG

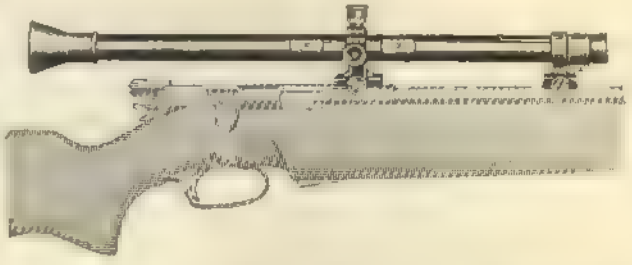
Automatic Range Finder Scope Sight.

The most amazing and practical telescope sight you ever saw. Imagine—you sight through it, make an adjustment, and your elevation is set automatically whether your target or game is 25 yards away or 200 yards distant. And not only that, if you do know the distance, set the instrument to the known yardage and you are automatically and immediately sighted in, ready to shoot without guess work. A fine wire lays just above the horizontal cross hair. As you move the camplate on top of the scope, this wire or stadia hair moves up and down, and the scope tube changes elevation. Regardless of the distance, when the cam is adjusted so that the two horizontal lines have about 6 inches of the object between them, the scope is automatically set for elevation. Model RF1 will fit all rifles which are drilled and tapped for Mossberg side-mounting scope sights, and can be attached to all other makes of rifles in the same manners as other Mossberg scope mounts. The micrometer click adjustments permit the use of this instrument as a regular scope sight.

Model RF1. 4 Power. Field of view at 100 yards, 27 ft. Length, 15⅝ in. Wt. ea., 1¼ lbs.....Each $8 95



To make this the most complete line of telescope sights in the market, top mounts are included so that Mossberg scope tubes can be fitted to rifles drilled for dove tail blocks on top of action. Here you get micrometer click adjustments with ½ minute graduations at no extra cost, as usual. A complete set of shims with each scope, so that you don't have to order special bases for each particular rifle—complete with eyecup and drill and tap set for attaching to any make of rifle. The whole job for one low price.

Note what was done in order to keep the scope tube down, practically in line with the line of iron sights. The focus adjustment was made so as to move the objective lens by a simple twist of the cap on the front end. This construction eliminates all plates, screws, or other adjusting parts usually found on the sides of scope tubes, and allows the tube to be easily moved away or toward the eye to get proper eye-relief (distance from eye to end of scope tube). The new type internal adjustments with patented "click" screws move the cross hair reticule instead of the whole scope tube, and have ¼ minute graduations. Furthermore, the entire reticule assembly, including adjusting screws, can be moved along the tube to bring the cross hairs into sharp focus for your own particular eyes, a feature which has not been possible in internal adjustment scopes up to this time. Not only that, but the mount in itself has some adjustment so that if a perfect job of mounting is not done, the scope tube can still be set correctly through the flexibility of the mounting itself. On the elevation screw is another new gadget—a little ring graduated from 25 yards to 100 yards. Set the scope at 25 yards, move the ring to the point marked 25 yards, and from then on forget it. Shoot any range you wish from 25 to 100 yards. Simply turn the ring to the range you want to shoot, and shoot.

No. 5M4. 4 Power. Field of view at 100 yards, 20 ft.; length, 16 in. Wt. ea., 1 lb. .....Each $4 95

The "No. 9 Series" of scope sights are all built on the No. 9 scope mount. The steel fastens securely to the action by two screws. The upper section, containing the adjustments, can be entirely removed at will, and can be attached to the base at two different heights. Patented "click" adjustments are graduated in half-minutes, equivalent to ½ inch change of bullet impact at 100 yards. This side-mounting principle has been developed in order to overcome the objection to top mounts, which do not permit the telescope tube to get down to where it belongs, down close to the top of the barrel and receiver. Side mounting will permit the use of the scope tube as low as the design of the rifle will permit. Mossberg rifles were re-designed for this particular purpose, and are therefore unique in this respect. Since scope-sight shooting is far ahead of any other method for results and for enjoyment, why not pick the equipment designed for this purpose? No. 9 mount will fit practically all small bore rifles by drilling and tapping two holes in the receiver, using standard thread screws. (All Mossberg rifles are drilled and tapped for these scope sights). Side mounting, without any cuts in action, barrel or stock, allows clear vision under the scope tube (when the scope is in high position) for combination use of scope and iron sight shooting. All "No. 9 Series" telescope tubes are particularly fine optical instruments, carefully developed for this particular purpose. They all have universal focus, medium fine reticules, and five lens systems, and provisions for all necessary adjustments.

OUTBOARD ENGINES

JOHNSON SEA-HORSE

WITH THE 1940 advent of the new Hi Power Sea Horse Model SD, Alternate Firing steps out to greater speed and more diversification. There is no less than 16.0 N. O. A. certified brake horsepower at 4,000 r. p. m. packed into this streamlined package, although it weighs only 88 pounds including the Ready-Pull Starter which is built in as regular equipment.

The two bantam-weight singles are more powerful this year, too. Increased in piston displacement by 19 per cent, the power has been stepped up 36 per cent to 1.5 N. O. A. Certified Brake Horsepower at 4,000 r. p. m. and a two-needle, double-intake carburetor permits precision adjustment that greatly improves performance throughout the speed range.

There are eleven great players on the All-American Sea Horse team for 1940, every one fitted for his particular position in the line-up, each a star in his own individual right on the water gridirons of the nation.

For those who want the technical details of the 1940 Johnson line, let us start with the smallest and lightest motor in the line and work right through.

Introduced in 1938 as the smallest, lightest and lowest priced Johnson motor ever built, Model MS quickly jumped into prominence. With the bore increased this year from 1⅜ to 1½ inches, and a new carburetor having a slow-speed needle valve adjustment as well as other refinements, it packs 36 per cent more power. Johnson Full Pivot Reverse and quiet Underwater Exhaust are of course retained. A new more conventional gasoline tank and a new streamlined spark plug cover improve the appearance. The positive type plunger pump provides cooling at lowest operating speeds.

The companion Model MD has the same power improvements but is only slightly changed in external appearance. It has, as before, the fully streamlined powerhead and the built in Ready-Pull Starter.

Next is the H series of three models. These are the smallest Alternate Firing Twin motors, having only 4.08 cubic inches piston displacement and developing 2.5 N. O. A. Certified Brake Horsepower at 4,000 r. p. m.

Model HS is equipped for conventional rope starting. It is the lightest twin Johnson has ever built, weighing only 21¾ pounds. It has the Big Three of outboard motors: Alternate Firing, Full Pivot Reverse, and Underwater Exhaust. And besides, such features as the positive plunger pump, dual carburetion (third-port for high speed, rotary valve for slowest trolling speed), the patented Co-Pilot, Synchro-Control of spark and throttle, cast aluminum cylinder block with hard iron sleeves (for durability and saving in weight) and Alrok treated underwater parts.

Models HA, with Ready-Pull Starter, and HD with fully enclosed and streamlined powerhead, Ready-Pull built in, are companion models of the same power and general features.

Models LT (rope starting), AT (with Ready-Pull Starter) and DT (fully enclosed and streamlined) develop 3.0 N. O. A. Certified Brake Horsepower at 4,000 r. p. m. Dual carburetion—two separate but coordinated intake systems—provides for flashy pick-up and speed as well as for slow speed trolling. Carburetor controls linked with spark advance and retard by Synchro-Control make operation simple, almost automatic. Patented Co-Pilot, Shock Absorber Slip Clutch, positive plunger pump, Alrok treated underwater parts, and Alternate Firing, Full Pivot Reverse, Underwater Exhaust account in large measure for the popularity of this motor. Such features as sealed gearcase and cast aluminum cylinder block (with hard iron sleeves) and hardened steel gears and reverse-flux magnets with distributor and spark plug protection are all retained.

The Model KA motor, heretofore Johnson's largest motor of the Alternate Firing type, develops 9.8 N. O. A. Certified Brake Horsepower at 4,000 r. p. m., weighs 64 pounds and incorporates many of the features of the other motors. It has the Patented Co-Pilot and Full Pivot Reverse with single-shaft Underwater Exhaust. Synchro-Control of throttle and spark simplifies operation. The double-breaker and two-coil magneto assures easy starting and continued Dependability. Cooling is by Pressure-Vacuum system, no moving extra parts, nothing to wear, not even in sandy water.

The new Hi-Power Model SD motor fills a gap in the Johnson line. It has been built for those needing more power than the KA provides, yet desiring less weight than in the large super-power Model PO motor.

Model SD is an Alternate Firing Twin, the largest Johnson has ever built. The bore is 2⅛ inches, stroke 2⅛ inches, piston displacement 22.09 cubic inches. It weighs only 88 pounds with DeLuxe equipment including streamlined powerhead and built-in Ready-Pull Starter. Its N. O. A. Brake Horsepower at 4,000 r. p. m. is 16.0. On a well modeled hull of fifteen or sixteen feet length and weighing around 175 pounds, it will give speeds of around 20 miles per hour with two medium size passengers. Its pick-up from slow to high speed is remarkable. Throttle control is by a twist-grip on the steering handle. The steering handle is of the no-shake type, being cushioned in the rubber mounting of the motor.

In the Model SD Sea Horse, the gasoline is fed to the sealed carburetor bowl under pressure. A small rotary valve, in combination with a check-valve, is provided in the

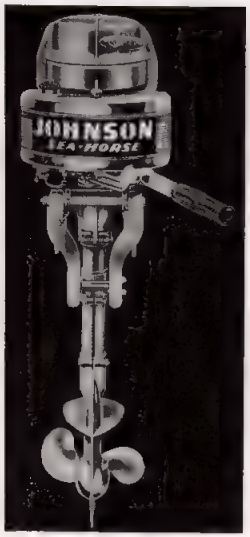
Right: Power of the Sea Horse Model MD Deluxe bantam weight (25-pound) single has been increased 36% to 1½ h.p. at 4000 r.p.m.



All underwater parts of the 5 h.p. Johnson Sea Horse Model AT Medium Alternate Firing Twin are Alrok-treated. It has Full Pivot Reverse and Underwater Exhaust crankshaft. This is timed to release a small amount of pressure from the crankcases. Pressure on the gasoline in the tank is built up within a few starting revolutions sufficient to take care of the feed. The carburetor bowl is sealed and so designed that there is usually some gasoline remaining from previous operations for starting, but should there not be, the combination of gravity (when the tank is full) and the pressure which quickly builds up on cranking, is sufficient

Gasoline control is concentrated in one simple lever on a panel on the front of the motor. This lever, when in one position, can be moved quickly in a small arc to pump-prime the motor for starting; in another (stop) position, it shuts off the flow of gasoline from tank to carburetor and seals the carburetor bowl against leakage, at the other positions, marked on the panel, it modifies the gasoline mixture for best running

The bearing problem has been handily solved by a four-way combination of lightweight pistons and connecting rods (aluminum with hard bronze inserts); extra large crankpin and main bearings, with a case-hardened shaft and hard bronze bearing material; a special oiling system that traps and re-circulates accumulated oil in the crankcases, and precision counter-balancing.

Model SD is floated in rubber What little vibration there is, is damped out before it reaches the boat. Quiet operation is assured by complete powerhead enclosure and single-shaft underwater exhaust with an automatic exhaust relief for starting. The rubber mounting provides for the Patented Co Pilot and the shake-proof steering handle

The throttle control is a twist-grip near the end of the steering handle. The stopping button is located in the end of the steering handle. Cooling is accomplished by a new combination of pressure and vacuum without extra moving parts. Pressure is provided by a scoop back of the propeller blade tips; vacuum by passages cast into the propeller acting as a whirling pump to withdraw the cooling water from the system While the motor will operate at very slow speeds smoothly and consistently, the cooling water circulation is adequate at every speed at which the motor will run. And there are no extra moving or wearing parts—no valves of any kind—nothing affected by sand or muddy water.

The carburetor is a new type, developed and built by Johnson. It is, in fact, a double carburetor serving each crankcase separately, but with only one set of controls. The excellent distribution that this construction affords accounts in a large measure for the exceptional pick-up and power characteristics of the motor.

The gearcase is streamlined for high efficiency and all underwater parts are Alrok treated to retard salt-water corrosion. Hardened steel gears of ample size transmit the power. New-type, positive grease seals on both propeller shaft and pinion shaft keep water out and grease in the gearcase. The cylinder heads are detachable. The cylinder block is die-cast aluminum treated to prevent corrosion, with cast-in-place hard iron sleeves. The magneto, Johnson design and construction, has two coils and two breakers, one for each cylinder. It has been given slow-speed characteristics which insure consistent easy starting and slow speed running.

The largest motor in the 1940 Sea Horse line, Model PO, remains virtually unchanged in construction. Streamlined spark plug covers have been added to the heads for protection against splash and spray. This motor, an opposed twin of 30 inches piston displacement, develops 22.0 N. O. A. Certified Brake Horsepower at 4,000 r. p. m. and is extensively used here and abroad both for high speed runabouts and family type boats and for heavy duty commercial purposes

Detroiter is a new four-cycle 18 h.p. two-cylinder opposed alternate firing outboard just introduced by the Detroit Outboard Corporation

DETROIT OUTBOARD

THE YEAR 1940 sees a new face in t outboard motor field

This newest addition to the family of ou board engines is the Detroiter, manufactur by the Detroit Outboard Motors Corpor tion of Detroit, Michigan. The new firm headed by Wm. H. Anderson as Preside Homer Traister is treasurer, Wm. A. Goz ley is Secretary, LeRoy S. Holmes is t firm's Chief Engineer and Production Ma ager, and Frederic Lewis heads the Sal Department.

The company's first model is a four cyc two cylinder opposed, alternate firing h. p. outboard engine, weighing 105 poun dry

This motor has a bore of 2¾ inches a a stroke of 2½ inches, giving a piston di placement of 29.7 cubic inches. It turns o its 18 horsepower at 3,750 revolutions p minute.

It is equipped with roller and ball bearing throughout, except the wrist pins which a full floating The oiling system is full pre sure feed to all main and connecting ro bearings as well as to the cam shaft bea ings.

An outstanding feature of this moto construction is the cast aluminum cylind barrels and the hard steel sleeve which shrunk into them. This sleeve is formed wi a plate of the same metal which covers t top of the cast cylinder and forms a ha steel seat for all the valves and which e tends to the outer diameter of the cylind wall. The cylinder head is bolted throu this steel plate to the cylinder barrel. Wi this construction, infrequent valve grindin are necessary. If for any reason one of the sleeve and plate assemblies should ever have to be removed it can be done by any auto or engine mechanic and requires no special tools either to remove or replace.

The gasoline tank, of aluminum, has a capacity of two gallons and is fitted with the customary safety type of filler cap Magnetos are Wico or Eisman, and the carburetor is a Tillotson. The Detroiter is said to be notable for its smoothness of operation. The four cycle feature is also said to make possible a low operating speed with reduction in vibration and without causing any increase in motor temperatures.

Remarkable operating economies are claimed for the motor. Consumption of lubricating oil is almost nil and the fuel it takes is said to be very little for the power developed. The motor will operate all season on one quart of oil.

Practically the entire engine is constructed of aluminum with the exception, of course, of such parts as the crankshaft and the bearings, as well as the flywheel and propeller shafts

The company plans to add to their line in the near future, both a ten and a five h. p. motor built around the same design.

EVINRUDE

A NEW, COMPACT, 43-pound, four cylinder outboard motor called Evinrude Zephyr, is the contribution of Evinrude Motors, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, to America's water-loving sportsmen in 1940. Additional announcements include a new Sportfour and a price reduction of its fast selling price leader, the Evinrude Mate.

Delivering 5.4 N.O.A. certified brake h.p. at 4000 r.p.m., the new Zephyr suits the power requirements of the majority of boats commonly used by vacationists, fishermen and resorters. Quick as lightning on the start, a flick of the steering handle throttle control unleashes power that planes a suitable boat up to 16 m.p.h. A quarter twist of the handle checks speed down to a crawl, and anywhere along the range the power flows with pleasing smoothness. The Zephyr will handle good sized loads, and its fuel consumption is low. Even a child can start the Zephyr easily.

Steering is made vibrationless through rubber-cushioning—the patented Co-Pilot keeps the boat on its course while the helmsman leaves the tiller unattended. The oversize muffler is water-sealed; all gases are quietly diffused in the boat's wake. The fuel tank is of generous size, so the trips are longer between fills. Two-stage centrifugal pump cooling assures trouble-free operation when in weedy, silty waters. It is friction free, cannot wear or corrode

At slight extra cost the Zephyr comes equipped with Evinrude's Simplex (rewind) Starter. A sturdy spring mechanism inside the cover rewinds the cord for the next start

Introduced in 1939, the 10-pound Evinrude Mate "went to town" in its first year. Priced low, the Mate so far exceeded sales expectations that through the use of costly production tools and dies, Evinrude officials now find it possible to make a further reduction.

Designed to replace oars, the Mate drives rowboats up to 4 m.p.h., canoes up to five. Power, speed, economy, silence and ease of operation are salient features. It trolls slowly on fishing boats and canoe and kayak owners like its light weight and smoothness.

In every sense is the Mate a full-fledged, hooded power motor with no necessary or desirable feature omitted. Completely and fully streamlined, equipped with Co-Pilot steering, positive two-stage centrifugal pump cooling system, automatic exhaust relief, the Mate truly offers complete satisfaction of outboard ownership at a most reasonable price. A simple, quickly attached canoe bracket is available.

Evinrude's line completely covers every conceivable service Besides the 10-pound Mate, there are two Singles, the 16-pound Ranger and the 23½-pound Sportsman. The 33½ pound Sportwin bridges the span between the Singles and the four Fours, the new Zephyr, the Lightfour, the new Sportfour and the giant Speedifour, with the ever popular Speeditwin holding its traditional position just inside the Speedifour.

Capable of top speed of 6 m.p.h., and packing power enough to maintain excellent speed with a well loaded boat in fairly heavy going, with the added advantage of slowing down to a crawl, the Ranger has earned a place in Evinrude popularity. Addition of the Simplex Starter increases its weight only 2½ pounds. Its extra large fuel tank provides a 3 hours' cruising range at full speed. Ranger powers a wide variety of rowboats, fishing and resort boats, and canoes. It stows easily in the luggage compartment of a car.

Beginning with the 1.1. h.p. Ranger, Evinrude now offers the Simplex (cord rewind) Starter on five models, including the new, powerful Sportfour. It adds but little to the price, yet does away with the job of picking up and winding the starter cord for each starting occasion. After the pull which starts the motor, the mechanism automatically returns the starting knob to the starting position—always ready—and the starting cord is never left behind.

The Sportsman has become a conspicuous leader in the field of powerful boat motors. Its popularity as a fishing motor is enhanced by its weedless propeller and its ability to troll at a snail's pace. Operation is made velvety-smooth by accurate balance and vibrationless Co-Pilot steering The patented Co-Pilot keeps the boat on its course while the operator is otherwise occupied. The simple, fingertip controls which eliminate groping or fumbling are on the Sportsman as well as on every model in the Evinrude line.

The Sportsman will handle good sized boats at excellent speeds, even when loaded with 4, 5 or 6 people. Top speed in a cleanlined boat is 7½ m.p.h. The 23½-pound Sportsman (26 pounds with Simplex Starter) is handled, started, and operated with ease, even by women and children.

Long a big favorite among fishermen who travel long stretches, the 3.3 h.p. Sportwin maintains high popularity. Though powerful, the Sportwin at 33½ pounds is still a light, easily carried outboard. Its rubber slip-clutch (also featured in the Sportsman) saves much shearing of propeller pins and propeller injury in rock infested waters Its weedless propeller pleases the fisherman on his trips near weedy shores

Sportwin is completely hooded and streamlined. Equipped with Simplex Starter, even the starter spool becomes enclosed—and the total weight is only 36 pounds

The standard Lightfour drives a planing boat up to 25 m.p.h. A roomy family or fishing hull travels well up to the limit of its speed capability with the motor near full throttle. Still the Lightfour lives up to its name; at 63 pounds it is still easily handled. Its four cylinders pour out a flow of silk-smooth power that throttles to a quiet crawl. The Lightfour has it—power to plane a boat, or slow speed flexibility for trolling—all in one outboard, with complete control in the operator's twist of the steering handle grip

Following through on its streamline hooded power design program, Evinrude this year has invested a considerable sum in completely modernizing the capable Sportfour. Engineering improvements have increased power to 17.6 h.p The new streamlined tank is 30 per cent larger, providing correspondingly increased cruising range. Finger-tip controls provide ease of operation. Speed is controlled by the twist-grip steering handle.

Sportfour drives large family and runabout hulls up to 30 m.p.h. Aquaplaning or towing other good sized loads are well within its capabilities, and it will plane a good boat with four occupants. At any speed the power flow is smooth. The 1940 Sportfour is optionally equipped with the Simplex Starter.

Stock Evinrude Speeditwins won the first 3 places in the first Albany Marathon race in 1927. Ever since, the sturdy Speeditwin has been developed along rugged lines to provide large, speedy outboard hulls with swift, sturdy power. Rotary valve construction, similar to that used in all the Evinrude Fours, provides quick get-away to full throttle. Despite its size, the Speeditwin exhausts quietly through its sealed underwater system. Handsome hooded design provides dependable all-weather operation. Speeditwin's speed range is 5 to 35 m.p.h. Speeditwin remains the big favorite for service, hydroplane and runabout racing.

Evinrude Speedifour has a speed range of 5 to 40 m.p.h. Top speed is well maintained even with 3, 4 or 5 occupants in the boat. Speedifours are frequently used to power outboard cruisers that sleep a party of four, and drive such craft up to 20 m.p.h.

As optional equipment, Evinrude supplies a 12-volt Electric Starting system. A touch of the switch starts the motor. Attaining ⅔ full speed, the starting motor becomes a generator that keeps the battery fully charged. There is plenty of current capacity for running lights and horn.

It is noteworthy that Evinrude's most important service features apply to every one of its nine models. After years of concentration in making motors start easily, it can be truly said that all Evinrude models will start nearly always on the first pull of the cord. Hooded power is a universal Evinrude feature, developed to the fullest degree in all the Simplex Starter models where not even the starter spool remains exposed.

Finger-tip controls that provide last-word operating ease are provided in every model. The Patented Co-Pilot, sealed underwater silencing with automatic exhaust relief for still easier starting and quieter operation, and centrifugal pump cooling are given 100 per cent representation in the line.

Unusually deep boats are often found in use in salt water or Great Lakes territories. To avoid the necessity of cutting down transoms, Evinrude provides 5 inches longer than standard shaft constructions for all except the two smallest of its service models at small added cost. A special 15-inch additional length is also available on the Lightfour model only.

The Lightfour provides ideal auxiliary or primary power for a large variety of small yachts, sail boats, ferry boats, small cruisers and other commercial hulls. For heavy boats of these types, Evinrude's special 11 to 31 reduction gear drive does a more economical and efficient propulsion job.

Canoe sales are undoubtedly being benefited greatly by the ½ and 1 horsepower Evinrudes. Easily applied to the canoe by means of the simple, low cost bracket, these efficient little engines enable canoeists to see far more country in a fraction of the time consumed in paddling.

While part of boating America quietly goes fishing, another section goes in for speed. Even here the development of light alloys has enabled Evinrude to build its 38-pound Midget with enough power to drive suitable hydroplanes at speeds well over 35 m.p.h. The price of the Midget brings the thrills of hydroplane racing within the reach of youngsters.

The Class C Racing Speeditwin, and Class F 460 (also used to power Midget race cars) complete Evinrude's line of special racers.

A letter or post card request to Evinrude Motors, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, will bring the complete set of Evinrude's literature. One of the items included is a clever slide rule type Boat and Motor Selector, which tells which motor is best suited to the prospect's hull, whether it be a rowboat, canoe, runabout, sailboat or other type.

MERCURY

A SERIES OF three new 1940 outboard motors known as the Mercury line has been developed by the Kiekhaefer Corporation of Cedarburg, Wisconsin. There is a standard single cylinder 3 h. p. model, a 6 h. p. alternate firing twin, and a 9 h. p. three cylinder engine. The bore and stroke on each of these types is 2 by 1¾ inches with the power developed at a maximum of 4,250 r. p. m., the minimum r. p. m. of the operating range being 500.

Special alloy aluminum pistons are used and the cylinder is close grain nickel chromium analysis, removable sleeve type of uniform cross section. This permits equalized expansion with a minimum of out-of-round distortion.

A particularly effective method of cooling has been worked out with removable aluminum water jackets for easy cleaning. An added advantage is the fact that cylinder walls cannot be forced out of shape, and better cooling is effected because the heat is transmitted through only a 1/16-inch wall of cylinder directly to the cooling medium.

The crankshaft is in one piece, counterbalanced, and heat treated to insure maximum toughness with a good hardness for long bearing life. Counter balances on the crankshaft are placed directly opposite unbalanced forces.

The crankcase is die cast or permanent mold aluminum construction and bearings are diamond bored to size for perfect alignment. A rigid crankcase insures permanence of bearing alignment and freedom from leakage.

On the single cylinder Mercury a labyrinth type seal is placed at the top extremity of the top crankcase bearing to confine oil that might otherwise escape upward. The principal function of this seal is to keep the magneto free from oil fumes which otherwise might foul points, affecting not only idling but also high speed performance.

A unique type of king-pin steering minimizes the effort required in steering and pivoting through 270 degrees assures full maneuverability. An auto pilot in the steering control will hold the boat indefinitely on any set course whether trolling or planing at high speed.

Mercury engines have a special torsional vibration dampener in which live coil springs control the rocking of the engine which is set up by natural firing impulses. Thus the engine is allowed to dissipate its natural vibration while at the same time it is insulated from the boat and steering handle so as to assure smooth performance. Because of the combination of the auto pilot with the vibration dampener and king-pin steering, vibration of the engine is not felt in the steering handle at any speed.

Scientific lines have been moulded into the propeller shaft housing and drive shaft housing to insure maximum speed and efficiency at no expense of weedless characteristics. Free from turbulence and cavitation, the lower unit achieves a remarkable degree of underwater efficiency.

Cut steel gears are chapmanized, resisting corrosion in salt water. The propeller shaft is similarly treated and all shafts entering the lower unit assembly are sealed. The rear bearing of the propeller shaft is triple-sealed which, coupled with ample grease capacity, insures long life. Construction of the one-piece drive shaft housing has been made as simple as possible, serving not only to support the engine to the propeller shaft casing, but to conduct cooling water and exhaust gases and improving both underwater efficiency and appearance. The exhaust outlet is streamlined, noise being reduced to a minimum by its location and construction.

The new rotex pump, the heart of the Mercury streamlined design, is located deep in the water. Because of its positive action cooling is insured at all times and under all conditions at any speed. It is said to be so efficient that it will actually pump mud.

The magneto used in the Mercury produces 20,000 volts and its magnets need never be recharged. It is virtually splash-proof and spray cannot directly splash on the coils.

An improved Tillotson carburetor provides excellent starting and smooth performance throughout the entire power range. A positive choke is provided for convenience in starting and synchronized control is effected by connecting the magneto control with the carburetor throttle to provide automatic spark advance. A carrying handle is provided automatically by tipping up the steering handle which locks in this position for easy carrying.

ELTO

ELTO'S LINE of 1940 outboard engines embraces six models. Through heavy volume sales of its Cub model, Elto is now able to reduce its price. At the new low figure Elto probably will do a record volume job on the Cub.

The 8½-pound Elto Cub was designed to replace oars, and Elto's claim for Cub speeds remains at 4 miles per hour maximum on boats, up to 5 on canoes and kayaks.

The Elto Cub is claimed to be the world's lightest outboard, at the lowest price. A single gallon runs the motor for a full day's boating! The fuel tank holds a pint, enough for an hour's running at full speed.

The motor starts easily and controls are within easy reach. The patented relief Co-Pilot—a feature on all Elto models—holds the boat on the course when the helmsman lets go.

Included on the Cub are such important features as two-stage centrifugal pump cooling, sealed underwater silencing, automatic exhaust relief, streamlined gear housing. The Cub develops ½ N O A. certified brake h.p. at 4000 r.p.m.

Right: Elto Weedless Lightwin, with rubber-mounted propeller and weedless bronze angle drive, will push heavy boats through the thickest of weed growths

Fishermen, vacationists, cottagers, yachtsmen—all accord the Elto Pal a hearty O.K. An analysis of the mechanical make-up of the motor, plus its unfailing reliability, give the reason for its popularity.

Complete at 14 pounds, the Pal delivers 1 1 N.O.A. certified brake h.p.—a generous measure of capable power that drives good sized boats up to 6 m.p.h. No less satisfying is its economy of operation—full 6 hours on a single gallon of fuel.

Dinghy owners seem fond of the Pal, because of the frequent need for carrying the motor, and its ability to swiftly push a loaded, wide sterned dinghy through rough going.

The Pal has the patented Co-Pilot that keeps the boat on the course when the helmsman lets go the steering handle. All other important Elto features are included, such as finger-tip controls, flood-proof carburetion, two-stage centrifugal pump cooling.

Long the favorite of fishermen and owners whose boats and service require more power than the smaller Eltos provide, the Ace is now equipped to give even more satisfying performance. This year a propeller protection clutch has been added to the streamlined gear housing. When the propeller strikes a rock or deadhead, the weedless propeller slips for an instant, then grips securely again. This saves replacing shear pins, an otherwise frequent necessity in rocky or snaggy waters.

The Ace provides astonishing power and speed for its weight of only 21 pounds. It will run nearly three hours on a single gallon of fuel. It is provided with all the Elto quality features, among which sealed underwater silencing, Alrock corrosion proofing of underwater parts, flood-proof carburetion, and others, give satisfying performance and long life. The optional longer shaft model is often used in powering heavy ocean-going boats.

When a motor weighs only 31½ pounds, when it delivers 3 full horsepower, and it's a high quality Twin, it is something for the sportsman to write home about! And increasingly large numbers are doing just that—telling Elto engineers what a fine job their Elto Handitwin is doing.

The addition of the propeller protection clutch this year makes the Handitwin an even greater value. This Handitwin model is particularly desirable for long trips far from fuel supplies—where speed and economy must go hand in hand. That is why Handi-

The Flag of Your Country

THE flying of flags and colors on motor craft, sailing and other yachts is governed largely by custom. Few, if any, laws or government regulations have ever been enacted on this subject. Mention has seldom if ever been made by Congress in all of its years, of any requirements for the flying of any flag on numbered, undocumented or unlicensed vessels or yachts. Documented yachts are expected to fly the yacht ensign but the enforcement of even this regulation is questionable.

A review or a brief history of the United States National Flag should permit one to better understand some of the fundamentals on which many of the customs of flags and colors are based, especially their evolution for use on the water.

The origin and early history of the use of national flags is very indefinite. This is especially true of the national ensign of the United States. Early Colonial and American history makes very little mention of our flag or flags. Our Navy seems to have begun the use of the Stars and Stripes immediately after the Continental Congress had passed an Act in June, 1777, establishing the Stars and Stripes as the flag of this country. However, it was not until 1895 or some 30 years after the close of the Civil War, that the United States cavalry was given the right to carry the Stars and Stripes as the national standard. It was in 1841 that the infantry first used the national colors. Not until 1876 did the Marines carry the Stars and Stripes.

As the Navy made use of the national flag from the beginning and the other branches of the U. S. government were slow in adopting it, it emphasizes that the Stars and Stripes as the national ensign is a flag of the sea and its right to be flown from yachts is clearly established.

On the subject of the origin and development of the flag from which the Stars and Stripes has been evolved, accounts are too conflicting to warrant placing much credence in them. Prince Edward, afterwards Edward I of England, about the middle of the last half of the 13th century, adopted the Red Cross of St. George, on a white field, as the national flag of England. After James VI of Scotland ascended the throne of England in 1603, as James I, he was much annoyed by the wrangling between the masters of English and Scotch ships when they met at sea as to which one should dip its colors to the other. Therefore, in 1606, he stopped this annoyance and to help unite the two kingdoms into one country, combined the two crosses into a new flag, which subsequently became known as the Union Jack. This he required all vessels of both countries to carry at their mainmast. A century later when the two countries agreed upon their union, a national agreement required the union of the crosses to be used on flags, banners, standards, and ensigns both at sea and on land.

Near the beginning of the revolution, General Washington assigned to the various officers as a distinction of rank, ribbons varying in color and these were worn by them until something more formal was designed. There were practically no flags or colors although some of the individual companies of the Colonial Army are supposed to have brought with them those which they had previously used. Later General Washington urged the various Colonels to provide for their regiments colors of such design as might appeal to them. This was frequently done and in many instances, some designs of 13 units were used to represent the 13 colonies.

Some of the colonies adopted flags of their own. Massachusetts adopted the Pine Tree, with the motto An Appeal to Heaven. Rhode Island selected one having an anchor and the word Hope and within the canton a union of 13 white stars on a blue field, said to be the first flag on which the 13 colonies were represented by 13 stars.

South Carolina's flag has an interesting history. In September 1775, the Committee of Safety of Charleston instructed Colonel William Moultrie to take possession of Fort Johnson on James Island, which he did. The uniforms of their troops were blue with a silver increscent in the cap. Soon realizing that a flag was needed, he improvised one having a blue field with a white increscent in the canton. This was the flag which sergeant Jasper so gallantly rescued on June 28, 1776, when the fort of palmetto logs on Sullivans Island was attacked by the British Fleet under Admiral Sir Peter Parker. It was under this flag that the Declaration of Independence was read to the people of Charleston on August 8, 1776. When the state came to officially adopt a flag, it took the one which Colonel Moultrie had designed and in recognition of the good services of the palmetto logs, placed upon it a palmetto tree.

While our first flag act was adopted June 14, 1777, by resolution of the Continental Congress and reading as follows: "Resolved, That the flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation" yet there is nothing to show that the Revolutionary Army ever carried any flags furnished by the American Congress. Those which were carried were purely personal, each made by or for some officer, company or regiment, and represented the sentiments of the makers. However, the United States Navy began to use the flag immediately after it was authorized by the Continental Congress.

History records only one Stars and Stripes that was carried by the American Army during the Revolutionary War. It was carried by the North Carolina Militia at the Battle of Guilford Courthouse, March 15, 1781, but the stripes were blue and red and the union had a white field with 13 eight-pointed stars. There is also another flag hanging in the State House at Annapolis, which it is claimed was carried by the Third Maryland Regiment in 1781. It has 13 five pointed stars, one in the center,

John Madigan

Rarely are the national colors flown at the stern staff of a yacht. Nevertheless, this practice is correct, even though the yacht ensign is commonly used and 12 arranged in the form of a circle around it. In both of these cases, the flags were purely personal, not official.

The Stars and Stripes preserved in the State House of Boston is claimed to have flown over Fort Independence during the American Revolution but was not carried by the Army. In 1863 each battery of artillery and each company of cavalry was allowed to carry a small flag consisting of Stars and Stripes but that privilege was revoked at the end of the Civil War. The U. S. Marines did not carry the Stars and Stripes as national colors until 1876, yet those which they carried as such in the Mexican and Civil Wars had an eagle in the union.

In none of the three acts adopting the United States national flag is there any mention as to how the stars should be arranged or how many points they should have. In one of the first flags, the stars were sometimes arranged in a circle or with one star in the center and the remaining 12 either in the form of a circle or hollow square, or three horizontal rows of 4, 5 and 4 stars respectively. In a later flag, they were also arranged in several different orders, three horizontal rows of five each or three vertical rows of five each; sometimes in the quincunx order as was the flag that floated over Fort McHenry when Key wrote the Star Spangled Banner.

Apparently about 1841, when the United States Infantry was first given the right to carry the Stars and Stripes, there was a desire on the part of some to preserve their old national colors in the union of the new flag. One of these had an eagle with a bunch of arrows in one claw and the Indian pipe of peace in the other with 13 stars above and a like number below. During the Mexican War, the Fourth Indiana Volunteers carried a flag having in the union an eagle standing on a segment of the globe with a bunch of arrows in one claw, as though intending to conquer the earth.

Near the beginning of the 20th Century, the different departments of our National Government appointed representatives to confer and see if they could not bring order out of chaos. The proportions of Naval flags and Army colors were quite different, the former being much longer in proportion to its height, the latter being much shorter to avoid interfering with the color or standard bearer. It was decided to leave the Army colors alone but to fly the Naval flag from flagstaffs and from Government buildings. Accordingly, following the recommendations of this committee, on October 29, 1912, President Taft issued an executive order defining minutely the proportions and other details of the Stars and Stripes, at the same time approving a custom which had existed in the Navy of placing on their small boats flags having only 13 stars instead of the full complement. The use of only 13 stars on our small or boat flags, was discontinued by an executive order of President Wilson, dated May 29, 1916, and now all flags, colors, etc., used by the United States Government are required to have their full complement of 48 stars. In all of the discussion by the conference it does not appear that there was any mention whatsoever of the yacht ensign or the rights or duties of yachts or any other vessels to fly any particular flag.

From the foregoing it will be seen that the United States has only one flag. The use of the yacht ensign is misleading. England has, by law, created a flag for its navy, another for its merchant service, another for yachts and another for its land forces; each is a national flag and entitled to the position and courtesy due the colors of a nation. But, in the United States, wherever, whenever and for whatever purpose the national colors are flown, there is but one flag to fly.

The place of honor for the national colors on land and sea is as follows: on land on a straight mast, at the head, on a mast with a gaff, at the gaff. At sea and at anchor on a steam or motor vessel, at the flag staff aft; on vessels under sail, at the peak; and on vessels with a gaff, at this gaff when under way.

There has never been passed a law compelling boats to fly the national flag or none at all from the place of honor. It has probably never been contemplated that a loyal citizen would ever do otherwise. Yet, we are free to do as we like and in the use of this freedom there has grown the custom of flying the yacht ensign at the point of honor at shore stations and aboard yachts. There are today ardent yachtsmen in high places who believe this custom aboard yachts should be continued.

The yacht ensign had its beginning on August 7, 1848, when the Congress passed "an act to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to license yachts and for other purposes" providing for the enrollment and licensing of yachts and exempting them from entering and clearing at Custom-houses. The third paragraph of the act provided "that all such licensed yachts shall use a signal of the form, size and colors prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy." (This paragraph has been subsequently re-enacted as Sec. 4215 Revised Statutes of the United States.) The Secretary of the Navy acted promptly, and on August 26, 1848, he requested the New York Yacht Club to submit a design for this signal. The design they submitted on January 9, 1849, was the then adopted American ensign, which carried thirteen stars in a circle in the blue field and the thirteen red and white stripes (the Betsy Ross flag), in which they placed a fouled anchor in the center of the circle of stars. The Secretary of the Navy accepted the suggestion of the New York Yacht Club and authorized the adoption of the design.

It is the design of the yacht "signal" that has resulted in the present confusion because its similarity in appearance to the national ensign promptly led yachtsmen to fly the "signal" now known as the yacht ensign in place of the national ensign and the custom has grown until at present nearly all pleasure craft, from outboard speedsters up, are flying the "signal" as an ensign. The yacht ensign was created only as a signal for yachts enrolled and licensed (documented) and exempted them from entering and clearing at Custom-houses. Presumably it was to be flown in addition to the national ensign on documented yachts. To fly it from a club mast ashore signifies nothing.

Another interesting fact is that in law the ensign of a vessel does not reveal her nationality, as the Supreme Court of the United States has rendered a decision that only the documents and papers of a vessel, duly complied with, reveal her nationality so the ensign reveals nothing and protects nobody.

As no laws of our land specify what flags are to be flown or not flown or where, then we must look elsewhere to discover the basis of our present practices. Lacking laws or "official" regulations, perhaps the natural conclusion would be to allow custom to dictate the proper procedure. This would be proper if the existing customs were at all uniform or consistent. However, it does not need to be mentioned that the prevailing customs of the flying of flags on small motor craft are anything but uniform and consistent as we find them today. With the boats of the type which the Long Island sailing skippers affectionately refer to as the "Bronx Navy" so far outnumbering the craft which attempt to follow an orderly procedure in the proper display of colors, then "custom" is no longer a worth while factor.

Most Yacht Clubs and yachting organizations have flag regulations as part of their by-laws thus making these regulations official as far as the particular club is concerned. It becomes the duty of the members of such a club to follow this stated routine. Undoubtedly the first club to adopt flag routine was the New York Yacht Club. Probably 99 per cent of all clubs have lifted the New York Yacht Club regulations from their year book without change for their own. While in some instances the New York Yacht Club routine is not applicable to small present day craft, yet in this discussion if we follow the New York Yacht Club rules, we will be nearly correct. We will be following the only established routine and authority for the present day customs.

Flags are simply an outward and visible sign that this or that boat, (1) belongs to this or that country, (2) is enrolled in this or that yacht club or yachting organization and (3) is owned by so and so, who is or is not an officer of (2) this or that yachting organization. If we tell that story by the flags we fly, we tell the whole story almost.

If we should want to say whether the owner is or is not on board so that visitors might be governed accordingly, whether guests are being entertained, whether the owner or crew are dining—or similar frivolities, these can be shown by flags also but fundamentally these are incidental only.

The next step in the progression after determining "what" flags to fly is the question of "where." Boats, as we find them today, all have at least two places where flags may be flown. Most boats have three places and a few four or more places (disregarding yardarms, etc.).

As all boats have two "hoists" and as the national and club flags rank one-two in importance it naturally follows that the "hoists" on which to fly each of these flags is easily determined. On the boat where a third "hoist" is available it is allotted to the identification flag of third importance namely the own- (Continued on page 242)

"Nothing in my boating experience has given as much satisfaction."

SAYS MR. W. G. STUBER
PROMINENT ROCHESTER EXECUTIVE

WILLIAM G. STUBER
ROCHESTER N.Y.

September 19, 1939.

Mr. Caleb Smith
The Synchronizer Company
Seneca Falls, New York

Dear Mr. Smith:

I have now completed two months' cruising since you put the Synchronizer on my pair of six cylinder Gray Diesels. There is nothing that I have had in my boating experience that has given me as much satisfaction and pleasure as this Synchronizer, and I can highly recommend it.

Yours very truly,
W. G. Stuber

• Other users of Synchro-Master are equally enthusiastic about this strictly mechanical device for keeping twin motors synchronized.

• Mr. Paul Myers, Washington, D. C.: "I want to tell you what a joy Synchro-Master is. I have used it eleven and twelve hours without stopping the engines in calm seas and in rough seas, and it has kept my matched Kermath Sea Kings humming in unison beautifully." Mr. John W. Stroh, Detroit: "The Skipper has always been pretty careful about this (synchronizing), but no matter how careful he might be, he could never come anywhere near accomplishing what the Synchro-Master does."

• Recommended by leading boat builders, for gasoline and Diesel engines. Easily installed in your boat. Not expensive.

frankly. "I worried all night for fear I'd caused you trouble, and this morning I telephoned your company, and took all the blame."

"Ha! Hence my suspended sentence!"

"And that disagreeable fellow you saw me with—I don't know how he ever got in the club. We're finding a way to get rid of him—and we didn't want him to turn up with that big flashy boat."

Further along the balcony, Toby's monitor man was waving to him from their new mike station. Toby waved back. He got Marilyn out of the crowd, into a little nook by a pennant and banner display. "I have to go on the air," he said. "Will you stand by until I finish? Then I could show you my favorite boat—"

She nodded, smiling. "I'd love to, Toby!"

"It's about the size of a wash-tub, with an outboard motor."

"We have a lot of out-board enthusiasts at Bowline Bay. Why, Toby, maybe I could interest you in a membership!"

Toby stepped nearer. "You're my favorite commodore—and a commodore rates a salute!" he said, and he kissed her.

Now her face was fiery but she still was smiling. "A commodore always returns a salute!" she said softly. "As they say in radio, take it away, Toby Milliken!" and she kissed him back.

Then she walked with him to the microphone, to stand by until they could look at boats together er's private signal. If the owner be a flag officer, his officer's flag is an even better means of identification and should be substituted for the private signal.

THE third part of the procedure is "when." Flags should be flown from 8 a.m. until sundown, during the period that the boat is in commission and manned. It is permissable when leaving or entering a harbor other than one's own anchorage to display flags during daylight before 8 a.m. or after sunset but they should be hauled down immediately upon coming to anchor.

We find in the New York Yacht Club rules that the Union Jack may be displayed while at anchor at the Jackstaff from 8 a.m. to sunset.

Note that this reads—(1) "at the Jackstaff" and (2) that nothing is mentioned about "only on Sundays or holidays."

The Yachtsman's Guide gives as the definition of the Jackstaff, "A short staff, raised at the bowsprit cap, upon which the Union Jack is hoisted."

It should be noted that the motor boat with one mast, quite obviously has no bowsprit cap and therefore, it might be said, can have no jackstaff. But what is more important is that in the definition of jackstaff, quoted above, it is specifically stated that it is a staff upon which the Union Jack is hoisted. The definition does not mention that any other flag is ever flown from this staff. The jack staff should not be confused with the "bow staff" of motor boats. They are not the same.

The New York Yacht Club rule in reference to the flying of the Club flag on a motor yacht with one mast and a staff at the bow specifies that the club flag shall be flown from the bow staff. Nothing is mentioned in this rule making an exception as "when at anchor" or "when at anchor on Sundays or holidays." In other words, the only flag to be flown at the bow staff of a motor yacht with one mast and staff at the bow is the Club flag according to the New York Yacht Club rule book.

The New York Yacht Club rules further provide that "the Club flag shall be displayed by yachts in commission, whenever the Ensign is hoisted." As the Ensign is prescribed to be hoisted from morning to evening colors, it must follow that the yacht club flag must never be lowered from the bowstaff and the Jack substituted therefore, while the Ensign is hoisted. In other words, it can never be proper to fly the Union Jack on a motor vessel with single mast and bowstaff.

CHRIS-CRAFT TO TURN OUT 1940 MODELS AT HOLLAND BRANCH

CHRIS-CRAFT started production today on 1940 motor boats in the newly completed Holland branch factory, it was revealed today by Harry Coll, local manager. The initial production schedule is for two hundred 15½-foot runabouts, the first to roll off the line about January 7, and two additional models to be completed every day thereafter

American Flyer Ho-Gauge Miniature Trains

Tru-Models—Die Cast to Scale—Remote Control

These new spectacular miniature trains are tops in design—being built to scale from actual railroad blueprints. Locomotive, tender and cars are made of die castings and are equipped with brake rigging and automatic couplings. The N.Y.C. Hudson type (4-6-4) Locomotive has 6 drive wheels and is equipped with a remote control reverse motor. The motor has a 20 to 1 gear reduction which partly accounts for its amazing pulling power. Has a speed range from a slow crawl to a speed of 120 scale m.p.h. An outstanding feature is the new 2-rail track. Rails are solid drawn steel, each track section is mounted on a road-bed base. 16 curves form a 24-inch radius circle. This permits an entire train system to be installed in a small space—an important consideration for many railroaders.

FOR
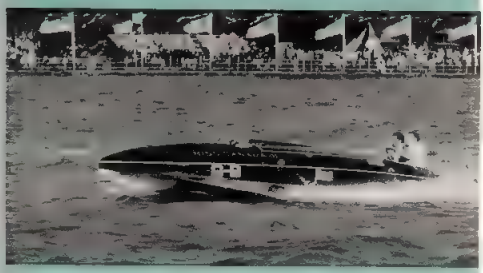
BOATS

the metal that helps make champions

With her propeller turning over at 6900 rpm., the Monel-shafted champion hydroplane "My Sin" tears down the Detroit River to win the 1939 Gold Cup Trophy.



The Monel shafted "Miss Canada III" thunders over the Potomac to win the 1939 President's Cup. Less than a boat's length behind her, the Monel-shafted "Notre Dame" (winner of both Gold Cup and President's Cup in 1937) took second place in one of the closest finishes ever seen.

Another champion—the "Wee-Gen", brought in the record catch for blue marlin north of Cape May. Shafts and propellers, matched units of Monel, drive her along in her search for swordfish, marlin, and tuna. All metal used in her pulpit, lookout mast, rigging, and flying bridge, including her duplicate control connections, is Monel. Rub strips of Monel protect her hull and Monel tanks protect her water and fuel supply. In her stern is a Monel fish tank and a glistening Monel galley below completes her equipment of the seagoin' metal.

MONEL SHAFTS DRIVE THE WINNERS

If you watched the bump, bump of the Gold Cup winner "My Sin" running in even a slight chop you'd marvel at the way her hull can take such punishment.

Hidden by the water, but as vital as her hull, is the Monel shaft that must withstand the tremendous twisting power of being driven at 6,900 R.P.M. withstand the strain of turns at high speed.

"My shaft of Monel took one terrific beating when everything else let go after hitting something in Washington. It was slightly bent, but was the only thing left underneath the bottom of my boat"; so wired Z. G. Simmons, Jr., owner and driver of "My Sin," when through this mishap he lost the President's Cup Race to another Monel-shafted boat, "Miss Canada III"

Whether you get your boating thrill from a racing hydroplane or just jogging out beyond the lobster pots for a day's fishing—whether you use your boat for pleasure or, like the West Coast tuna fishers, for business, the features that make Monel the choice of champions make it best for your boat.

REDUCE WHIP AND BEARING WEAR

Precision-straight Monel shafts cut down whip and bearing wear. Twice as stiff as bronze, strong as structural steel, Monel shafts deliver more horsepower to the propeller, deliver it smoothly, without vibration, and keep delivering it for a lifetime.

Two-thirds nickel and one-third copper, Monel cannot rust, and it does not lose strength in salt water. In tests conducted by the American Society for Testing Metals, Monel showed no loss in either strength or ductility when exposed for six years to severe marine atmosphere.

From the 6,400 H.P. Harmsworth Trophy holder "Miss America X," to "Miss Canada III" and "My Sin," there's a line of Monel-shafted champions too long to list here. But typical of all is the comment of Melvin Crook, owner and driver of the famous "Betty V": "It is always a source of considerable comfort to us in the cockpit to know that a Monel shaft is handling that terrific underwater job."

TORSIONAL STRENGTH OF MONEL SHAFTS

Breaking Strength	63,000–85,000 psi
Johnson's Elastic Limit	50,000–67,000 psi
Proportional Limit	45,000 58,000 psi
Modulus of Elasticity in Tension	26,000,000 psi
Modulus of Elasticity in Torsion	9,500,000 psi

Where n = R.P.M. and s = maximum allowable fibre stress, the proper diameter of Monel shafts may be calculated from the following formula

$$d \text{ (in inches)} = \sqrt[3]{\frac{321{,}000 \times H.P}{n \times s}}$$

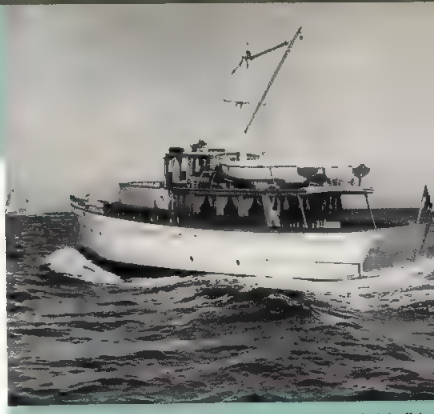
Some notion of the behavior of Monel shafting in salt water is shown by the McAdam test in brackish water where the corrosion fatigue limit of Monel was found to be 30,000 psi. This may be compared with a limit of 8,000 psi for carbon steel under the same condition

THE WINNING TEAM

Matching the stamina of Monel shafts, Monel propellers make the other half of a team that can't be beaten. Machined from Monel castings having greater strength than bronze, Monel propellers cut through driftwood that would wreck the average wheel. The strength and stiffness of Monel reduces distortion at high speed, increasing propeller efficiency and cutting vibration to a minimum.

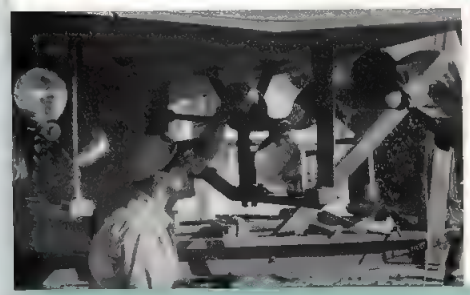
Made by the Columbian Bronze Corporation, Freeport, Long Island, N. Y., Monel propellers are precision machined — precisely balanced, each blade has exactly the same weight and contour, pitch is accurate to close tolerances, and bore is on the true axis of rotation

Join the Monel-propelled fleet for better boating and fewer haul outs You can get Columbian Monel wheels from stock three-bladed from 8" to 50" in diameter, and two-bladed from 8" to 40."



Rugged-ly built to take any kind of weather the 55 foot Vesta built by Hubert Johnson of Bay Head, N. J., drives her wheels through Monel shafts Capable of long offshore trips, fresh water on the Vesta is assured by her Monel tanks and her cook's job is made easier and pleasanter by Monel surfaces and sheathing in her galley. Monel shafts are standard on Johnson boats

Speed quietness, safety, and comfort are Huckins' watchwords in turning out the line of smart stock boats. In the Fairform Flyer, as in all Huckins' boats Monel shafts make a material contribution to speed with safety and absence of vibration



Underbody of the "Wee-Gee" showing her Monel shafts and propellers—matched units that give a matchless performance Her heavy skegs give unusual protection and allow the "Wee Gee" to run close in to sand bars without fear of damage

High-speed SeaWulf" runabout. Writes Mr H. W. Wulf builder, of Red Bank N. J., "As the result of tests we have decided to use nothing but Monel shafts our SeaWulfs' in the future it is far superior to other material for the high speed boats which we build. We have been so pleased with the performance Monel shafts that we will use Monel for other items on our 'Seawulfs' "

• Check these seventeen points on your boat — if you have used Monel for them you know they won't be on your Spring overhaul list for repair or replacement. Reasons? Monel is as close to everlasting as any other metal suitable for marine use. Because of its composition (2/3 nickel, 1/3 copper) it can't rust. Twice as stiff as bronze and 50% stronger, it is highly resistant to corrosion and vibration fatigue, and even long exposure to salt sea and air fails to weaken it. There are Monel shafts, for instance, still in use after more than twenty-five years of continuous service.

Monel radio antennas may be of stranded wire or of the increasingly popular tubular telescoping type. Slightly more than eight feet long when telescoped, the latter may be extended to a total length of thirty-three feet. The toughness and stiffness of Monel remove any danger of breaking or permanent bending when the antenna is extended and the boat is rolling or pitching in a seaway. Both types of antennas are, of course, absolutely rustproof and both have excellent transmission and reception qualities.

How will the galley look after a season's use and the winter lay up? If Monel is used, the sink and drainboard will stay silvery and lustrous season after season; the ice-box will stay sweet and clean; stove, pipe, and smoke head won't rust out—you'll have a place that's permanently attractive, easy to keep clean and shipshape.

Even slight corrosion around the screw of a hanger bolt will cause degeneration in the wood and consequent weakening in the fastening. Because corrosion is absent, stern bearings and stuffing boxes installed with Monel hanger bolts may be removed year after year for servicing without any weakening in the anchorage. Even long periods in the water will not cause Monel nuts to "freeze" on the bolt and make removal difficult.

Welded Monel mufflers, such as those used by the U. S. Coast Guard on their picket boats, will last the life of the vessel. Against the combination of heat, vibration, impact, and corrosive conditions that cause rapid weakening in most metals, Monel stands four square—eliminating rusted-out muffler casings and cracked or blown-out baffles.

Out in the cockpit, fish and live bait tanks of Monel complement the Monel fuel and water tanks hidden below. Whether used for fish, bait, or as a convenient place to keep the beer cool, you'll get a visible demonstration of the way Monel tanks stay tight, rust-free, and uncorroded season after season.

When you run in a heavy following sea with the wheel hard over—when your steering gear is getting its greatest strain—it's good to know that back under your stern you have the unfailing strength and toughness of Monel in rudder, rudder post, and tiller rope. Welded Monel rudders, deceptively light, are far stronger than the usual cast ones. Monel rudder posts won't shear at a critical moment and Monel tiller rope will serve season after season without fraying or weakening.

"Choice of Champions" makes the best shaft for any boat. Precision straight shafts of tough, rustproof Monel deliver more horsepower to the wheel with less vibration, less wear on bearings. They'll stay straight even though you have the bad luck to hit driftwood or sand bars—highly resistant to corrosion and vibration fatigue, they'll last the life of the boat.
At the forward end of the shaft, motors fastened down with Monel bed bolts never cause trouble when it's necessary to remove the motor—they may be tightened up without danger of breaking and nuts won't "freeze" on them.

You may not have a seven ton casting on your keel, but you do want assurance that the backbone of your boat will hold together. Toughness, high strength, and resistance to corrosion and vibration fatigue make Monel bolts points of permanent strength. And they may be loosened or taken up without danger of fracture.

Line-clogging scale, gum, or sludge do not form in tanks of rustless M
With twice the stiffness of copper, and greater toughness and strength

This motor sailer is modified from plans furnished by Henry B. Nevins Inc. George Crouch, N.A.

50% stronger than bronze, with a yield point three times duralumin, Monel tangs and tubular spreaders add strength and save weight up aloft. Tangs may be made of lighter gauge strip without any fear of failure, for the strength and toughness of Monel are unaffected by exposure to even the most severe marine atmosphere.

No more worry whether your rigging will hold when your boat is close-hauled and being driven hard, and no more frayed or broken wires when rope runs through sheaves. Wire rope of the new alloy, "Z" Nickel, has the strength of improved plow steel plus virtual immunity to salt water corrosion. Running and standing rigging of "Z" Nickel will last for the life of the boat.

For signal or lookout masts, and for life lines, running and standing rigging where the great strength of "Z" Nickel is not required, Monel wire rope, stronger than bronze or galvanized iron, will give permanent, rustless service—once installed it may be forgotten as a replacement item.

Important links between mast and hull are Monel chain plates and turnbuckles. Monel turnbuckles are 50% stronger than bronze and their strength is unimpaired by exposure to salt air or water. They won't "freeze"—there's no danger of breaking turnbuckles when taking up on them, even though they have been standing in one position for a long time. High strength, rustless Monel chain plates, anchored into the hull with Monel bolts, are logical complements of the Monel tangs up aloft.

Up on the forward deck a Monel "Seacurity" anchor divorces back-strain from the business of handling heavy ground tackle. No need for winches or davits for having the anchor or bringing it back on board. Holding by FORCE, not weight, a 25-pound Monel "Seacurity" will do the job of a 90-pound anchor of conventional type. Like other Monel equipment, it's absolutely rustproof—it won't stain the deck or be weakened by exposure to salt air or water.

Coast Guard boats don't pick their weather—they're built to pound into seas that keep the wise yachtsmen safe in snug harbors. Important in their construction are the fastenings—all of strong, tough rustproof Monel.

Caught out in heavy weather it's reassuring to know that your boat is fastened like those of the Coast Guard—that no matter how she plunges and pounds, her stem, fastened with Monel bolts, will hold together like a solid piece of oak.

Once installed the Monel wash basin becomes a permanent part of the boat. With little attention its silvery surface will stay lustrous and attractive year after year—use makes its appearance mellower rather than shabby. Deep-drawn Monel basins are produced in a number of standard sizes. You'll find one suitable for your boat, and as a stock item, very reasonably priced.

Cruise where you will you need have no fear of water going bad if your tanks are made of Monel. Even after weeks in Monel, water will come from the tap as clear and free from metallic taste as the day it was put in, and the strength and corrosion resistance of Monel mean that once tanks are installed repair or replacement may be forgotten.

with the galley he or she works in by installing Monel. When other materials have become cracked, rusty, or stained with corrosion, the lustrous surface of Monel will still retain the soft sheen of old silver. Season after season the Monel galley stays an attractive and pleasant place to work in. Rustproof, highly resistant to staining, scratching, and denting, Monel needs only a little brightening up in the Spring overhaul to make it as good-looking as the day it was installed.

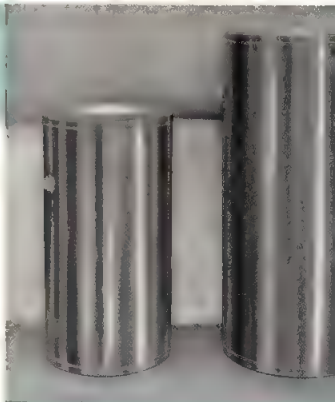
The Monel sinks shown above are available in a variety of sizes, and being stock items are very reasonably priced. Ask your local boat yard or sheet metal worker about installing Monel work surfaces and stove backing — you'll be surprised how little it costs to have a trim and shipshape galley.

trouble-proof TANKS for carefree cruising

When Brenton's Reef Lightship is swallowed up astern, six hundred miles of salty ocean lie between you and Saint David's Head, Bermuda. That means four or five days before you can pick up fresh water again, and if the water in your tank goes bad you're in for an unpleasant time. That's why Bermuda racers like the "Kirawan" and offshore fisherman like the "Vesta" entrust their precious supply of water to Monel tanks. They know that water stored in Monel will come from the tap as fresh, clear, and uncontaminated as the day it was put in.

Motors have a way of being as fussy as humans about what they drink. They don't behave well when rust, sludge, or scale get mixed in with their fuel, and they refuse to run when lines get clogged. Where Monel tanks are used, these complaints are reduced to a minimum. Monel can't rust, and sludge, scale, or gum do not form on its surface.

If you're getting a new boat, or replacing a leaky tank, insure yourself against future troubles by seeing to it that Monel is used. You'll be surprised how little more it costs. In the case of a gasoline tank, for instance, the cost of a single refuelling will pay the difference between an ordinary tank and an everlasting, troubleproof tank of Monel. And if you find your water gone bad with no fresh supply nearby, the little more that you pay for Monel will seem slight compared to your discomfort



Cylindrical tanks in sizes from 8 to 96 gallons may be obtain from stock through any of the sources listed on the last pag Any sheet metal worker familiar with tank construction m makes sound, strong tanks of Monel without difficulty

lightweight "SEACURITY"

The Monel "Seacurity" anchor banishes forever the idea that weight is an inevitable part of safe and efficient ground tackle. A conventional service anchor for a forty-five foot boat, for instance, should weigh a back-breaking ninety pounds — a "Seacurity" for the same boat would weigh only twenty pounds and have equal or better holding power. In the famous hurricane of 1938 a fifteen-pound "Seacurity" held after a forty-five pound iron anchor on the same boat had broken out with its arms and flukes folded back like a rabbit's ears.

"Seacurity" does its job by design without depending on weight. Its broad, sharp-billed flukes of high-strength Monel are set at a scientifically determined angle. When a "Seacurity" hits bottom it begins to take hold immediately and with increased pull on the line the broad fluke becomes completely buried, creating a holding power many times greater than a conventional anchor of the same size.

Strained backs and muscles end with "Seacurity" and because of its light weight it won't scrape paint from or dent your topsides it's easy to heave, easy to break out, and folds in four quick motions for easy stowage. Made entirely of Monel by the Youngstown Engineering & Welding Co., of Youngstown, Ohio, "Seacurity" cannot rust and needs no special care exposure to salt sea or air can't harm it.

How light a Monel anchor for your boat will be is shown by a glance at the adjoining table.

seagoin' fastenings and accessories

You can get another kind of "sea-curity" by insisting on fastenings of seagoin' Monel. Monel nails, screws, bolts and rivets will outlast the hull itself. Rustless, they are unaffected by wood tannates and preservatives and have no tendency to rot the wood. By keeping the hull tight, Monel fastenings will prolong the life of the boat — for when seams open up, rot starts in.

The strongest and toughest non-corrosive fastenings available, those of Monel will increase both your sense of security and your actual security, by making your boat structurally much stronger. And if there comes a time when you want to sell or trade in, the fact that you have a Monel-fastened boat will substantially increase its value.

A complete line of Monel fastenings — nails, bolts, screws, rivets, washers, cotter pins—is readily available from any of the companies listed on the next page.

their lightness, are stronger and tougher than the bron

for rustless rigging

Unweakened by exposure to the most severe conditions of salt air or atmosphere, rigging of Monel or the new high strength alloy, "Z" Nickel, eliminates service trouble and the necessity of periodic replacement.

With a strength which is roughly twice that of either bronze or galvanized iron, Monel makes an ideal material for standing and running rigging, tiller rope, and for such uses as on Coast Guard boats — where heavy canvas spray hoods are laced on with Monel. Absolutely rust-proof and highly resistant to corrosion fatigue, Monel is not subject to the fraying frequently found when wire rope is run through sheaves and around winches.

"Z" Nickel, an alloy containing 98% nickel, finds its best application where unusually high strength is desirable. It is absolutely rustproof, while its greater strength safely allows cutting down rigging weight — important in sailing yachts, where every pound added aloft materially reduces the righting moment of the vessel.

Use of either Monel or "Z" Nickel banishes speculation about whether your rigging will hold for another season, or whether some hidden weakness may not suddenly show itself when you're rolled over on your beam ends in a hard blow.

With the Monel Flege fitting shown above, any boatsman can be his own rigger. As shown in the lower part of the photograph, the wire rope is passed through the smaller part of the fitting and its strands are broomed out. Next move is to take the small brass plug (shown just below the broomed wire) and place it in the center of the broomed strands. Third and last operation is to screw the smaller part of the fitting securely into the larger. Properly done, the brass plug is wedged into the strands and the ends of the strands will be visible through the inspection hole drilled in the larger part of the fitting. Result is a connection guaranteed to have 100% of the strength of the wire rope. Total time — five minutes.

The stud end fitting shown is part of a turnbuckle, but these fittings are also available either with a jaw or an eye end. Since the brass plugs are inexpensive and renewable, the fitting may be used over and over again. Made of Monel, the Flege fitting will last indefinitely and like other Monel fittings there is no danger of breakage through overtightening nor will the fitting or turnbuckle "freeze" in position, making it difficult to take up or slack off watch for this item—

Countless numbers of perfectly good plugs have been ruined when the wrench slipped off the one being taken out and cracked the porcelain of its next door neighbor. 1940 will end that hazard by giving you plugs with Monel bodies. Monel won't "freeze" into the cylinder head — so there's no struggle, no slipping wrenches, no bruised hands, no cracked porcelains when you remove a plug for adjustment or cleaning. And because Monel won't rust, the danger of rust particles going through plug holes to scratch and score cylinder walls and pistons, is minimized.

No. S-57 Williams' Torque Measurrenches

For Use with Standard Supersockets ½-Inch Square Drive

A reversible ratchet Patented Measurrench with right hand torque indicating signal. Closely limited torque application is essential in automotive, aviation and Diesel motors, also for many industrial appliances. Can be used wherever limited and equal tension is required on nuts, bolts, studs, etc.

The wrench may be used in two ways: By sight reading, the calibrated scale shows applied pressures of 20 to 200 foot-pounds. It is read at point where index shoulder crosses the scale; by sound reading, a sharp sound signal is given for any desired torque from 35 to 200 foot-pounds, by setting the simple sound device

Wrench operates readily when it swings only 12°, just 1/30 of a full turn

Well balanced drop forged handle with specially designed grip. Handle is 19½ inches long for ample leverage.

Made of alloy and high tensile steel, accurately machined and scientifically heat-treated. Finished in chrome plate with entire top and sides of head and calibrated bar buffed Handle is satin chrome.

Packed in individual cardboard box Weight, 3¾ pounds.

LOVELACE PATTERN

Like the presentation of a social leader, the rare distinction that sets her apart from all other debutantes—tells you at once that you are in the presence of a future social leader. And so with LOVELACE—it is destined to be the greatest pattern of the generation. One glance tells you that it is lovelier than any other plate. For only the skill of 1847 Rogers Bros. craftsmen made it possible. Orange blossoms, with the daintiness of wedding ring design—delicate open-work as lacy as a bridal veil. It will start a new trend in silver styles.

Beauty in silver—classic in design—at home—where improved social standing is attained by setting the style in lovely table appointments.

Chapel Bells

STERLING SOLID SILVER

Introduces not only a strikingly new design of classical origin, but a pleasing departure from the conventional proportions of older patterns. Women say, "It's the kind of pattern that goes well with all china." Just enough length has been added to the knife handle to make it comfortable in use. Notice the slenderness of all handles, adding grace—yet weight, which makes silver durable, has not been sacrificed. Note, too, the added length of the salad fork handle—a practical length for all salads. A lovely pattern that offers the advantage of style. Soft butler finish.

Chased Romantique

SOLID STERLING SILVER

A NEW pattern richly endowed with the beautifully chased scroll and flower effects of the romantic Louis XV Period, that again becomes the mode of the day.

Its slender, flute-like panels lend a touch of feminine dignity, the deep-cut chased effects being emblematic of the pomp and splendor of the period from which it was inspired.

The excellence of design is accentuated by its beautiful, bright butler finish.

OUR ONE DESIGNS

IT seems rather strange that none of the yachtsmen from western New England and New York, cruising the Maine coast and undoubtedly threading the picturesque Fox Island Thoroughfare, did not seize and carry home with them Dr. Weld's unique and obviously practical plan of determining relative sailing ability through a standard type of yacht, but it was not until eight years later that the idea germinated almost simultaneously in Long Island Sound and at Marblehead. In the former racing arena it was the progressive Maxwells—J. Rogers, the father, and Henry L., the son—who between them hold the American record for owning the greatest number of yachts, and laid the bedplates for one design classes by building a couple of cat boats of the same design and rig in the summer of 1892. About the same time Henry Taggard of the Eastern and Herman Parker of the Corinthian Yacht Clubs of Marblehead, commissioned George A. Stewart who had taken the place of Edward Burgess, as the leading yacht designer in Boston, to draw plans for a class of short-ended bowspritless keel sloops, a type which soon came to be known as knockabout. The first boats were the Jane and Nancy and the next year half a dozen more were added.

Two years after the advent of the Maxwell cats came the first sizable one design class, when N. G. Herreshoff in his initial effort designed and built a quintette of 21-footers for five members of the New York Yacht Club for racing in Long Island Sound. The fleet was made up of William P. Douglas' Adelaide, Charles A. Gould's Celia; Harry Payne Whitney's Dorothy; W. Butler Duncan Jr.'s Houri and Herman B. Duryea's Vaquero.

The class made a great hit and in 1896 under the leadership of Mr. Whitney and Mr. Duryea, the Bristol wizard built twelve 30-footers for Newport yachtsmen, which furnished almost daily racing during the season in lower Narragansett Bay for some ten years, usually under the colors of the Narragansett Bay Yacht Racing Association. It was this organization that furnished Thomas Lawson's illfated Independence her only opportunity of meeting her cup defense rivals Columbia and Constitution, after the New York Yacht Club, following a bitter controversy with the Boston yachtsmen, had refused to consider the Crowninshield creation as a candidate to meet Shamrock II

THE Newport 30s were 52 feet overall; 29 feet 6 inches waterline; 8 feet 3 inches beam; and 7 feet draft, with about 1,000 square feet of sail on a double headrig. The twelve with their owners were Ashai, Bayard Thayer; Carolina, Pembroke Jones; Dorothy II, H. P. Whitney; Esperanza, A. S. Van Winkle; Hera, Ralph N. Ellis; Mai, O. G. Jennings; Musme, J. M. McDonough; Puck, E. D. Morgan; Raccoon, T. R. Hotstetter; Vaquero II, H. B. Duryea; Veda, Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr.; and Wawa, James A Stillman. The last one, Esperanza, disappeared from the yacht register in 1922.

The Newport 30s gave the one design idea a big boost, and fleets began to blossom forth up and down the coast, among them being a bunch of 15-foot centerboard knockabouts which Mr. Herreshoff built for Buzzards Bay consumption, a score of which are still racing in the Bay, and probably, next to the North Haven dinghies, the oldest surviving one design class in the country. Other designers tried their hand at the game and even went up into the larger classes. A Cary Smith evolved two schooners, Elmina and Muriel; William Gardner produced a couple of 69-foot sloops, Neola and Weetamoe, while Mr. Herreshoff built two pairs, Altair and Shark in Class K, and Effort and Countess in Class M. None of these were strictly one design classes, but the pairs rated very nearly the same.

In 1900 came the largest one design class boat ever projected in the country, four 70-foot sloops built by Mr. Herreshoff for four members of the New York Yacht Club, and known for several years as the New York 70s. They were 106 feet overall; 70 feet waterline; 19 feet 6 inches beam and 14 feet draft, with 7,200 square feet of sail. The great designer in laying down this big quartette, must have nodded, for they proved too frail even for waters off Newport. The four were August Belmont's Mineola; Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr.'s Rainbow; William K. Vanderbilt's Virginia; and Herman B. Duryear's Yankee. They raced only a few years, the last one, Virginia, dropping out of the Register in 1915.

The Fairform Flyer Sportsmen 42 which features both a large cabin below and a roomy cockpit for fishing and recreation

FAIRFORM FLYERS

IN MANY MODELS

WITH six Quadraconic Hulls, maturely developed through many years and over two million miles of fleet operation from Maine to Australia, as basic chassis, the Huckins Yacht Corporation of Jacksonville offers a wide variety of twin screw models, to suit any pocketbook or purpose.

Among them are the Sportsman 32, 36 and 42, which combine excellent facilities for fishing and cruising. The 42 is actually 43 feet 4½ inches long with a beam of 12 feet 2 inches, making it a fine large boat. The smaller pair are arranged with a single cabin while the 42 has two cabins with sleeping accommodations for up to six persons. The Sea Horse 32 and 33 are generally similar differing only slightly in size. They are intended primarily as day boats and, therefore, not provided with large cabins arranged for sleeping accommodation. There is a small cabin which houses the lavatory and provides some shelter, but the main portion of the boat is occupied by a rather large cockpit in keeping with its use as a day boat.

Sedan models are produced in a number of sizes. These begin at 32 feet and step upward through 38, 42, 45 and 48 feet lengths. All are featured with a snappy sedan enclosure amidships which serves as a deck saloon and affords permanent shelter to the helmsman as well as the passengers. The difference in size obviously makes possible a more roomy and commodious craft in the larger sizes, and permits accommodations and comforts not possible in the smaller models. The increase in size also allows fuller and more complete accommodations in the cabin space below.

A fast commuter of 32 feet is also on the lists. This is an extremely fast boat and can be driven as high as 50 m.p.h. with a suitable power plant. As its name indicates, it is of the commuter type intended more particularly for fast ferry service rather than for more extensive cruising.

Largest of the Fairform fleet are the Offshore 48, 56 and 60-foot yachts. These are large handsome seagoing craft of exceptional ability. Any reasonable combination of power plant can be supplied ranging from a single to quadruple engines and propellers. Speeds as high as 45 knots are promised.

The 48 Sedan is available with diesels for speeds to 26 m.p.h. and with Scripps V-12-300 series engines for a top speed of 35.2 m.p.h. and sustained ocean cruising at 27.4 m.p.h.

The first of the new Offshore 60's is scheduled for launching late in February. She is equipped with a pair of Gray-General Motors 6 diesels and will have a cruising radius of 1,800 nautical miles. Her Pacific Coast owner plans a cruise to Alaska and to the tip of the Aleutian Islands. If the international situation permits, he may likely continue to Kamchatka and Siberia. Her designer, Frank Pembroke Huckins, faced no small problem in retaining her planing qualities while carrying some 12,000 pounds of fuel oil, not to mention the weight of electrical refrigeration, and a heating system with hot water radiators in every cabin.

This same 60 model has optional arrangements for twin, triple and quadruple screw diesel or gasoline engines, for speed to 45 knots.

Although the impression persists that the Fairform Flyer is high priced, such is not the case. The new Sportsman 42, illustrated, is typical. Her selling price is no higher than a number of single screw boats on the market of comparable size, yet she is powered with a pair of gear reduction eight cylinder Kermath engines.

She has an excellent stateroom forward, followed by a hallway, big wardrobe and toilet room with the Fairform electric toilet. Then comes a roomy main cabin, followed by a well equipped galley. Berthing for eight is available. The cockpit is sixteen feet long, with clear floor space almost big enough to pull a whale aboard.

gether for a few moments; then sprinkle the board evenly with flour and lay the dough on it. Flour your rolling-pin or bottle and roll the lump into an oblong, about a foot long and eight inches across. Use light strokes, keep the bottle floured and there'll be little difficulty. Leave the crust on the board.

And return to the meat department. Dump the meat into the same mixing bowl you've used for the crust; no matter if there's a bit of flour or dough lingering therein; a little won't hurt anything. Crumble the bacon into tiny bits. Add the gravy, stirring well with a mixing spoon. Then beat the egg-and-a-half, and when beaten frothy, put three-fourths of it into this mix. Leave out a bit which will be used later. Stir in the egg and the mix is complete

And then spoon out this mix in a roll or brick-shaped package along the center-line of the crust. Pat it firmly together, evenly all over, and then fold over the crust. You may have to pass the dull knife under the crust to free it from the board somewhat, but if you floured the board well in the beginning you'll have little trouble. Be careful not to break the crust, however, Wrap this crust over the meat mix, ends and all, and pinch the crust well and tightly together. This crust is a trifle on the short side, what with the egg-yolk and all, so you'll have to handle it gently. And don't try to lift the whole roll from the board when finished.

Instead, when it's all pinched together and shipshape, invert the buttered dish over it, pass the dull knife carefully under the roll to free it, and then tip over the works and there's the roll in the baking-pan, seam side down, safe and sound. Then take the remaining beaten egg and spread it over the roll and shoot the thing into the oven.

FOR a baking heat, remember that the meat is already cooked. The crust is the thing to cook, and pie-crust, unlike biscuit, will taste best if you use only moderate heat and let it bake from half to three-quarters of an hour. Leave the dish on the bottom of the oven for only a few minutes, and then put it on the upper shelf or turn a tin dish upside-down under it for the remaining time. Don't have heat enough to give it a quick brown; let this cook gradually, and besides getting better crust, you'll also allow time for the seasoning to get in its work inside the loaf.

When it's browned and you're ready to remove it from the tin, use two plates. Invert the tin over the first one and drop out the loaf; then lay the other plate over it, invert the combination and there's the loaf, ready to carve, right side up and golden-brown with the egg-glaze. Not bad-looking at all, boys, and as for eating—

Slice it off with a sharp knife. You'll find that the canned-beef taste has strangely vanished, and you'll have difficulty in believing that the despised corned willy could be so actually toothsome. It's quite rich, too, and very satisfying; in fact, so much so that something light along with it will be appreciated; something on the order of green peas, asparagus, or similar canned items which are always available and moreover, good to eat. A good sauce or gravy, too, will help this dish; some canned asparagus or celery or mushroom soup, thickened by the addition of a lump of butter well-rolled in flour and simmered while the roll is baking, makes a good emergency sauce and isn't bad to eat either!

To live well aboard ship, you don't need an elaborate galley all tricked out like a delicatessen or a grocery store; if you'll just remember to keep on hand some flour, bacon, butter, shortening, eggs, a small assortment of seasonings and a rudimentary supply of canned goods, you'll be able to work out many a savory combination from the most matter-of-fact materials. Your cooking equipment and stove can likewise be of the simplest, but be sure you have some kind of an oven, even a small one, and learn its tricks and how to use it.

That's one of the best guarantees for real nice eatin'!

FOR precisely 100 years, this salty division of Bendix has been providing steering and signaling security for American seafarers Precisely 4 years ago Bendix yacht controls were announced in these pages, in these words:

"... Safe to say, these developments will have a very definite influence on any future plans laid down ... for modern yachts of seagoing pretensions."

You cannot have helped noticing how plan after plan, published in boating magazines since then, has carried the simple statement: "Controls are by Bendix." It's come to be almost a sure-fire identifying mark of a truly modern yacht.

Your architect, engineer or yacht yard has the data on Bendix Controls—knows all about them. They aren't sold off the shelf, of course. But layout and installation practice for Bendix Controls has become pretty well standardized. Just ask your favorite source of service and advice.

If any dog or person molests them they take a couple of shots at them with the pistol loaded with ammonia. The stinging sensation usually causes the assailant to show his heels in fast retreat. A gun like this surely can be termed a real bargain for only 20c.

OPERATION OF OUTBOARD BOATS

HOW TO GET THE MAXIMUM of speed, power and efficient operation from any given combination of outboard motor and hull is the subject of a very interesting and helpful booklet which the Michigan Wheel Corporation has recently issued and is now offering free of charge to all owners of this type of craft.

According to the authors, all data which it contains is the result of exhaustive tests made with several types of motors on a wide variety of hulls and is, therefore, of a very practical nature.

The first paragraph of this booklet frankly asks the reader to decide just what he desires. the extreme speed possible exclusive of other features or, on the other hand, slightly less speed with good acceleration, load carrying with minimum loss of speed and handling qualities that make for an entirely different sort of outfit. It then goes on to give the methods by which his particular desires may be achieved.

Although, as the name indicates, the Michigan Wheel Corporation is primarily interested in propellers, the material of this booklet is by no means limited to the choice of propellers. In addition it covers in a thoroughly practical manner the importance of carburetor adjustment to maximum efficiency and proper lubrication, the influence of weight distribution, the effect of transom heights on speed and acceleration, the problem of relieving back pressure, and other important items which are vital in securing the most satisfactory operation of your boat.

Copies of this valuable booklet, officials of the Michigan Wheel Corporation state, can be secured by anyone interested by simply requesting them from either the home office in Grand Rapids or any of the many Michigan Wheel representatives located throughout the U. S. A. Two new propeller catalogs containing much helpful data—one on inboard and one on outboard propellers—also may be had on request.

NEW RADIOTELEPHONE MODELS

HARVEY RADIO Laboratories, Inc., now in their third successful year as manufacturers of marine radio telephone equipment, are featuring an expanded line for the 1940 season. Current models have been mechanically and electrically improved and favorable price revisions made possible due to the increased demand during the past year. In addition to the present popular models, three new units are being introduced with refinements in appearance and operation which should interest every boat owner.

For those wanting the best in a low powered model, a new 10-watt unit has been produced which includes a three band receiver with preselection, push-to-talk operation and provision for direction finder attachment.

In the medium power range, a new 25-watt set will make its appearance featuring compact construction, high efficiency, six-frequency crystal control, single vibrator supply and low battery drain.

Perhaps the most unusual item in the entire line is a new midget transmitter—receiver operated completely from dry batteries.

CHRISSIE III AT THE SHOW

CHRISSIE III, the 225 cubic inch hydroplane in which George Schrafft won the 1939 National Championship honors for this type of craft, will be on display in the Gulf Oil Corporation's exhibit at the Motor Boat Show.

Schrafft has been the leading point scorer in the 225-inch hydroplane class for the last two years and his Chrissie III has been clocked at near record breaking speed. He won the Virginia Gold Cup at Hampton Regatta, and won outstanding class victories at the President's Cup Regatta in Washington and several other leading regattas.

Gulf's display at the Motor Boat Show will occupy a new and enlarged space this year in order to accommodate Chrissie III and other exhibits. Marine racing will be the theme of the display and attention will be called to thrilling races and records won on the water in 1939 by drivers who used Gulf products in their boats. Announcement of elections to Gulf's annual Marine Racing Hall of Fame also will be made, and leading race drivers are expected to be present at the Gulf booth.

A colorful brochure covering marine racing activities during the year has been prepared and will be distributed. In addition to the racing exhibits Gulf again will have striking displays illustrating the performance qualities of its products. The menace of gum in gasoline will be demonstrated in another exhibit.

Marine representatives will be on hand to give advice on lubrication and fuel problems to all who are interested in motor boating.

WATERPROOF FILLERS

SEAMS ON BOATS are proverbially hard to keep tight and in recognition of this problem, Stay-Tite Products of Cleveland have developed a variety of sealing compounds which have done much to keep boats properly afloat. These compounds are made in different forms to adapt them most readily to the intended service. A Caulking Compound is designed to permanently seal joints, seams, cracks, etc., and can be applied directly as prepared. A Wood-Crack filler is supplied in the form of a powder which is mixed with water. It sets rapidly and will not shrink. It is useful for filling nail holes, damaged spots, and dents in woodwork. Their Cement is an adhesive which will prove useful in laying canvas on decks, linoleum on floors and similar applications. A deck Seam Filler compound will make a permanent and elastic closure on seams in decks, it is available in white, mahogany, or black. This firm also prepares a liquid glue which was developed for marine use, but which is also useful about the home for all sorts of repair jobs where a firm, permanent setting glue is indicated

BEACH AND WATER SPORT ACCESSORIES

WINNER MANUFACTURING COMPANY of Trenton, N. J., have prepared an unusually complete line of products for beach and water sport use, many of them utilizing balsa wood in the construction. Practically all of these Winner marine products are covered with Hydrocyl. This is not a paint, but is applied in sheet form and provides a tough and colorful sheet covering, impervious to water which, with ordinary care, lasts indefinitely.

Balsa swim belts are suitable for both children and adults and are particularly useful in teaching children to swim. There are surf boards, aquaplanes and water skiis in a variety of types and sizes, as well as ring buoys and pick-up buoys for the mooring

Practically all of the items required for properly equipping beaches and swimming pools with accessories for safety and water sport are included in the Winner line. In fact Winner experts are available to give advice in laying out a complete life saving program. In addition to the regular line of Lata Balsa, they offer many life saving items, surf boats, both dories and skiffs, lifeguard suits and parkas, caps and sun helmets, and lanyards and whistles.

A new 12-page folder in color descriptive of the complete 1940 Winner sports line is available on request

STEEL PIERS FOR DOCKS

AN INTERESTING INNOVATION which should go far toward simplifying the problem of dock construction and maintenance appears in the form of standardized steel piers made available by the pier division of Blumberg and Hershfield of Goshen, Ind

These B-H steel piers make possible a dock of any length so constructed that the height of the decking is adjustable at any time. The piers can be raised, lowered or dismantled without any tools by means of an adjustment unit. Dock sills rest on the B H crossbars and the adjustment unit is welded to each end of each cross-bar. Raising or lowering of the dock thus involves only the shifting of adjustment units, which is only a matter of a few minutes' work.

The decking of the dock can be constructed of any wood desired. The material supplied with the pier sections is entirely complete including permanent sockets, a driver for setting sockets, sand-cap for winter use and decorative ball top. The permanent sockets are driven into the sand bottom and remain permanently in place so that the dock can be taken up in the winter time and replaced the following spring in the same position. The driver supplied enables the owner to drive sockets himself without other tools and the sand cap keeps the permanent sockets clean and free from sand or mud during the winter when the steel piers are taken up.

EXIDE BATTERIES

THE ELECTRIC STORAGE BATTERY COMPANY, manufacturers of Exide Batteries, has a comprehensive display of its products designed for marine service.

Not only are batteries shown in their entirety, but a number of single cells from these batteries are cut away to show their construction. These batteries vary in size from the 6-volt unit designed for engine-starting service on the smaller runabouts, to a 115-volt Exide Marine Battery used in larger yachts and commercial boats

In connection with the latter, a display of particular interest is shown. An Exide Marine Floating Battery System is connected with the battery to show the operation of the System as well as the shaft-driven generator method of charging

PIPE TOBACCO

Your Favorite Brand for Smoking Pleasure

For many men there is no better way to lighten burdens and relieve the hum-drum of day to day existence, than to ease into a comfortable chair, select a favorite pipe, and treat themselves to a delicious smoke. At once the confusion and complexity of the day drifts past you, and with startling clarity you seem to penetrate all the mysteries which pervade this world of ours. As the smoke drifts lazily upward, you smile the carefree smile of one who is enjoying every moment.

Such pleasing moments are but commonplace ones in the life of a pipe smoker. When he is first confronted by a problem, he just "lights up" and after a few puffs of his favorite tobacco, the problem seems to yield its solution.

Be clear minded, and youthful. That's real enjoyment!

Relief, too! Relief from vexing moments. Relief from trying experiences. Nothing—absolutely nothing—seems to surpass the honest enjoyment of those happy, carefree moments when, after a busy day, you can relax and enjoy your pipe.

The pipe is the aristocrat of the smoking world. It is recognized as the most supreme in smoking comfort and pleasure.

Be clear minded! Be youthful—carefree—HAPPY! Smoke a pipe.

The Choicest Tobaccos

There is no need to praise these nationally favorite tobaccos—you all know them. They are lavishly acclaimed and nationally advertised from coast to coast. Although some people may prefer one particular brand to another, they are all made of choice domestic and imported tobaccos, carefully cross blended to produce uniform, rich smoking pleasure. Different methods of blending and seasoning produce varying degrees of mildness and taste, thus one may suit your taste more than another. These various flavors, however, in no way reflect upon the quality of the tobacco, all are made of only the center leaf, and are scrupulously examined to eliminate "stale" tobaccos.

To preserve these flavors, the tobacco is packed either in a special Humidor can or vacuum sealed tin. There is no chance for it to grow stale. The tobacco may be kept in these tins all during its use, and this means that the tobacco will not dry out like most packages do. In addition to preserving the fresh flavor, the tin is an economical size to buy. A single tin contains no less than four or five hundred pipefuls of smoking pleasure and comfort. We purchase our tobaccos daily, thus insuring you absolutely fresh tobacco, not old senile "shelf" tobacco which is often found in stores. Please note postage on Tobacco is extra.

AUTOMATIC PISTOLS

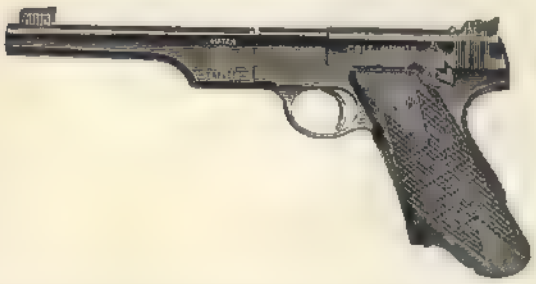
COLT

WOODSMAN SPORT MODEL

The Woodsman Sport Model is exactly the same as the standard Target model, except for length of barrel. This model was produced for use in the woods and on the trail, where compactness is essential. Unusually accurate and a thoroughbred Colt in every way. Either fixed front sight of the ramp type or the same adjustable front sight as furnished on the standard target model Woodsman. Rear sight is adjustable for windage. Uses .22 long rifle, either Regular or Hi-Speed cartridges, including hollow point type. Ten shot magazine.

.22 Caliber—4½ Inch Barrel. Wt. ea., 27 ozs. . . Each $32 50

WOODSMAN MATCH TARGET MODEL



The Colt Match Woodsman has what every target shooter desires—extreme accuracy. It has been designed to provide target shooters with the finest .22 caliber arm that could be built; with extra weight, extra steadiness and extra smooth action. The Match Target Model is seven ounces heavier than the standard Woodsman Target Model; with the weight so expertly distributed that it seems to weigh no more than the lighter model. The action is hand honed to a glassy smoothness, and the new style trigger and improved trigger mechanism provide a short, clean pull without backlash or excess travel. Has fixed front sight and improved Stevens two-way adjustable rear sight. Note the extra long hand-fitting stock, comfortable for the largest hand. Ten shot magazine; uses .22 long rifle, either regular or Hi-Speed cartridges.

.22 Cal.—6½ In. Heavy Barrel. . Wt. ea., 36 ozs. Each $41 50

Wt. ea., 38 ozs. . . . . Each $50 00

ACE SERVICE MODEL

The New Service Model Ace has been designed to provide efficient and economical target practice for military men, and all shooters of the heavy frame Colt Automatic Pistols. It is similar in design to the regular Ace model, plus the recently perfected floating chamber. By the use of the Floating chamber the recoil has been increased four times, simulating the recoil found in the .45 caliber government model automatic pistol. Thus the shooter is trained with an arm that allows him to later change to the heavier caliber pistol, without the additional recoil being noticeable. Because of the much lower cost of .22 caliber ammunition, the Service Ace will pay for itself in a very short time.

Berkeley Square Design

Berkeley Square is a thoroughly modern design. The plain flat edge with the occasional notches surmounted by the little half-round tip combines charmingly with the simple leaf, the two disks and the flat bands of the shank. The strictly modern treatment of graceful outline, simple ornament and plain surfaces make Berkeley Square a design of rare beauty and charm.

NEW PLATING PROCESS FOR LONGER WEAR

60% of the silver in the first OVERALL plating is deposited on the back 40% on the front THIS IS BALANCED PLATE

The second extra plating or OVERLAY is scientifically controlled—in size and thickness—so that the back of bowl and tines will wear as long as the rest of the piece.

30 pieces in all are overlaid—spoons, forks and serving pieces.

This EXTRA precaution is only one of the many extra values in Community Plate.

the new Poplar Weldwood panel produces a panel at least three times stronger in both directions than a Douglas Fir panel of similar thickness. It is more difficult to bend but is easier to saw-kerf when the necessity arises.

For the assistance of amateur boatbuilders, U. S. Plywood Corporation will distribute at the Show a new booklet of plans for Weldwood boats to which some of the outstanding naval architects of the country have contributed.

YACHT INSURANCE

CHARTERED in 1842, the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company, 49 Wall Street, New York City, has for practically a century been safeguarding property in a wide variety of forms. They handle marine, fire, yacht, inland transportation, fine arts, jewelry, fur, registered mail and automobile insurance. Offices are located in Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Newark and Philadelphia, in addition to the New York City office

The company offers full yacht insurance in a form which has much to recommend it, including broker service, non-assessability, profit participation regardless of individual losses, and prompt and ungrudging adjustments. Every Atlantic policy is backed by a long record of satisfactory settlements. A list of surveyors located along the Atlantic Coast and on the Great Lakes is furnished with each policy When loss or damage is sustained notification to any of them will bring an immediate response and thus insure prompt repairs or other needed attention

PAPER TOWELS SAVE TIME

THE hours available for pleasure afloat are few enough without wasting precious time which might readily be saved by means of a few simple inexpensive conveniences. Many yachtsmen have found that one of the most effective ways of cutting down the time required for various cleaning and polishing jobs is by having available a generous supply of handy ScotTowels, a product of the Scott Paper Company, Chester, Pa.

A typical instance of the application of these paper towels in boat work is found in their widespread use for polishing metals such as brass and nickel. Here they serve particularly well because they leave no lint and there are no towels to be scrubbed out afterwards

Paper towels used to wipe out greasy pans and dishes before dishwashing save not only time, but also the cloth-washing job afterward. Aboard many boats the laundry job is completely solved by the use of such towels in place of the conventional linen towels and cleaning rags. They are just the thing for wiping grease from the stove and also cleaning up the sink. When food and other articles are spilled in rough weather, a paper towel solves the problem of cleaning up with a minimum of effort

WHITE OAK FOR PERMANENT FRAMES

GENUINE white oak has been accepted for generations among veteran boat builders as one of the finest of woods for the main frame members of the boat. Years ago many of the country's leading boatbuilders standardized on Hudvalco oak frames, supplied by the Hudson Valley Lumber Co., Inc., Nanuet, N. Y

In addition to the finest oak for keels and other heavy members of the frame construction this company specializes in supplying Hudvalco oak frames cut from the best straight-grain stock to dimensions supplied by the builder all ready to bend. This method of purchasing frames effects great economies over the more conventional plan of ripping frames as needed out of larger stock at the boatbuilder's plant

SEVEN SEAS ELECTRIC CLOCK

THE Nautical Clock Company, of Norfolk, Va., has introduced a high-grade, yet inexpensive, nautical timepiece which should make a strong appeal to yachtsmen. This timepiece is a self-starting, synchronous motored electric clock, known as the Seven Seas, which operates on 100-125-volt A. C. current.

The Seven Seas clock records time in hours, bells, and watches and in the 24-hour system and strikes the hours and half-hours.

The dial of the Seven Seas is silver-plated on copper with the lettering and figures in black and gold, thus making a particularly attractive appearance. It stands 10½ inches high and the case is of hand-rubbed walnut.

SUPER-Harbord

THE ORIGINAL MARINE PLYWOOD

● Whether it's used in a sea-going tug, standing the stress and strain of heavy duty — or a fleet outboard rig that turns on a dime . . . SUPER-Harbord meets the most rigid requirements of strength, safety and endurance for marine construction. The exclusive patented manufacturing process used in making SUPER-Harbord fuses the plies together more solidly than a single board —producing a balanced plywood positively guaranteed against ply separation due to moisture or any weathering condition. It adds definite strength in boat construction—reduces weight and bulk, materially lessens labor costs, is ideal for planking, decking, interior uses, etc., in crafts of all kinds. When used for planking, SUPER-Harbord produces an almost seamless hull, practically leakless and puncture-proof. It is toxic to marine borers and inhibitive to rot fungi.

IT STANDS THE BOILING TEST!

SUPER-Harbord for boat construction comes in fir, redwood and lauan; stock panels up to 5 by 12 ft., thickness from 1/8 to 1-3/16 in., larger and thicker to order. The name "SUPER-Harbord" is branded on the edge of each panel as definite protection against substitution . . . insist on it by name at lumber and supply dealers (warehouse stocks in principal cities)—or write us direct.

Make Your Friends Gasp With Wonder At The

MYSTERIOUS ELECTRIC EYE

Fascinating—Interesting Educational—Amazing

Turns Lights Off
Counts People
Opens Doors Windows
Etc., etc.

BOYS! Here's one of the most fascinating and amazing inventions the world has ever known. The Electric Eye, known scientifically as the Photo-Electric Cell. No doubt you've heard about its wonders. How it opens doors, stops elevators, counts and sets a warning from beams to automobiles. Now it is possible for you to have an Electric Eye of your own. With this marvelous new device you can do things more mysterious than any magician ever dreamed of. Think of doing these marvelous stunts. Imagine folk's surprise some night when you suddenly cut off the electric light by just waving your hand in front of the Electric Eye. He won't know what's happened. You can hook it up so that it will open the garage door. When a person drives in at night the lights will automatically open the door. You can light an electric light by striking a match. Sounds unbelievable, doesn't it? Yet all you have to do is to strike a match held in front of the Electric Eye and the eye turns on the electric light. Your friends won't believe you when you tell them you can turn off the radio by just snapping on a flashlight. But it's true. When the light hits the Electric Eye the music is cut off. There is no end to the many thrilling stunts you can do with an Electric Eye.

The Electric Eye is also used in various counting processes. For example, every time the ray of light passes in a traveling belt in front of the light ray, the beam is interrupted and the piece registered in intricate mechanism. One large concern uses the Electric Eye to count people. Rentals of certain store buildings depend upon the number of people that pass that particular store every day. The Electric Eye now does the work of several men. One enterprising merchant used it to count the number of customers who entered his store. It is used in various tunnels to find out how New York and elsewhere to regulate the current flow that free the tunnel of the exhaust fumes from automobiles that pass through it. As the fumes from the motors become dense, the light ray to the photo electric cell is cut off and the fans automatically start in operation. Its use as a burglar alarm is coming into prominence. There are two ways. First, it can be used with the light ray passing in front of a safe or vault and as soon as the light ray is intercepted a bell rings or alarm. It can also be used in such a manner that if the burglar were to hold a match or a flashlight it would automatically turn on an alarm. In the same manner the Eye can be used for fire alarms.

Many experimenters install the Electric Eye in their homes for various purposes. It is so delicate so that it can be so installed that the sun won't register on the Eye and turn on an electric bell.

The Gilbert Electric Eye consists of a Selenium Light-Sensitive Cell, which is a perfected type of Photoelectric Cell and is exactly the same as those which operate on automatic doors. In addition it is wired to a sensitive relay, which in turn, is connected to a Power Relay. One unit operates on 3 volts and the other operates on 110 volts. This is a fool-proof mechanism, is all mounted on a regular operating panel which means extremely simple to understand. In addition the set includes a battery holder and switch, light socket, bulb and cord. A complete guide and manual of instructions accompanies each outfit written in plain simple language so that any boy of average intelligence will have no difficulty in understanding it. Operates on standard batteries obtainable almost anywhere.

Magic Coin Box

Makes Things Vanish

This is a very clever piece of apparatus for an amateur conjurer. A marked coin is dropped into it, and the box closed before the eyes of your audience, who can hear the coin rattle in the box, yet when it is opened again, the coin has vanished and it is found in some unexpected place. Other small articles such as pieces of jewelry, etc., or even a small watch can be made to disappear in the same mysterious manner. It's another of our clever tricks which can be carried with you to the next party you attend and present almost without any preparation. It is just the thing for making coins and other small articles mysteriously vanish. It is simple yet very clever.

No. 3162. Price Postpaid 25c

Diminishing Card Trick

The performer exhibits a full-size card, passes his finger over it a few times, and it becomes smaller. He manipulates it again, and its size is still further reduced, until finally he makes it vanish altogether. A capital trick that is very easily performed, requiring no previous knowledge or skill.

No. 3105. Price Postpaid 15c

Magic Scales

With one of these neat little contrivances you can have plenty of amusement. Persuade your friend to drop a cent into the slot and then watch the dial. The inscription on the apparatus promises "your correct weight," in which respect it does not lie. Of course there's a trick about it but you'll soon learn all about it when you get it. After "weighing" 15 of your friends the machine should start making money for you.

No. 3127. Price Postpaid 15c

In this trick are four brightly polished metal cones, which are placed upon the table. A half-dollar, or any other coin or small object is hidden underneath one of the four cones while your back is turned, or while you are absent from the room, yet you are always able to detect under which cone the article has been hidden. Little or no previous practice is needed; it is all in knowing the secret of the trick which, for obvious reasons, you are requested to keep it to yourself. It seldom fails. No one else is able to do it, except by chance, but YOU can detect the right cone every time. The effect is greatly enhanced by using two sets. A double set of eight cones with one or two, or even more hidden objects, will greatly heighten the mystery.

No. 3188. Hindu Cones. Price Postpaid.. 30c

Fire Eating Trick

Unusual - Mysterious

If you have seen many conjuring acts performed by professional magicians, you will doubtless have seen the Fire Eating Trick and wondered just how it was done. Here is your chance to learn how, and what is still better, to do it yourself. It really isn't at all difficult but it can be very mystifying to those not "in the know." Watch your audience gape with amazement as they see the smoke issuing from your mouth. A knowledge of this trick should soon give you a reputation of being a perfect Salamander.

No. 3174. Fire Eating Outfit. Price.... 20c

Egg & Handkerchief

This is a splendid conjuring trick that seldom fails, and if properly performed is very mysterious. You take a small handkerchief, rub it in your hands in front of your audience, who watch it getting smaller and smaller, until at last it has disappeared entirely and in its place you produce an egg. The handkerchief has changed into an egg!

No. 3167. Price Postpaid 25c

Magic Coin on String

The effect of this trick is very mystifying. A coin with a hollow center is threaded on a wire or string, and is given to some member of the audience to hold. While both ends of the string are tightly held the coin is covered with a handkerchief and is instantly removed.

This is a splendid trick and is recommended for either amateurs or professionals. With full instructions postpaid

No. 3156. Price Postpaid 30c

Magic Coin Vanisher

With the aid of this Vanisher it is possible to make a borrowed coin mysteriously disappear. The coin is placed in the ring which forms the lower part of the Vanisher; it is then covered with the lid and disappears in full view of the audience. It is made to re-appear in the same inexplicable manner. An old favorite "confidence" game — profitable. Can be done over and over again without revealing the secret.

No. 3161. Price Postpaid 15c

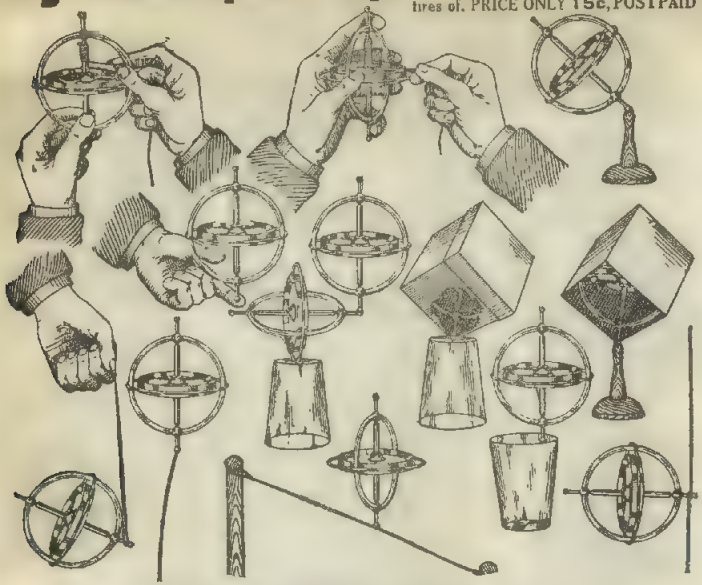
Gyroscope Top

The Gyroscope is a most instructive instrument, always interesting to the intelligent adult and a joy a child seldom tires of. PRICE ONLY 15c, POSTPAID



A Popular Scientific Toy

Many interesting and amusing experiments can be performed which your scientific friends will find hard to explain. As a scientific instrument it is used to demonstrate the principle of rotation, attraction and equilibrium of bodies when in motion, the center of gravity and centrifugal force. In teaching astronomy the Gyroscope on the pedestal illustrates the rotation of the globe better than any mechanical device in existence.

Defies the Law of Gravitation

Large Gyroscopes are used in the navy to steady and steer torpedoes, and scientists are experimenting with them to prevent large ships from rolling, also in aerial navigation.

Prof. Louis Brennan, the inventor of Brennan torpedo and the more wonderful Monorail, conceived the idea from the Gyroscope and is using them to give his car stability. The Royal Scientists of England say the monorail will revolutionize the mode of travel in the 20th century. The British Government is now building a Monorail in India over which trains will soon be running on a single rail.

Spins In Any Position

The illustrations show a very few of the ways of spinning the Gyroscope Top. It can be thrown and caught, rotating rapidly all the time. It will travel along a taut string or wire. You can suspend it from a loop of string, still spinning vigorously. It will spin on the point of a pin, and will revolve in a dozen different ways on the pedestal. An effective feat can be performed by spinning the Top at high speed and quickly placing it into the square cardboard packing box. Put on the lid and then set the box on one of its corners. The box will spin around for quite awhile, presenting a very curious appearance.

CARBURETOR

CAPE MAY, N. J.

There is excellent protection at Scotty's Wharf in Cape Island Creek. Boats drawing 2 fathoms may use the docks over night without charge. Fresh water is free and the usual price of gasoline is 16c less tax rebate The docks are a mile from town but deliveries may be arranged by telephone and there is frequent 10c taxi service to the business center and beach. Large yachts will find protected anchorage in Cold Stream Harbor with a controlling depth of 20 feet

An interesting sight is the big concrete ship which is beached on the edge of Delaware Bay. We also understand that there is a bill before Congress citing the recommendations of the U. S. Engineers to construct a canal from Cape May Harbor to Delaware Bay. Most yachtsmen would consider this a vast improvement over the now necessary and usually difficult rounding of the Cape.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J

Boats drawing 11 feet may use the Municipal Dock in Gardners Basin. Dockage rates are $1.00 for 24 hours for average size boats, and fresh water is free.

Clam Creek is a good protected anchorage with 8 feet of water and sticky bottom.

MANASQUAN, N. J.

The entrance channel has been considerably widened and vessels of 8 feet draft may find temporary dockage at the gas wharf. An anchorage area extends east of the dock along the marsh and the holding ground is good although the ebb tide runs with considerable force

NEW YORK CITY

There are a great many places where yachts may dock in New York, but the favorite spot seems to be City Island. Dockage charges average $1 00 a day and every facility for boats may be had.

The Yacht Basin at the World's Fair, at the head of Flushing Bay, is reached through a 10 foot channel. Dockage charges in the basin are 10c per foot per day for the time limit of 72 hours. Yachts may also use moorings and the rate of $1.00 for 12 hours includes tender service, garbage collection and mail delivery. Private tenders are not allowed in the basin. Fuel and supplies are delivered by special boats.

GREATER DISTRIBUTION FOR DUPLEX OIL

TO make Duplex Marine Engine Oil available at hundreds of additional points throughout the United States, this well known product now is being marketed through the national distributing organization of the Quaker State Oil Refining Corporation of Oil City, Pa.

The new arrangement became effective January 1, according to a statement issued jointly by Quaker State and its subsidiary, the Enterprise Oil Company of Buffalo, N. Y.

Commodore Steve Drakeley, who for the past fifteen years has been in charge of sales for the Marine Division of the Enterprise Company, now occupies a similar position with the parent organization.

"The sole purpose of the new arrangement is to make it possible for boat owners throughout the United States to obtain Duplex no matter where they may be," said Commodore Drakeley

"The fact is, our distribution facilities heretofore have not kept pace with the ever-increasing demand for Duplex. The new plan will add Quaker State's national network of more than 200 wholesale distributors to the present set-up.

"The Quaker State organization serves all of the thousands of localities throughout the United States to which boating enthusiasm has spread," Commodore Drakeley concluded.

The association of Duplex and Quaker State dates from 1931 when the Enterprise Oil Company, makers of Duplex, became a subsidiary of the Quaker State Oil Refining Corporation. Officials of both companies have believed for some time that both the boat owner and marine dealer could be better served if complete stocks of Duplex Marine Engine Oil were made available through the Quaker State distributors who blanket the country from coast to coast. Accordingly, the change was decided upon to take effect with the advent of the new year are SHOWERED ALL OVER!

If you really want to have a distinctive and wonderful party, just get a few of these fireworks. Shoot them off at convenient intervals or as a sensational climax to the evening's entertainment, and you will be pleasantly surprised at the enthusiastic response of your guests. The prodigious shower of gifts, small toys, novelties, confetti, etc., will so completely overwhelm the guests that they will gather around you after the party, ask you where on earth you ever got such an unusual display.

Snowstorms, Grab-bags, Etc.

One in particular that never fails to cause a sensation is the Snowstorm. After it is lit, the miniature snowstorm begins. High up into the air the fine fuzz is thrown and as it gently falls to the ground, gives the effect of a snowstorm for a few minutes.

Another one acts as a big gift bag and box of unusual novelties, etc. The variety of types is great and each assortment has been arranged that it will fit into almost any occasion. But don't wait for a holiday or celebration—get some now for yourself.

There are many times when blatant, noisy fireworks are out of place and you want something more refined. These will serve the purpose.

Your Fortune Told!

The fortune telling fireworks throw out fortunes which at a party, often lead to a lot of merriment and enjoyment.

At any rate the guests are usually enthusiastic and in a hurry to grab the slip of paper prognosticating the future—especially the girls. Another of the favorites is Cupid's Bower. This is especially useful in a party of young boys and girls. It shoots off numerous slips of paper which direct the guests to do a number of funny things.

These Fireworks are suitable for parlor or lawn, and are filled with quantities of gaily colored Confetti, Serpentines Paper Gifts, Favors, Small Toys or Novelties. A match is applied to the fuse, then there is a MUFFLED EXPLOSION, followed by VERY SURPRISING EFFECTS as the contents SHOOT UP INTO THE AIR. As they descend to the floor, there is usually a scramble to secure the prizes; the element of surprise is always present and keeps the company roused to the highest pitch of excitement during the entire display. The prizes may be used to distribute among those present as a happy reminder of the occasion. In others Miniature Snowstorms are produced and the effect is both vivid and true to life.

THE KING 1000 SHOT

RAPID-FIRE REPEATING AIR RIFLE

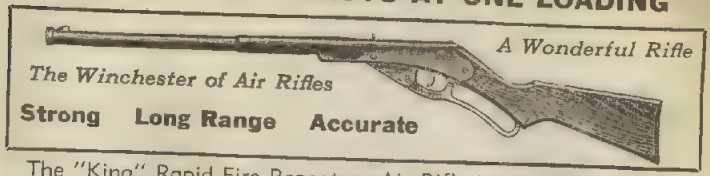
ONE THOUSAND SHOTS AT ONE LOADING



The "King" Rapid-Fire Repeating Air Rifle is constructed to hold One Thousand Shots in its magazine (if required) at One Loading. It is in appearance very much like the Winchester Repeating Carbine, being about that size and model, all the parts are extremely simple and should not get out of order, and the materials used in its manufacture are of the best, all parts are interchangeable, and with ordinary care it should last a lifetime. So accurately does it shoot that a good marksman is said to have split cards, edge on at 5 yards with it The weapon can be fired 20 times in one minute, as the lever under the breech works very rapidly, loading and cocking the gun by the one action. The magazine and all metal parts are of blued and polished steel, the stock of polished and seasoned walnut, sights accurately set and tested, in fact workmanship and appearance are superb, for each rifle is a splendid example of the gun-maker's art, assisted by the most modern machinery.

Uses regular BB shot, which can be purchased almost anywhere, hence the cost of using this wonderful rifle is almost nothing. No sportsman should be without this fine weapon. There is no danger of explosion, and even boys and youths may use it without risk. The air-compressing mechanism is a perfect invention, being simple and durable. The air chamber is constructed on a principle which gives great strength, and it will withstand a pressure of many pounds to the square inch The pull of the trigger is rather less than in ordinary rifles conducive to the great rapidity of firing The "King" Repeating Air Rifle is not quite 36 inches long from muzzle to heel plate the weight is about 2 lbs., which is light enough to cause no fatigue yet heavy enough to ensure accurate shooting It is an unusually handsome model having a beautiful blued finish, but it must be seen and used to be thoroughly appreciated. For target practice it is just the thing.

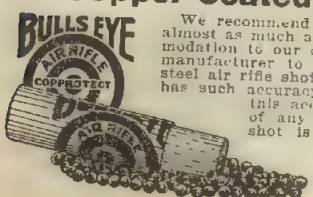
Copper-Coated Steel Air Rifle Shot



We recommend your buying shot locally, as the postage is almost as much as the shot is worth However, as an accommodation to our customers, we have arranged with a leading manufacturer to stock their special brand of copper-coated steel air rifle shot, specially made for air rifles Never before has such accuracy been possible in the making of shot, and this accuracy is reflected in the improved shooting of any rifle in which copper-coated steel air rifle shot is used. The copper coating lubricates the shooting barrel of the air rifle and gives a nearly perfect "air-seal" back of each shot. Steel shot, being the lightest air rifle shot on the market, carries farther and hits harder than any other kind. Each tube contains about 225 pellets. NOTE. If Air Rifle Shot is included in an express collect shipment (customer paying the charges), price is 5c per tube. If shipped by mail prepaid, price is 10c per tube.

Lawson Little Autograph Irons. There's new golfing pleasure for the exacting player in these exactingly built and handsomely finished irons. Designed by Wright and Ditson player experts, incorporating sound ideas suggested by Little, greatly improved in appearance, the heads are precision-made and correctly lofted. They have dull finished faces with parallel line corrugations and a "Sweet-spot" marking. The hosels are shortened, allowing a scientific redistribution of weight for increased power. Sturdy and flexible stepped steel shafts add better "feel," and their attractive grain finish harmonizes with the gray collar. Cork-cushioned, perforated Improved Control Grip relieves finger fatigue and has a ridge on underside to prevent sidewise twist.

The HULA HULA DANCE is a weird, captivating dance of the HAWAIIANS. The original Hawaiian dance, just as it has been practised in Hawaii for centuries, and is based upon an old Hawaiian legend—every movement has a meaning. The maidens were often trained from childhood so that they might learn to do the entire hula dance with a rhythmic gracefulness and charm said to be unequaled anywhere.

Nearly 50 illustrations, with supplementary descriptive matter in a new easy-to-follow instruction method. Simplicity is the keynote. Tells what to do and shows how to do it! Every important movement of each dance is pictured and described. Learn in the privacy of your own home. THIS AMAZING COLLECTION OF NOVELTIES is the result of nearly 30 years of square dealing.

Learn Tap Dancing

New Book "Tap Dancing for Beginners" Shows How

FOUR COMPLETE COURSES ALL IN ONE

315 Illustrations

Learn to Beat Out a Tune With Your Feet

Why envy the easy rhythm and fascinating grace of Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Step'n Fetchit, Eleanor Powell, Bill Robinson, Eleanor Whitney, and others too numerous to mention? Now you can learn to tap dance in a few hours if you follow the very simple directions contained in this new book of copyrighted instructions.

No special ability is needed to learn Tap Dancing. Anyone—YOU, can learn if you will only devote a few minutes of your time daily and follow the instructions.

Learn At Home

Be smart! Learn to beat out a tune with your feet. Most everybody is doing it these days. The whole town is tapping. It's fun, and you'll thoroughly enjoy the lessons. You should be a welcome guest at every party and the envy of your friends. Besides, tap dancing is not only an invigorating and entertaining accomplishment but it is also a wholesome and health-giving exercise for making the limbs supple and giving a "springy" feeling of fitness to the whole body. And what is more, it promotes slimness—it is nature's way of keeping fit and slim without pills, drugs or dieting.

If you want to learn how to tap dance—and who doesn't—then learn this new easy way in the privacy of your own home, without a teacher. The cost of the book of instructions is a mere bagatelle, just a fraction of what any teacher would charge for but a single lesson. And what is more, this book contains not just one single course, but NO LESS THAN FOUR SEPARATE AND DISTINCT COURSES, so that if by chance you should possibly experience any unexpected difficulty with one method, you have three others to fall back on. This however, is not likely, and you will doubtless, as so many of our readers have found the instructions so fascinating that you will not be satisfied until you have learned every step and movement. And after you have thoroughly mastered all four courses contained in this book you may consider yourself a first class tap dancer. Nothing has been spared to make the book complete and up-to-date. Simplicity is the keynote throughout.

315 Illustrations Explain Movements

Every movement is thoroughly explained and illustrated with no less than 315 pictures. All of the lessons may be learned with or without music, in fact one of the courses is arranged specially for those pupils who find it inconvenient to get musical accompaniment while practicing and the course is so scientifically arranged that he can easily gain not only the fundamentals of tap dancing but make real headway if he but applies himself in a serious way to the task. In addition to the four courses on tap dancing, there is a chapter on CLOG DANCING. At the end of the book a number of physical exercises specially designed for tap dancers are given which, if assiduously followed cannot fail to immeasurably benefit the student.

Send for a copy of this book "TAP DANCING FOR BEGINNERS" today. Probably few books on dancing have had such a wide sale or received such favorable comment. Here is what some of our readers say. "I have derived wonderful benefit from the course of lessons contained in your book." Another "Thank you for adding tap dancing to my accomplishments." "It was much easier than I expected. My friends were amazed."

The Atlas Type J Storage Battery Locomotive combines, to an unusual degree, low cost and upkeep with high operating efficiency.

Adaptability—Type J is intended for light tramming service and meets all metal mining conditions. It is primarily a multi-level locomotive, being easily transported from one level to another on an ordinary mine cage.

Efficiency—The totally enclosed spur gear drive of the Type J operates on ball bearings running in an oil bath. The extreme simplicity of the spur gear drive provides the highest efficiency of any form of enclosed drive. It will operate even under extremely adverse conditions, such as lack of lubricant.

Economy—The low first cost of the Type J has been made possible by modern production methods. Its low maintenance costs are due to the rugged and substantial design of all parts, to the quality of the materials used and to the accuracy of the workmanship. All repairs can be quickly, easily and cheaply accomplished by a comparatively inexperienced mechanic.

EXPLOSIVES FOR QUARRYING

Red Cross Extra 15-60%—This is a high density ammonia dynamite of fair water-resistance which is adapted for a wide variety of quarry work, especially for top loading

Red Cross Blasting Free Running dynamites made in five strengths are designed for rapid loading in vertical sprung holes, top loads in quarry well drill holes, and because of their safety, are replacing black powder in many operations.

Blasting Powder—Blasting powders are weaker and slower than high explosives, exerting a lifting and heaving, rather than a shattering effect. This is desired especially for breakwater and rip-rap stone. "A" powder is made in six granulations and "B" in seven. The fine granulations are quicker than the coarser. Blasting powder cannot be used in wet work although "A" resists moisture better than "B". Neither is affected by cold.

"Nitramon" is the trade-marked name of a blasting agent for quarries. It is made in four grades—A, B, C and D. These are of the same weight strength, but differ in bulk strength from A, the strongest, comparable with 75% gelatin, to D, of about 40% bulk strength. It is packed in cylindrical tin cans, 4 to 8 inches diameter and 24 inches long. It is water-resisting, non-headache, non-freezing, and in many cases shows the purchaser an appreciable saving. It is fired by a special "Nitramon" primer which in turn is initiated by "Cordeau" or "Primacord."

DU PONT BLASTING ACCESSORIES

Blasting Caps, Electric Blasting Caps, Electric Squibs, Delay Electric Blasting Caps, Delay Electric Igniters, Cordeau, "Primacord," Blasting Machines, Rheostats, Circuit Testers, Connecting Wire, Leading Wire, Fuse, Cap Crimpers, Tamping Bags

With so much money involved in the preparation for blasting, it is apparent that it is economy to buy only the best blasting accessories. The confidence miners and quarrymen have in du Pont blasting accessories is manifested by the steadily increasing demand.

In designing the du Pont accessories, care has been exercised to obtain simplicity of construction and to ensure effective performance. This is particularly true of the du Pont blasting machines and testing apparatus. The detonators are composed of the best materials and the ingredients are selected because of their fitness to accomplish what is required—imparting the necessary shock to the explosive charges to effect complete detonation.

Electric Detonators—After careful experiments extending over many years, the du Pont Company has developed its No. 6 and No. 8 electric blasting caps as best fitted for all general work. The selection of the materials and the care in assembling the parts assure a blasting cap that will give complete detonation. These caps are furnished with wires in lengths varying from 4 to 20 ft. The du Pont Company also manufactures waterproof electric blasting caps, delay electric blasting caps and delay electric igniters, and furnishes leading wire and connecting wire. The best results are secured from blasting powder by igniting it in the center and for this purpose the electric squib is made

Du Pont Blasting Machines—The du Pont Company makes several sizes of blasting machines having capacities of 1 to 100 electric blasting caps fitted with copper wires.

Blasting Machine

The most useful sizes are the pocket blasting machine and du Pont No. 10, 20, 30, 50 and 100.

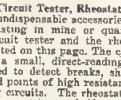
Blasting Machine No. 10 has a rated capacity of 10 electric blasting caps and No. 30 of 30. They are of light weight and easy to operate.

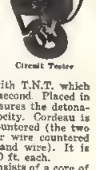
Blasting Machine No. 50 is a machine of modern construction, light weight and high capacity. It is rated to fire 50 electric blasting caps with a considerable margin of safety.

The No. 100 Blasting Machine embodies numerous electrical and mechanical improvements. It has a capacity of 100 electric blasting caps and is especially designed for quarrying and construction work. Having a large volume of current at sufficient voltage, it should give a minimum of trouble from electric leakage from the blasting circuit.

The pocket size blasting machine fires from one to three electric blasting caps at a time. It has a removable handle to prevent anybody but the shot-firer from firing the charges—a safety device greatly appreciated by quarrymen and miners.

Pocket Blasting Machine





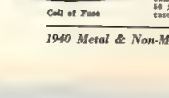
Circuit Tester

Circuit Tester, Rheostat—Practically indispensable accessories in electric blasting in mine or quarry are the circuit tester and the rheostat illustrated on this page. The circuit tester is a small, direct-reading ohmmeter used to detect breaks, short circuits, and points of high resistance in blasting circuits. The rheostat is an electric resistance bridge for testing blasting machines.

Cordeau—This is a lead tube filled with T.N.T. which detonates at the speed of 17,500 ft. per second. Placed in a bore hole alongside the explosive, it assures the detonation of the charge at the maximum velocity. Cordeau is made plain, single countered or double countered (the two latter being wound with cotton cord) or wire countered (the last being wound with both cord and wire). It is sold on spools containing from 100 to 500 ft. each.

"Primacord" is a detonating fuse. It consists of a core of pentaerythritetetranitrate (P.E.T.N.) enclosed in a flexible waterproof textile covering. It is used in the same way as "Cordeau" but is much faster. It is made in three types—Regular, reinforced and Wire Countered

Cap Crimpers—The du Pont Company furnishes cap crimpers of three types, Nos. 1, 2 and 3. The No. 2 cap crimper is made with fuse-cutting jaws. One handle is pointed to serve as a punch for making holes in cartridges. The No. 3 cap crimper is especially designed to make a water-tight crimp on a smooth covered fuse.



Coil of Fuse

No. 2 Cap Crimper

Safety Fuse—Safety fuse for use with blasting caps is also sold by the du Pont Company different types being manufactured for dry, damp or wet work. It is made in 50 ft. coils, and shipped in wooden cases.

EXPLOSIVES FOR MINING

Gelex—Gelex is a new explosive which was developed especially for economy in work previously done with gelatin dynamite and is rapidly replacing gelatin except under the most difficult blasting conditions.

Gelex No. 1 and No. 2 are semi-gelatin dynamites which have a bulk strength respectively of 60 and 45%. They are cohesive and water resisting but relatively bulky. Gelex No. 1 averages 110 cartridges, 1¼ x 8 in. per 50 lb. and Gelex No. 2 averages 122 cartridges. Both are suitable for underground work. Gelex No. 2 has proved particularly efficient in mining the softer ores, limestone and other non-metallic minerals.

Du Pont Gelatin 20-90%—This is a straight nitroglycerin gelatin which represents the highest standard of excellence in gelatin dynamites. It is dense, plastic and water resistant and gives off a minimum of obnoxious fumes. It is adapted for close work of every kind and is the best, and probably, in the end, the most economical, explosive for places where there is very hard rock, high water pressure or poor ventilation.

Du Pont Special Gelatin 30-90%—This is an ammonia gelatin which is a little less plastic and a little less water-resistant than du Pont Gelatin but otherwise has much the same qualities. Except where it can be economically replaced by a dynamite of the Gelex or du Pont Extra type, it is the standard explosive for underground ore mining.

Du Pont Blasting Gelatin 100%—This is the strongest, quickest and most water resistant high explosive manufactured. Blasting Gelatin is not extensively used but is sometimes desirable for breaking very hard rock in driving tunnels or shafts, blasting "salamanders" and large castings.

Du Pont Extra—This is a low density ammonia dynamite which is made in two series—A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, ranging in bulk strength from 63 to 25%, and in density from 116 cartridges, 1¼ x 8 in., per 50 lb. to 162 cartridges; and C-1, D-1, E-1 and G-1, of corresponding strength and density with the above but somewhat lower velocity. The latter series is especially designed to give a minimum of fines and economical shovel operation in limestone mining. The former series will frequently give economy in blasting ore, both in underground and open pit operations, in stripping overburden, and in mining limestone and other non-metallic minerals. The use of du Pont Extra requires good ventilation, or shooting off shift, and fairly dry work.

Red Cross Extra 15-60%—This is a high density ammonia dynamite which is adapted for mining the softer ores and most of the non-metallic minerals, provided ventilation is good and the work fairly dry. Under some conditions is still gives lower costs than any of the newer explosives. It is also efficient for blasting both overburden and ore in open pit mines.

Packages—Du Pont high explosives for mining are packed in cartridges ranging in size from ⅞ x 8 in. to 2 x 8 in. and are shipped in 50 lb. cases.

EXPLOSIVES FOR QUARRYING

Gelex—Gelex is a new explosive which was developed especially for economy in work previously done with gelatin dynamite and is rapidly replacing gelatin of the corresponding strengths.

Gelex No. 1 and No. 2 are semi gelatin dynamites which have respectively a bulk strength of 60 and 45%. They are cohesive and water resisting but relatively bulky. Gelex No. 1 averaging 110 cartridges, 1¼ x 8 in., per 50 lb. and Gelex No. 2 averaging 122 cartridges. In well drill sizes they average at least one more cartridge per 50 lb. than gelatin or Gelex A. They are being substituted with economy for gelatins of 60, 50 and 40% strength in all kinds of quarrying and may give even better results than these denser explosives where it is desirable to bring the charge up higher in the hole.

Du Pont Gelatin 20-90% and du Pont Special Gelatin 30-90%—These are the standard gelatin dynamites, the former being of the straight nitroglycerin and the latter of the ammonia type. While they are being largely replaced in quarry work by Gelex for the sake of lower cost, there are still conditions under which one or the other of these will prove the most satisfactory explosive. Low strength, 25% Du Pont Gelatin makes the most effective and convenient load for block holes.

Du Pont Straight Dynamite 15-60%—This is a nitroglycerin dynamite which has great shattering power and high water resistance. It is the first choice for secondary blasting by the mudcap method.

Du Pont Extra—This is a low density ammonia dynamite made in eight different densities, A, B, C, D, E, F, G, and H, ranging from 116 cartridges, 1¼ x 8 in., per 50 lb. to 172 cartridges, and from 63 to 20% bulk strength. It is fairly water-resisting but not recommended for wet work. Du Pont Extra is very efficient and economical for quarrying relatively soft stone and for a top load in harder stone. It is also excellent for blockholing, especially where fines are not desired.

G-E 4 ton Storage Battery Locomotive in a Gold Mine

GENERAL ELECTRIC

G-E 23 ton, 150 hp. Diesel Electric in a limestone quarry

for every mine haulage requirement

G-E has been manufacturing mine haulage equipment since 1889, consistently producing locomotives that are mechanically and electrically fit. As evidence of durable construction, many locomotives built more than thirty-five years ago are still in active service. Improvements have kept pace with changing conditions, and G-E locomotives as built today are capable of heavier service with better efficiency and lower maintenance.

Whatever your haulage requirements may call for—storage-battery, trolley, cable-reel, permissible or open types—a 1½ ton trammer for multi-level operation or the standard gauge double truck locomotive that may take power by means of an overhead, a side arm, a third rail collector, or an electric cable reel, or Diesel electric switchers. General Electric can furnish exactly what you want at lowest ultimate expense.

Maintenance and operating costs are low, the locomotives are always ready for service—assuring minimum haulage expense under any given operating condition.

TROLLEY-TYPE LOCOMOTIVES FOR UNDERGROUND HAULAGE

Standard sizes range from 4 to 20 tons in two motor types, and from 20 to 35 tons in three-motor types. Frames are cut from solid rolled-steel plates to insure maximum strength. End frames are welded steel. Hand Brakes, with square-threaded screw, bronze nut and ball-thrust bearing, are fully equalized and adjustable for wear. They are dependable and easily operated. Wheels, designed either inside the frame or outside, are chilled-iron as standard equipment. Steel-tired or rolled-steel wheels furnished on order. All wearing parts are easily accessible for inspection or repair, and adequate space is provided for operators.

G-E Trolley-type Gathering Locomotive, equipped with cable reel

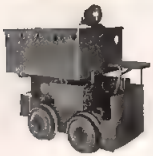
The improved method of spring suspension, with helical springs equalized, which distributes weight more evenly on the drivers, reduces track maintenance costs, promotes smooth riding, and practically eliminates derailments.

Motors, either 250 or 500 volt d.c., are of the series-wound, totally enclosed, commutating pole, split-frame type; designed for heavy-duty service, equipped with anti-friction bearings. Practically the only attention required is reasonable inspection, replenishment of bearing lubricant, and renewal of worn-out brushes.

Resistors (Type EW) are made of edgewise-wound special steel ribbon. Being non-corrodible and non-breakable, they are unaffected by vibration or moisture.

Control. The drum-type controller is normally standard for gathering, light-haulage, and storage-battery locomotives. However, for ratings of ten tons and above, semi-magnetic or full-magnetic control is standard.

Write for Bulletin GEA-1048.



G-E Storage-Battery Type Trammer

G-E Open-type Storage Battery Locomotive

TROLLEY-TYPE GATHERING LOCOMOTIVES

G E trolley type locomotives, equipped with motor operated cable reels, allow locomotive operation a limited distance beyond where it is practical to carry the trolley wire. In under-ground types standard sizes are four, six and eight ton with 500 feet of single conductor or 350 feet of double conductor cable.

The electric cable-reel equipment and accessories are developments which have resulted from General Electric's long experience in building mine locomotives. The vertical-axis type of gathering reel is standard. Sheath-wire resistor units provide suitable operating characteristics, and are practically indestructible.

The automatic transfer switch, between trolley and cable reel, relieves the motorman from the necessity of operating a hand switch. This prevents destructive burning of the switch and hazard to the motorman if a transfer is made, by chance, under load.

Write for Bulletins GEA-70 and GEA-3234.

STORAGE BATTERY LOCOMOTIVES

G E storage battery locomotives, gauge permitting, are equipped with the same type motor, and have the same powerful construction and single-reduction gearing as G E trolley locomotives. A full range of sizes is available, starting with the 1½ ton for light tramming service that can be easily transferred from one level to another on the usual mine cage.

Write for Bulletins GEA-2352 and GEA-2353.

SURFACE HAULAGE LOCOMOTIVES

For hauling of raw materials to and from storage piles, for service around smelters, transportation of rock or ore from quarry and pit, the electric locomotive has amply demonstrated its suitability for this class of service. Where requirements are comparatively light, the under-ground type of locomotive and equipment are adaptable. For handling large cars, heavier and higher locomotives are required, with the addition of a cab, air brakes and suitable auxiliaries. The type should be determined by the service and capacity required and by the surrounding conditions under which it must perform. G-E engineers will study your haulage conditions and requirements. Their recommendations, based on over fifty years' experience and progress, are made with open minds, because G-E makes all types and sizes of haulage equipment.

G-E LOCOMOTIVE PARTS AND ACCESSORIES

By amplifying its line of standard parts and accessories, G-E has made it possible for users of its locomotives to keep their haulage equipment in service with a minimum of lay-up for repairs.

These parts and accessories have been designed with special emphasis upon ability of users to make their repairs right in the field. Where the local skill or repair facilities are inadequate, your nearest G-E Service Shop can do a quick and economical job for you.

Automatic Cable-Reel Transfer Switch—Strictly automatic and safe—the desired circuit can be completed only when the trolley wheel or cable hook of that circuit is placed on the wire, and the other collector is withdrawn.

Roller-Bearing Journal Boxes—Now available for most G-E locomotives.

Improved Axle Bearings—Embody an important improvement in the use of labyrinth grease seal.

Improved Frame Heads—Now equipped with labyrinth grease seal on the pinion end frame head.

Also—Plugs and Sockets for storage-battery locomotives, Trolleys with clasp-type connector, or with movable and stationary contact blocks; Incandescent Headlights; Line-Breaker Equipment; Controller Fingers and Segments; Armature Binding Tension Indicators; Armature Insulations.

The basis of Jeffrey Traylor equipment (Patented) is Balanced High Frequency Vibration under Absolute Control. Electricity is used to cause vibration . . . and used to control the vibration. The rate of feed can be changed at will while unit is running, from a fraction of an ounce to any rate up to full capacity of the unit.

Group of fifteen 4 x 7 Jeffrey-Traylor Conveyanveyors in closed circuit with cone crushers, making a 4" separation. J-T conveyors can be furnished in single or double decks in a wide variety of sizes.

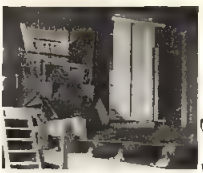
Jeffrey-Traylor Weytrols are precision constant weigh feeders, which provide accurate proportioning devices for clinker, gypsum, coal, etc. They will deliver a continuous uniform flow of a given weight per hour. Capacities range from a few ounces up to 100 tons per hour.

Type 300 and 350 Jeffrey Traylor Weytrols (right) automatically proportion any two different materials in a large central plant. These units are remotely control led by operator. We would like to tell you more about these Weytrols and what they can do for you.

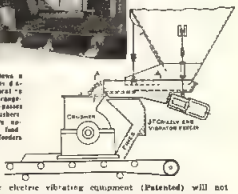
For proportioning and batching . . . by exact weight rather than volume . . . J-T Weytrols are rapidly revolutionizing materials handling operations and reducing costs in hundreds of plants throughout the country. Send for Bulletin No. 627-B covering Jeffrey-Traylor units for metal mining service

A typical installation of a 7' x 8' Jeffrey Traylor electric vibrating grizzly feeder by-passing stones three inch size ahead of a primary jaw crusher. Note the non-jamming magnet over this grizzly for removal of tramp iron.

Jeffrey-Traylor feeders are being used extensively for controlled feed from bins, hoppers and other conveyors, in delivering to crushers, mills, screens, pulverizers, kilns, ball, tube, pebble, processing equipment and belt conveyors (see photo below). Made in types and sizes to meet exactly your feeding requirements.



Jeffrey Traylor No. 3 pendant grizzly feeder (left) discharging 250 tons per hour to picking belt conveyor. Separation is at 3" and these are by-passed crusher.



Drawing at right shows a grizzly back bin by discharge end of a vibrating feeder. This arrangement successfully by-passes fines ahead of crushers. Grizzly sections are applicable to standard feeders or to special feeders of any width

Jeffrey Traylor electric vibrating equipment (Patented) will not only do the job better and more economically than other types in standard handling operations, but it provides the only solution to many problems especially where accuracy is the main requirement.

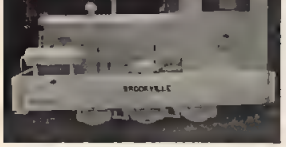
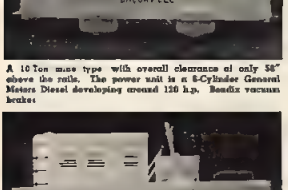
BROOKVILLE LOCOMOTIVE COMPANY

P. O. Box 26, Brookville, Pa., U. S. A.

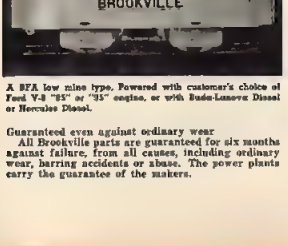
An 8-Ton Brookville doing a 10-ton job, hauling 34 cars, a total of 40 tons up a 3½ percent grade, around a curve. International power. Operating since 1929 and still giving efficient and economical service. Note that it is a low mine type.



A 12-Ton, with 6-Cylinder Caterpillar Diesel engine. Westinghouse air brakes. 6-wheel drive, the center axle being equipped with wide flangeless tires.



A 10 Ton mine type with overall clearance of only 56" above the rails. The power unit is a 8-Cylinder General Motors Diesel developing around 120 h.p. Bendix vacuum brakes



A BFA low mine type. Powered with customer's choice of Ford V-8 "85" or "95" engine, or with Buda-Lanova Diesel or Hercules Diesel.

Guaranteed even against ordinary wear

All Brookville parts are guaranteed for six months against failure, from all causes, including ordinary wear, barring accidents or abuse. The power plants carry the guarantee of the makers.

THE RIGHT MODEL for the JOB

Ten different weights, Dimensions, gauges, couplers and speed range to suit requirements. Models for hauling anything from small mine cars to full size gondolas. Standard and low mine types, with and without cabs.

"BFA" Series—Ford Power, or Diesel

Ford V-8 engines, both "85" and "95" in conjunction with heavy duty Ford truck clutches, 4-speed transmissions and maximum truck cooling capacity, as supplied by the Ford Motor Co. When Diesel preferred, powered with Hercules Buda-Lanova Diesel. Seven standard sizes: 3, 3½, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 tons in weight. Any gauge. Four speeds forward—four speeds reverse.

"BMD" Series—International Power (International Harvester)

International gasoline or kerosene engines or International Diesel. All used in conjunction with proper International transmissions and International clutches. Ten standard sizes: 3, 3½, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 12 and 14 tons in weight. Four and five speeds both forward and reverse.

"BCL" Series—Caterpillar Diesel Power

Eight sizes standard: 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 12 and 14 tons weight. Standard speeds, four forward; four reverse.

Expert Local Service

World-wide service is available for engines made by International Harvester, Caterpillar and Ford, for the last of which complete factory rebuilt engines are available. (Note) While the above power units are standard for Brookville locomotives, engines of other manufacture are frequently used. For instance, the 10-ton low mine type, illustrated at the left, is powered with a 6 cylinder General Motors Diesel.

Diesel Power—Economical and safe even, for underground service

Although the first cost of the Diesel is higher, Brookvilles with Diesel power operate at about one-half the fuel cost of gasoline, have excellent lugging ability, almost eliminate the fire hazard, and permit safer operation underground or indoors, due to the fact that Diesel combustion is so complete that the exhaust contains only a negligible amount of carbon monoxide. Concerning the safety of Diesel engines for underground use, U. S. Bureau of Mines, Publication R. I. 3320 says: "On the scale of safety, the Diesel Mine Locomotive can be placed at least equal to the electric storage battery locomotive."

Wide Speed Range, both forward and reverse

Four and five speeds, both forward and reverse—2 to 15 miles per hour, and higher when desirable.

Indestructible Steel Frames and Endsills

Neatly Rounded Endsills

Improved Dual Spring Suspension for poor Track

Dual spring suspension, used since 1922, with protecting enclosure and added improvements incorporated late in 1936. Both cushions the load and allows for track irregularities.

Timken Bearings

Timken bearings generally used in the Brookville reverse and on the wheel axles reduce friction and give trouble free operation.

Steel Tires for High Traction

Furnished as standard equipment on the smaller models, available on all. Steel tires increase traction 25% over ordinary cast wheels. Inexpensively and easily renewed.

PRODUCTS: Haulage Equipment for Metal and Non-Metallic Mining Operations

CARS, TRUCK BODIES, TRAILERS

Side, end or bottom dumping containers in capacities to suit any requirement, available in gravity-dump or rail-dump types or fitted with hydraulic self-dumping hoist. Where required, a fixed dumping mechanism with steam, air or electric hoist can be built and installed by Easton.

Easton products are Timken Bearing equipped.

During a quarter-century of service Easton's engineers have worked on the development of hundreds of successful haulage systems, many of which have called for the design and construction of highly specialized equipment. This work, covering every phase of rock, earth and ore handling, has resulted in certain important basic patents and tested theories of practice, which in turn have influenced constant advances in methods and equipment. Through these years a vast fund of practical first-hand knowledge has accumulated in Easton. This reservoir of information and experience has been made available to quarry operators through the Easton Engineering Service. You are invited to consult with our engineers at any time on any problem involving plant transportation methods or equipment.

No matter what capacity you require or what make or type of locomotive, truck or tractor you employ, the Easton Engineering Service aims to help you select the right containers for more profitable tonnage in every load. When writing for estimates or information please describe operating conditions and specify limiting factors such as clearance and track gauge.

EASTON PHOENIX SEMI-TRAILER. Promotes bigger payloads by combining the advantages of the famous Phoenix Car with the economies and flexibility of semi-trailer haulage. Important savings reported on every installation.

MODEL GS SEMI-TRAILER. An EASTON side-dump trailer with patented automatic down-folding door. Built to meet highway clearance standards. Shown in combination with MACK Model CH Cab-Over-Engine Tractor.

WON WAY TRUCK BODY. Also available in side-dumping containers and other variations of the same patented basic design. Available in various capacities.

CORNWALL CAR. Automatic Drop Door. Automatic drop-down folding door of patented design permits building car floor-to-rail increasing payload in relation to overall height—an important feature in mining operations. Dumped by fixed hydraulic or steam hoist.

PHOENIX CAR (patented).
Two-way side-dump. No doors. Outstanding performance in hundreds of quarries has achieved world-wide fame for the original door-less Phoenix-type car. No better body for handling shovel-loaded rock has ever been built. The same type body has proved equally successful adapted to truck or semi-trailer haulage.

ALPHA CAR. Bale Lift Door. Door is opened by the bale as rear of the car is elevated. Door lifts high for free discharge of any size stone with no possibility of injury to patented mechanism.

GRANBY CAR. Rail-Dump. Dumps to one side when roller on opposite side engages separate rail laid track. Available in various capacities.

WON WAY CAR (patented)
One-way side-dump. Has been adapted to truck and semi-trailer haulage. Bottom-hinged door forms chute with floor as body is tilted for dumping allowing free discharge of any load. Usually dumped by fixed-hoist mechanism.

PHOENIX TRUCK BODY. Dumped by Fixed Hoist. Embodying the same patented features as the famous Phoenix Car. Side dumping eliminates loss of time due to backing and saves space coat backing would require.

LOW ROCKER DUMP CAR. Gravity-Dump. Low sides for hand loading. Sturdily built for locomotive haul in trains. Well-balanced so as to minimize effort required to dump and right the body. Many variations available.

"Shield - Arc" Welder (motor driven type) for use where electric power is available.

THE NEW "SHIELD-ARC" WELDER

This new Lincoln welder, with Dual Continuous Control, permits the easy selection of both the right TYPE and the right SIZE of welding arc for every job. This fine adjustment simplifies the welding of many critical metals and alloys—jobs that were formerly difficult. Both "Job Selector" and "Current Control" are Self-Indicating, permitting quick, positive setting. The welding range is wider, too—even the largest "Shield-Arc" welders can be "throttled down" to weld the thinnest of sheets. At every current value, welding is faster . . . weld quality is higher.

All gasoline engine driven "Shield-Arc" welders are equipped with an idling device which automatically regulates speed of engine for welding and for idling. This exclusive Lincoln patented feature effects large savings in fuel and oil. Diesel engine driven welders are also available. Welders are totally enclosed by steel canopy and hinged side panels. Four types of running gear can be supplied for these units.

"Shield Arc" welders are available in ratings of 200, 300, 400 and 600 amps., motor driven, engine driven and coupled generator types. Portable and stationary models. Also, Lincoln has a line of low-priced motor driven "Shield-Arc Junior" welders in ratings of 75, 100, 150 and 200 amperes and a 200-ampere engine driven "Shield-Arc Junior" which are exceptionally popular.

Welding Electrodes

"Fleetweld" Shielded-arc type electrodes for high-speed welding on mild steel, in four grades: No. 5—For flat, vertical or overhead welding. Weld tensile strength of 65,000 to 75,000 lbs. per sq. in. No. 7—For single-pass or multiple-pass welding and poor fit-up. No. 8—For fillet welds, flat position. No. 9—For deep-groove welding, flat position.

"Shield-Arc 85"—Produces welds of 85,000 to 100,000 lbs. per sq. in. tensile strength in the low-carbon alloy steels.

"Shield-Arc 100" Produces welds of more than 100,000 lbs. per sq. in. tensile strength in high tensile steels.

"Lightweld"—Shielded-arc electrode for 16 to 24-gauge steel.

"Stainweld"—Shielded arc type electrode for welding stainless steels and for hard facing.

"Chromeweld 4-6"—For 4%-6% Chromium Steel.

"Manganweld"—For reclaiming worn austenitic manganese steel parts containing 11% to 14% manganese. Deposit has wear-resisting qualities equal to those of heat-treated cast manganese steel.

"Hardweld"—High carbon electrode—for building up worn surfaces—produces dense, tough deposit of moderate hardness, to resist shock and abrasion.

"Wearweld"—A shielded-arc electrode for refacing parts subjected to rolling or sliding, batter, sand-abrasion and repeated impact. Unusually hard, tough deposit.

"Abrasoweld"—For building up straight-carbon steel, low-alloy steel or high-manganese steel surfaces. Deposit is self-hardening—highly resistant to corrosion.

"Surfaceweld A" Alloy powder for thin overlay to resist abrasion.

"Toolweld"—Coated electrode for building super-speed cutting edges.

"Stable-Arc"—A lightly coated rod for general welding purposes on mild steel and steel castings.

"Aluminweld" Produces dense, high-strength welds in aluminum.

"Ferroweld"—For cast iron. Welds have greater tensile strength than cast iron.

"Softweld"—For machinable alloy welds in cast iron. Readily cut, drilled or tapped.

"Aerisweld"—For Bronze, Brass, Copper. A shielded-arc type electrode that gives a strong deposit with the characteristics of true phosphor bronze.

Welding Accessories

Electrode holders, cable, face and head shields, aprons, gloves, wire brushes, super-visibility lens—a complete line.

MANCHA'S ELECTRIC MULE

MANCHA'S LITTLE TRAMMER

Mancha Construction Features—

Cast Steel Chassis: All Mancha chassis, except the Little Trammer, consist of but four members—two side frames and two bumpers. All four are high grade, low carbon, annealed, soft steel castings. Bumpers have rounded ends to provide maximum clearance for rounding curves.

Oversize Motors: All Mancha locomotives are overmotored to provide for high overloads. Easy access to the motors is provided for quick inspection or adjustment.

Battery Boxes: Built to withstand wrecks and rockfalls. Hinged lids for safety and convenience on all sizes except Trammers.

Mancha's Patented Transfer Rack

Battery transfer is made quickly by means of an inclined plane. The battery furnishes the power—no manual labor is necessary. Mancha transfer racks may be used with ANY locomotive having a removable battery box.

Mancha's Little Trammer—

Trammer Ready for Cage

Mancha's Little Trammer was designed especially for metal mine use. After raising the operator's compartment, the Trammer can be run onto the mine cage for transfer from level to level. It will haul the tonnage from several levels during a single shift, and frequently saves its entire initial cost within one year.

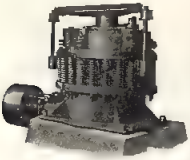
Cone Crushers



The predominance of Symons Cone Crushers in all of the world's mining fields where fine crushing is done in quantity is evidence of the superiority of this reduction crusher. Their great capacity of fine product has resulted in a material reduction in overall crushing and grinding costs, as compared with equipment previously used to do the same job. Symons Cones are furnished in two types, Standard for ordinary reduction crushing and the Short Head for making an extremely fine ball mill feed. Many of the earlier installations of Standard Cones have since been followed by Short Heads resulting in a much finer product and lower crushing costs. Symons Cones are built to meet the hard usage of mine crushing. All the major castings are of steel. Around the crusher is a circle of heavy coil springs protecting the crusher from tramp iron damage. All bearings are of bronze and readily removable. A built-in circulating pressure system provides lubrication to all bearings. With a range of sizes from 20-inch to 7-foot diameter crushing heads, there is a Symons Cone for plants large and small

Underground Shovels

This air operated, full revolving shovel is of a compact design which makes it especially adapted to working in narrow tunnels and drifts. It will load into cars at either side and at the rear. There are two types, crawler and rail mounted.

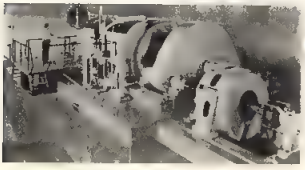
CRAWLER TYPE

Screens

Symons Screens operate in a level position and, in addition to providing closer sized materials as can only be obtained from a flat screen, they require less headroom and less installation space. They are built in 3, 3½ and 4 foot widths and in various lengths.

Track Shifter

In open pit mines and quarries where track must be shifted laterally or raised vertically, the Nordberg Track Shifter does the work of 80 men working with bars and jacks. This machine is soon paid for out of savings. It eliminates the disruption of other jobs when men are required to shift or raise track by hand



Mine Hoists

Nordberg Hoists are built for steam, air and electric drive, with the type and arrangement of drive as best suited to each individual requirement. They are found in all major mining fields, particularly where deep hoisting and heavy loads prevail.

Compressors and Blowing Engines

Compressors are built in steam and motor driven types, single and multi-stage, and in sizes up to 16,000 cubic feet per minute. Reciprocating Blowing Engines are also available in any size and for any service that may be required.

Mind Reading Mystery

This is a most unusual novelty, and far superior to anything of the kind yet brought out. It consists of a set of five cards, and by manipulating them according to the very simple directions that accompany each pack, they will tell anyone's age, or you can get them to think of a certain number, and the cards will show the numeral they thought of. The effect is most bewildering, and you actually accomplish a feat of apparent mind reading, which at a theatrical performance, would have many in the audience mystified. You can do it BLIND FOLDED, as the cards are so cleverly arranged that they will show you in plain figures that are never wrong, the right number thought of. 10c

Heyer DUPLICATOR

Economical to Operate

Demand for a really efficient duplicating device at a price within the reach of all has been self-evident for a long time, and after much persuasion, we have at last succeeded in inducing a leading manufacturer to turn out the HEYER HEKTOGRAPH, as illustrated.

It is very easy to use, so simple, in fact, that even a child can run off copies along with the most experienced. To use the Duplicator, write the original copy in the ordinary way with Duplicator Ink, and allow it to dry. An impression of this original is then transferred to the gelatine or composition surface of the Duplicator. This is accomplished by placing the copy on the composition of the Duplicator writing side down. Rub your hand over the surface of the paper and leave it for a few moments. Remove the paper and you will find an exact facsimile transferred to the Duplicator. You can then go ahead and take off 50 or more copies by placing sheets of paper on the Duplicator one by one & slight pressure producing clear, legible copies.

TALK over these TELEPHONES

No Electricity - - No Batteries

Special Transmission Cord Carries Voice

With this set of very novel telephones, you may have lots of fun talking to your friends. Two way conversations can be carried on from one room to another or even from one house to another if not separated by too great a distance. If used according to the instructions, the voice can be heard quite clearly for reasonable distances. Two instruments are supplied—one person holds one to the ear while the other talks directly into the diaphragm of the other. The sensitive transmission thread will carry the vibrations, permitting two-way conversation to be carried on.

Really Talk Over These Phones!

NO ELECTRICITY—NO BATTERIES—NO COST TO OPERATE. One dime is all it costs you, for BOTH PHONES, and they operate without any expense to you. No batteries—no electricity—no expense. It hardly seems possible at the price but there they are, skeptical, why not risk 10 cents and find out for yourself? While we sell them merely as clever toys, there is no reason why you should not put the set to practical uses if you care to. Remember, the set consists of two phones, a supply of transmission cord, and complete printed directions that are easy to follow. By buying three sets at a time, the price is even less still!

Metal Telephones

Complete With Transmission Cord No Batteries - No Electricity

This is a set of toy phones of somewhat better construction and finish. Made entirely of metal with the exception of the diaphragm and the transmission cord. The manufacturer calls it the "Whisper Fone," as you can whisper into it and still be plainly heard by the person at the other end, if the directions are followed. Two phones for two-way communication. No batteries—no electricity—hence it costs nothing for upkeep.

Because of their educational and entertainment value, non-electric toy telephones have proven great favorites. The possibility of putting the telephones to practical use is by no means out of the picture.

Learn Telegraphy With This 3-Way Telegraph Set

It Flashes - It Buzzes And It Clicks

This is one of the newest and most efficient telegraph sets sold at a low price. It is actually 3 instruments in one, for with it 3 different methods of signaling can be used: (1) Signal (flash), (2) Telegraph (click), and (3) Radio Buzz. Placing the switch on the top contact causes the instrument to act as a signal light, the center contact is for telegraph clicks, the bottom contact is for the radio buzz. It is simple enough for a child, yet complete enough for a telegrapher. To operate, simply connect up with sufficient copper wire as per instructions, and place 2 flashlight batteries in each instrument used singly or together, for one or two way transmission. The set has the unqualified approval of the Postal Telegraph Company and we cannot speak too highly of the quality and efficiency of it. Made of sheet metal, painted in regulation "Postal Telegraph blue," with the International code on each instrument. 2 flashlight bulbs and a supply of miniature Postal Telegraph blanks. Batteries not included. Get this set and learn to become a telegraph operator.

DULUX MARINE FINISHES

THE TREND OF BOAT OWNERS to use more color—brighter, gayer colors—which has been noticed during past seasons will continue during 1940. In acknowledgment of this trend, du Pont has added Bimini Blue to the line of ship and deck finishes and will soon introduce three more colors, a gray, a green, and a deeper blue to give captains and boat owners an even wider choice of colors for 1940.

Bimini Blue is a gray-green blue of great beauty. It is named in honor of that sailors' paradise, Bimini Bay. From a more practical standpoint, it has a durability equalled only by other du Pont ship and deck finishes. This is particularly noteworthy in a blue, as all yachtsmen and captains know that blues often fade badly. While Bimini Blue is not called a non-fading blue, its pigmentation is such as to enable it to retain its color far longer than other blues.

The application properties of these new colors are the same as those of other du Pont Ship and Deck Finishes. They dry quickly so that a boat can be put in service without unnecessary delay, yet not so quickly as to prevent care in application. They dry hard without any after-tack. This means that Dulux will not smudge easily and that it tends to shed rather than to pick up and retain dirt. It resists discoloration from hydrogen sulphide gases so often found in harbor waters. It is also oil and gasoline resistant.

Dulux Marine Boottopping colors—black, white, red and green—are a recent addition to the Dulux Marine Line. They have been found to have excellent resistance to the various conditions that affect the boat at the water line.

Dulux Marine Paint & Varnish Remover is a new addition to the du Pont Marine family. It has a much heavier body than many Removers sold for general household use. This heavy body enables it to cling more readily to vertical surfaces. It also stays wet longer than the average remover. Applied in a thick film and allowed to remain on the surface for a longer time than ordinary removers, it loosens the film more thoroughly so that much less scraping and sweating are necessary.

DRY ICE GAS AS FIRE FIGHTER

CARBON DIOXIDE, the gas that makes soft-drinks effervescent and, in dry-ice form, freezes perishable foods, now is recognized by engineers as one of the fastest and surest fire-extinguishing materials ever developed. In recent years, industrial research has multiplied the uses for this non-toxic gas, which is obtained in abundant quantities from coke.

Carbon dioxide extinguishers, whether built-in or portable, consist of cylinders holding liquid and gaseous carbon dioxide under high pressure. When discharged through pipes or hose at a fire, the gas dilutes the normal oxygen content of the air to a point where combustion cannot be supported and the fire dies. Flammable liquids and electrical fires are particularly susceptible to this type of smothering.

The first-known use of this by-product gas for fire-fighting goes back several years to a pier in the Thames River in London. An engineer of Walter Kidde & Company, now leading American producers of carbonic gas equipment, rented a cargo ship, installed cylinders and valves, and drenched the hold with gasoline and oil. Setting it afire before assembled London ship-owners, he soon had a roaring blaze, which he extinguished by discharging a cloud of gas in the hold. Today hundreds of thousands of pounds of gas are sailing the seas in cargo ships, tankers, and liners, waiting to be discharged at the first sign of fire.

SAF-AIR FENDERS

THE THEORY of the pneumatic tire has been applied to fenders for boats by the Kirlin Co., of Detroit, Mich. They are made with an extra heavy duck casing and contain a durable bladder of extra heavy rubber which carries a five year guarantee. These fenders are resilient to a varying degree depending on the pressure of inflation. A standard tire valve is used and one check-up per year is sufficient to maintain the proper inflation. They will not absorb water and are lighter in weight than other types. They will float and in an emergency can serve as life preservers; several tied together will make a satisfactory raft. When crushed between a boat and dock, a 10 pound pressure will indent the casing only ½ inch. A greater pressure up to 3000 pounds indents them to four inches. Their elasticity is such that they will push back against the boat to the extent of their pressure. They are used on boats of all sizes and an oak auxiliary fender is recommended to take the chafe of the dock and also to distribute pressure over greater areas. Two sizes are standard, 7 by 24 inches, and 10 by 39 inches.

PRECISION NAVIGATING INSTRUMENTS

ANY instrument for navigation purposes is of little value unless it is built to high standards of precision. Evidence that this characteristic is built into the instruments made by Kelvin-White Company, of Boston and New York, is found in their general acceptance for use in vessels of Governmental departments such as the U. S. Coast Guard and the U. S. Maritime Commission. An ever increasing number of installations in other Government vessels and private yachts as well is excellent testimony of their fine construction and reliability. In the few years during which it has been on the market, the Kelvin-White spherical compass has become one of the most popular among yachtsmen, who appreciate its steady card and easy reading characteristics. Their commuter binnacle which will accommodate one of the 5-inch spherical compasses is another of the more popular items.

Not long ago Kelvin-White introduced a compass mounting bracket which would permit quick transfer of a compass to any one of several stations aboard ship without the use of tools. This fixture is non-magnetic, being made of bronze, in an attractive finish. It will take the standard 5-inch spherical compass.

Other featured items in the Kelvin-White line are the observer compass, telemagnetic compass, Alnor velometer, all metal parallel rules, Kenyon speedometer and log, Fisher Pierce speedometer and log and Walker logs and depth gauges.

DURABLE ENAMEL FOR YACHT PROTECTION

INTERLUX enamel, a product of the International Paint Company, Inc., of New York and San Francisco, has earned for itself a reputation of being practically indestructible in the exacting service to which marine paints are invariably subjected. Strong sun, changes in temperature, moisture and salt atmosphere, all have a tendency to break down any but the most durable of finishes Professional painters in boat yards and individuals as well who make a practice of applying their own paint, have all found that a good high quality enamel not only makes a better looking job, but flows on easily and can be depended upon to stand up to a season's service. For this reason International's Interlux enamel has been widely used in boatyards by master painters for both interior and exterior use.

Interlux enamel is available not only in white but also a wide range of colors. It has excellent covering qualities regardless of the color or type of paint over which it is applied. It is self-levelling and dries quickly Engine fumes are another destructive agent which paint must frequently resist and from this angle too, Interlux has demonstrated its superiority. Marsh gases, present in some localities, have no effect upon it. When surface dirt is scrubbed off an Interlux-protected hull, the original fine luster is immediately restored. A descriptive color card is available showing the various colors of Interlux, which can be used as they come from the can or blended with each other to obtain practically any color or shade

SMALL BOAT WINDLASS

THE National Electric Windlass Co., (NEWCO products) 148 State Street, Boston, Massachusetts, have developed a brand new design in an electric anchor windlass for the average sized boat. This design is unique, compact, streamlined and distinctly nautical in appearance. It is the result of a combination of the experience and knowledge of one of the foremost naval architects, with the practical ingenuity of experienced marine engineers. It is an added attraction to any boat on which installed and will handle efficiently and break out any anchor within the weight range for which it is recommended. Various sizes are available in this design.

This new design is a product of George Lawley & Son Corporation, well-known boat builders. It has been designed and constructed for the specific needs of the average boat owner and when operated as directed it has ample reserve power and a wide range of uses. It can be applied to hoisting of anchors and sails, as well as hauling boats on private marine railways and miscellaneous jobs at boat yards. Careful consideration has been given to the need of deck space and the installation of a Newco consumes very little space either above or below deck. Electrical consumption is low and motor efficiency is maintained through the automatic reduction of speed with the increase in load. The installation problem is negligible and a Newco can easily be installed by any boat yard.

THE STORY OF ARIZONA

the death of Elder in '70 became the head of the firm. The Elder yard already had an enviable reputation but had turned out no record-breaking liners when Guion ordered Arizona to be built there from designs by Pearce.

"She was, or rather is, for I take it her hull is still sound, an iron ship 465 feet long, but you gentlemen know more about her than I do and I have already described her machinery.

"You can imagine how I'd sat and listened to Guion tell us of all this. As a boy I'd always been a bit daft about ships, and there I was, hearing from Guion himself how he had come to build what was generally conceded to be the finest ship afloat, the sound of his voice being accompanied by the steady throb-throb-throb of her engines. I can remember the scene perfectly. How could I forget it? Guion had finished talking, the crowd around him had broken up and was re-forming around a chap who was getting up the pool on the next day's run. A couple of men came in from the deck and said it had turned very cold. A piano could be heard faintly from the saloon below, then the beginning of a song. It was interrupted by a terrific shuddering crash!"

"YOU can't imagine the appalling suddenness of the thing. At one moment nothing was further from our thoughts than an accident Then came that awful crash and those on their feet in the smoking room were either flung to the deck or thrown into a struggling heap on a settee at the forward end of the room. The throb of the engine stopped almost instantly and there was a moment of deathly stillness. Then a hubbub of voices arose and we heard the hysterical screaming of a woman from the saloon A moment later there was a rush for the deck, not a rush for the boats you understand, but a wild scramble to get on deck to see what had happened.

"Dad and I were among the first to reach the door. A glance forward told the story. Arizona's bow, or what was left of it, was literally buried in a huge iceberg which towered sixty or seventy feet above us. Tons of shattered ice from the face of the berg lay on the turtle deck and made it impossible to see much of the bow Captain Jones had been below when the ship struck and as he reached the bridge above he called out, 'My God! Where were your eyes?'

"Dad turned to me, 'We must get Mother, the ship can't float long'

"The saloon, when we reached it, was a scene of indescribable confusion. A number of women were hysterical, a number had fainted, and broken glass and other debris from smashed fixtures lay all over the place. Some of the women, however, were as collected as if shipwreck were an everyday affair in their lives. These went about quieting and reviving those whose nerves had been unequal to the occasion and giving first aid to others who had been hurt when flung off their feet. Mother, thank God, was unhurt and managed a smile when we reached her."

The speaker paused, lighted a fresh cigarette, and then asked for the sheet of note paper on which he had copied the engine room log. "I'll read you a clipping from the Times, the London Times, which is pasted to the back of it as it describes better than I can what had gone on in the saloon. It is a copy of a letter which the paper published on November 24th and was written by one of the ladies in the saloon. The letter is headed, 'Steamship Arizona, near St. Johns, Newfoundland, November 8th, 1879,' and goes on to say:

"'YOU will, I fear, all be thinking very anxiously about us. We are all safe and well, thank God, but we have had a narrow escape. Any other ship must have sunk with such an iceberg on her. You never saw such a wreck as the bow of the Arizona is, and only for her watertight compartments we should all be buried under the waves. The iceberg struck us at nine five last evening (Friday). A great many of the passengers had assembled in the saloon for music and ——— and myself, and two gentlemen were singing "See our oars with feathered spray" when the crash came. Some were dashed from one side of the saloon to the other, lamps, glasses, plants and flowers were flying over our heads in the wildest confusion. I saved myself and ——— by holding on to the piano which is screwed to the floor. Some of the poor ladies had their heads and faces cut, but there was no

TELESCOPE MOUNTS

WEAVER

TYPE B.

A bridge mount designed to hold the scope in a very low position and to make it practically an integral part of the gun. Because the mount gives results as good as though the bases were machined from the solid metal of the gun itself, its reliability is unexcelled. The scope and mounts can be easily detached and replaced in exact position. When removed no parts remain on the gun to detract from its appearance, the scope and mounts are detachable in one complete unit including the attaching screws which remain in the mount bases. These screws are heat treated, the heads are knurled and coin slotted, the bearing portion is tapered for best accuracy and greatest binding force. Simple instructions for mounting, which is not difficult, are furnished. No cutting of a fine stock is necessary

Type B. . . . . . Each $5 50

TYPE T

A side bracket design mount It is made of tough alloy steel and with the exception of the upper scope clamps is of one piece construction. The base portion is reinforced, the clamps grip the scope as tightly as if they were welded to the tube. Mounting on the gun is not hard to do, no stock cutting is required. This mount has been thoroughly proved under all conditions and on rifles of all calibers including the powerful .375 Magnum. It is quickly removable from the gun and is held securely by large hardened screws having knurled and coin slotted heads and tapered binding surfaces, which hold the base in accurate alignment.

Type T. .....Each $1 95

REDFIELD JUNIOR

Made with a one-piece base, and utilizes the same circular dovetail principle that characterizes all Redfield mounts. This dovetail is composed of a male and female member, as shown in the illustration. When the dovetail is rotated into position, it produces a combination of rigidity and strength that withstands recoil and holds the scope firmly in place under all conditions. Windage adjustments are made with opposing screws. One screw remains permanently set so that scope always returns to zero when it is put in position on the rifle. Only one screw needs to be loosened for removal or replacement of scope. The distance from center of front mount to center of rear mount is four inches This distance is important as the greater distance between mounts the less liability there is of the scope tube being bent or knocked out of alignment during rough usage. The rear ring is held to the base by an opposing screw system that works much like a vise. The left-hand screw is known as the point blank windage screw and should never be moved after the rifle has been sighted in. The screw on the right-hand side is the right-hand windage screw, or detaching screw. These large headed screws are hardened and buried in the base block. When the detaching screw is tightened the rear scope ring is clamped solidly between the screws as well as held tightly to the base block. These screws are provided with coin slots and a 25-cent piece or an ordinary iron washer carried on the sportsman's key ring will adjust them. To adjust for windage simply loosen one screw, then set the opposing screw up tight If the rifle shoots too far to the right, move the windage screws to the left. To remove the scope from the rifle simply remove the right-hand windage screw, then push the scope off to the right until it can be lifted out of the front mount. To replace the scope, reverse this operation, pulling the scope ring against the point blank windage screw. Then replace the right-hand screw and your scope is back into its original position. The scope can be removed and replaced time after time without changing point of impact in the least. For most .22 cal. and high powered rifles. Wt ea., 4½ ozs

It Looks Like A Deadly Weapon, But It Is Merely A Novel Cigarette Case.

Send at once and have all the FUN before everybody has one

It Is Protective and Amusing "Smoke - But No Powder"

This is the newest Parisian vogue that is said to have been taken up by both ladies and gentlemen as an effective protection against the attacks of "Apaches," as the French gangsters are called. The Cigarette Case looks so like an Automatic Quick-Firing Repeater Pistol that the "tough" fears he will have half-a-dozen bullets pumped into him while he waits. This clever contrivance is said to have proved itself better than the real thing in many an awkward encounter. Then there is fun to be had "sticking-up" your friends. They squirm and protest that 'you shouldn't point a pistol at anyone, it might be loaded." "Oh! it's loaded all right!" you reply and deliberately pull the trigger, remarking "Try a smoke to soothe your nerves." The Automatic Pistol Cigarette Case is very well made, entirely of metal. At first glance you might think it was a deadly automatic. It weighs only two ounces. It can be easily carried in the pocket, being but little, if any, larger than many cigarette cases. By pulling the trigger the slide flies open and discloses the tempting "weeds" snugly packed where the more lethal cartridges would be in a genuine weapon.

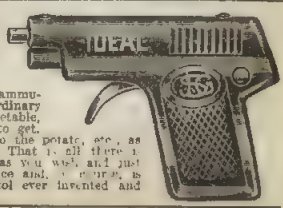
POTATO PISTOL

USE POTATO OR TURNIP FOR AMMUNITION



One of the most ingenious of all toy pistols. For ammunition, all you need is an ordinary potato, turnip or similar vegetable, and that shouldn't be hard to get.

You merely place the point of the barrel of the pistol into the potato, etc., as shown in the illustration, withdraw the pistol, aim and fire! That is all there is to it. What could be simpler? You can repeat this as often as you wish and just as fast as you can load and fire. It shoots for a fair distance and, of course, is quite free from danger. It is perhaps the most harmless pistol ever invented and there are few girls which you can have more fun.

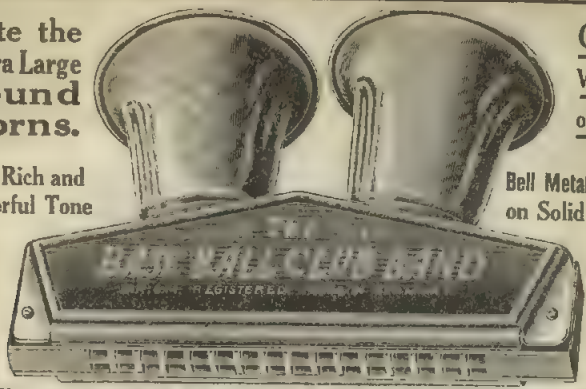
The Baseball Club Band Mouth Organ

Note the Extra Large Sound Horns.

Very Rich and Powerful Tone

Great Volume of Tone

Bell Metal Reeds on Solid Brass



THIS is a very popular type of Mouth Organ, having 32 Bell Metal Reeds, riveted on solid brass plates. There are two large horns attached, which not only increase the sound, but bring out each individual note much more clearly than would otherwise be the case. The Mouth Organ is exceptionally well made, and is not quite five inches long. The reeds are entirely protected by the metal covering, thus excluding much of the dust and dirt that would otherwise accumulate. The result is a much cleaner and better toned Mouth Organ. We confidently assert that this is one of the finest harmonicas made.

The New Improved Radio-Band Jazz Mouth Organ

Unusually Loud, Yet Sweet In Tone.

40 BELL METAL REEDS ON REAL BRASS PLATES.

THE illustration will give you a very good idea as to the general appearance of this Mouth Organ, but it must be seen and heard to be appreciated. This is the same brand as our "Radio Band" Mouth Organ Number 4456 listed elsewhere in this catalog, but the manufacturers in response to popular demand, have added some notable improvements, with a view of intensifying sound and at same time enabling performer to produce jazz and swing effects. This is accomplished by making the metal case cylindrical in shape, with large bell-shaped attachment at one end. This has the effect of forcing the sounds through the ends, the metal bell having the effect of greatly intensifying the music, without detracting from its beautiful sonorous tone for which this instrument is so justly famous. By manipulating the hands over either end various jazz or tremolo effects can be obtained. The instrument is a magnificent piece of workmanship. It measures nearly eleven inches long from end to end. There are 40 Bell Metal Reeds on real Brass Plates that produce the most beautiful and clear music of a ringing organ tone perfectly blended. If you want a Mouth Organ that will carry the tone for a considerable distance, yet without distortion, we can thoroughly recommend this one. Each instrument comes packed in a nice box, and our price includes postage. Obtainable in all keys. Please specify if any particular key is desired. $2.50

IT'S SO VERY EASY TO PLAY

The Fluta Accordeon

Loud and Clear Very Sweet Tone

The Same Fingering as an Accordeon

Price Only $1.50

THE FLUTA ACCORDEON is a great improvement upon most reed wind instruments. It is very easy to play. Anyone who can read ordinary print can understand the Special Chart of Popular Tunes, that has no notes at all, only figures, that enable anyone to play without knowing anything about music. You have merely to press the keys according to the numbers, at the same time supplying the wind through the mouthpiece, and you hear the tune, with a full and rich accompaniment of tenor and bass chords. You may not know just how you do it, but the music is loud and clear, yet exceedingly pleasant and harmonious, like a little band.

Two Or Three Of These Can Imitate A Well Balanced Band

In ordinary accordeons the bellows needs careful management to keep up the supply of wind; the Fluta Accordeon has always plenty of wind. The bellows is also the weak part of ordinary accordeons, that usually wears out first. The Fluta Accordeon has no bellows to wear out. The Fluta Accordeon is well constructed and the reeds are set in moisture resisting cement, thus the breath when playing will not clog the reed plates and spoil the instrument, as so often happens with mouth organs and blow accordeons. The manufacturers adopted this improved principle in compliance with many requests. The case of the instrument is very strongly made it will last a long time with reasonable care. The keys, the mouthpiece and the trumpet are of metal, nickel-plated, and the valves are covered with a protecting material, making them perfectly air-tight.

Rapid Fingering For Fast Dance Music Is Simplified

When playing, both hands are used in the most natural and easy manner, so that rapid fingering for fast dance music, such as fox trots, reels, jigs, hornpipes, etc., is not at all difficult, as it is with most instruments. Altogether the Fluta Accordeon is certain to become as popular here as it has elsewhere. You should order at once. Remember, you get the Fluta Accordeon with full directions, and the Special Chart of Popular Tunes, carefully packed in a neat box and delivered postpaid.

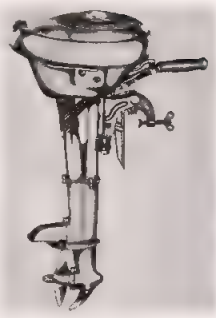
SURE-STARTING OUTBOARDS



The 2½ h.p. Eclipse air-cooled outboard Model SMD, built by Bendix of Brooklyn

SINCE the first outboard motor brought its measurable degree of relief to the oarsman's aching arms, year after year has seen engineering efforts in one of three directions where improved performance seemed desirable—in power, in handiness or in reliability.

Prime factor contributing to outboard motor reliability is, of course, the relative ease of starting. This, according to engineers of Bendix Aviation Corporation's Marine Division, Brooklyn New York, involves the two functions of carburetion and ignition more than any other elements of outboard motor design. For this reason, they state, ignition and carburetion in the Bendix-built Eclipse Air-Cooled Outboard Motors have been developed to a point of efficiency largely made possible through the vast amount of data available because of Bendix' research work in the aircraft and automobile industries.

Through the use of a new nickel-aluminum alloy of extremely high coercive force (seven times that of ordinary chrome magnet steels) in the fixed magnets, a spark of great intensity is produced, even at low cranking speeds. The result is a 15,000-volt potential at the spark plug electrodes, assuring easy starting even under adverse conditions of fuel and temperature. This characteristic, it is claimed, makes the precise setting of spark and throttle levers as well as spark plug gap setting, very much less critical in Eclipse motors.

Similarly, the vital function of carburetion was developed, according to Bendix engineers, especially for Eclipse outboard motors by Stromberg, another Bendix manufacturing division for years the world's largest manufacturer of aircraft and automotive carburetors. This Eclipse outboard carburetion is of the full float-feed type, having both high-speed and low-speed adjustments. Synchronized one-lever control of spark and throttle has been developed to the point where the motor may be manipulated with ease even in total darkness.

The Eclipse Outboard Motors are available currently in two popular models—the 5.01 cubic inch single cylinder, 2½ h.p. Model SMD and the 10.02 cubic inch twin, 5 h.p. Model TMD, both virtually unchanged in size, basic design and appearance from the corresponding motors of last season.

Both of the above motors are available also in inboard models, with built-in reverse gear providing forward, reverse and neutral. These inboard models, completely self-contained, their fuel tanks integral with the streamlined enclosures, have become widely popular for installation in dinghies or other yacht tenders.

The New Fortune Design

The New Fortune Design. For medium-priced silverware, this new Fortune design sets absolutely new standards of refinement in form, balance and richness of ornamental detail.

See how the handle and delicate side-flutes sweep up and outward in a beautifully modern style. And how the floral decoration is deeply cut to provide a dramatic richness so popular in silverware today.

Show Fortune first, and see how women love it.

THE SPEED OF WALTER JOHNSON! Christy Mathewson's fadeaway! "Nap" Rucker's knuckler! Will any modern pitcher ever equal the performances, exceed the skill of those old masters? If a pitcher should dim the accomplishments of those baseball immortals, he'll have to learn the fundamentals as explained in this book on pitching—and here's your chance to likewise study and

HOW TO PITCH THE

Fadeaway ★ Smoke Ball
Curves ★ Knuckle Ball
Shadow Pitching And Control

Prepares you mentally, morally and physically to become a great baseball player and a great athlete. Special course of lessons by CHRISTY MATHEWSON, who explains the secret of how to throw the great "FADEWAY" ball, so much feared by the great batters; ED WALSH, the pitcher who discovered the secret of throwing that famous, mystifying and almost unhitable "SPIT BALL;" JOE WOOD, the "Smoke Ball" marvel, next to the speediest pitcher in the world; WALTER JOHNSON, the man who once struck out more league batters in a single season than any other star pitcher. NAP RUCKER, inventor of the "Knuckle Ball;" and DOC WHITE, who teaches you the art of Shadow pitching, by which you may develop control and speed necessary to become a star pitcher. Clearly described and illustrated by 56 pictures. Everything complete.

In addition to the complete course of lessons, which are written and explained in simple language so any intelligent boy may understand them, and illustrated by 56 pictures reproduced from actual photos of some of the most famous baseball pitchers of their time, a correct diagram of a baseball field is given showing the correct measurements, and an enlarged section showing the home plate, and the Official Pitching Rules are given. The work is edited by Irwin M. Howe, an eminent baseball writer and authority, who for many years was the OFFICIAL STATISTICIAN of the American League. MONTRÉAL . . . City of old-world French cuisine and new-world air-conditioning . . . Modern office buildings sprung up beside Notre-Dame Church and, in their shadows, ancient convents as old as the white man's America . . . A modern port, almost as great as New York's, a thousand miles from the sea, its teeming docks abutting on the cobbled streets of Maisonneuve's day . . . Museums that hold the relics of Indian days . . and, from the top of Mount Royal, neon signs winking in the distance. That's Montréal, North America's great city of contrasts, its most intriguing and charming metropolis, where the cop on the corner calls you M'sieu or Madame and directs you to your hotel in the accents of Normandy.

As with Montréal, so it is with all this land of subtle charm, this Québec, the Province just across your invisible border. Neighbors need no passports here. Atlas Diesels keep Rolling through the Years at Very Moderate Cost

There is an old saying that, if a thing happens once it is an ACCIDENT, if it happens twice it is a COINCIDENCE, if it happens three times it is a HABIT.

The excellent performance of Atlas Diesels for the American Tug Boat Company of Everett, Washington, is not confined to one boat. Pictured here are four of their tugs . . . with the records of their performance.

Basing his conclusions on the records of Atlas Diesels in these four work boats, Mr. Ben McLennan, port engineer of this company says: "Atlas Diesels are good, reliable engines, any way you look at them. They never fail to start, due to any fault of the engine. They always bring their boats home. They keep rolling throughout the years at a very moderate cost."

As you can see from this map, Southern Pacific lines serve the great Southwest where summer spends the winter . . . romantic New Orleans, the friendly Arizona guest ranches and resorts, Palm Springs and all of Southern California (All-Winter Sun Festival starts December 1), Santa Barbara, Del Monte and San Francisco . . . Yosemite and the Sugar Bowl, where you can ski in powder snow under a warm winter sun.

Why not speed away from winter soon on a fine, luxurious Southern Pacific train the Sunset Limited from New Orleans or the Golden State Limited from Chicago (extra fine service for no extra fare). Or board our famous Streamliner City of San Francisco, the Forty-Niner or the Overland Limited, straight across the continent to the Golden Gate. HOW TO

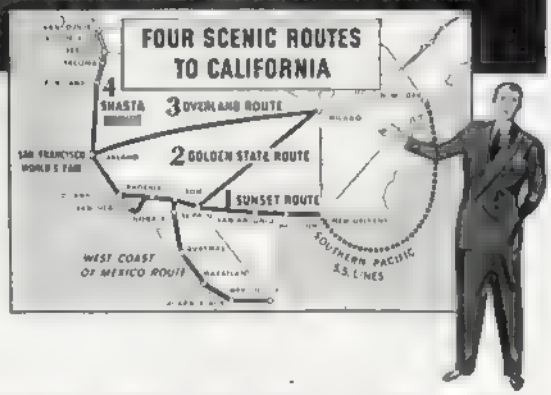
See Twice as Much of the West

ON YOUR TRIP TO CALIFORNIA AND THE

San Francisco World's Fair



If you plan to visit the San Francisco World's Fair this summer, why not see the rest of the West, too?

Southern Pacific offers you a simple, easy way to see twice as much of the West for not 1¢ extra rail fare.

As you can see from the map, we have Four Scenic Routes to California instead of one. By going to San Francisco on one of these routes and returning on another S. P. route, you actually see twice as much as you would by going and returning on the same route!

For example, go to San Francisco on Southern Pacific's famous Sunset Limited or Argonaut, tracing the romantic Sunset Route through New Orleans, the Old South, Texas, Southern Arizona and Southern California. Return on our historic Overland Route aboard the swift Streamliner City of San Francisco, the royal Forty-Niner, the Overland Limited, Pacific Limited, or the money-saving San Francisco Challenger (good meals for 90¢ a day). See the High Sierra and the Rockies. Cross Great Salt Lake on the spectacular Lucin Causeway.

That's one way to see twice as much. Another way is to go on Southern Pacific's great Golden State Limited or the friendly Californian (all chair car and tourist train with 90¢ a day meals and stewardess-nurse). See El Paso and the Mexican Border country, the spectacular underground fairyland of Carlsbad Caverns National Park (a $9.75 side trip), Southern California and the San Francisco World's Fair. Return on Southern Pacific's de luxe Cascade through the Pacific Northwest, with side trips (if you wish) to the Redwood Empire and Crater Lake National Park.

The bigger and better San Francisco World's Fair opens May 25 and closes September 29, 1940.

Mail this coupon today for free, illustrated booklets describing the 1940 San Francisco World's Fair and our Four Scenic Routes. Address O. P. Bartlett, Dept. NT-4, 310 So. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

IN A STUDEBAKER

OVERSEAS travel is out of the question this spring of 1940, of course.

So why not decide to see your own America at its loveliest? Enjoy the fascinating spectacle of Nature awakening from her winter slumber. Get started now, before the highways are thronged.

Traveling anywhere is delightful in a restful-riding, sure-footed, soundly built Studebaker Commander.

And you have the dollar-saving satisfaction of driving the car that took first place in this year's Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Sweepstakes with an average of 24.72 miles per gallon.

And, the Raymond Loewy styling of your Commander is the last word.

It's much easier than you may think, to be a proud Commander owner. This distinctive, long-lasting car costs only a little more a month than a Studebaker Champion, on which prices begin at $660, delivered at the factory, South Bend, Indiana. C.I.T. terms. See your local Studebaker dealer now.

What's more, thousands of delighted owners can tell you that this Commander often runs hundreds of miles on a single filling of gasoline — and that the levelizing action of its planar independent suspension and finest hydraulic shock absorbers makes even trackless terrain seem smooth.

Yet this beautiful, sure-footed, spacious living room on wheels costs almost as little per month as a Studebaker Champion, on which prices begin at $660 delivered at the factory.

See your local Studebaker dealer now—arrange to drive this value-loaded Commander 10 revealing miles. Your present car can help you become the proud owner of this smart, safe, saving Studebaker Commander on easy C.I.T. terms.

The Nia of the trees, the earth, the air and the rivers

ACCORDING to an African explorer, when a chief goes on a journey from Zouahounien, in Africa, it is customary for him to make an offering to the spirits, called nia, of the trees and the earth and the air and the rivers

To the nia of the air, he may offer a wreath of leaves, scattering the leaves to the wind and to gain the good will of nia of the earth he may enclose some dust in a leather charm.

His offering to the nia of the rivers is likely to be a bracelet tossed into a forest pool. And to the nia of the trees, a customary offering is a white, new-laid egg, buried by a virgin at the foot of a sacred tree

These rites performed, the traveler feels that he has done all he can to protect himself from the hazards of the journey

While civilized man has no magic rites to ward off the perils of a trip, he has a very powerful magic that protects him from the consequences of mischances that occur. This powerful magic is insurance. In case of a smash-up in your car, Travelers liability insurance protects your home, your savings, and your future earnings from being taken away from you by a verdict of the court. And since The Travelers has representatives nearby, wherever you may be in the United States or Canada, you suffer a minimum of inconvenience or delay waiting for one to arrive and shoulder your responsibilities

Equally important is a Travelers accident policy It will take care of your medical expenses and pay you for the time you lose away from your job

Let your hometown Travelers agent or insurance broker see to it that you have adequate coverage

The five unlucky days of the Aztec Indians

THE AZTEC INDIANS divided their solar year into eighteen months of twenty days each.

The five days left over belonged to no month, and they were regarded as peculiarly unlucky. Particularly that series of five days which fell every fifty-second year.

At this time the Aztecs abandoned themselves to despair. They smashed the small images of their household gods. They destroyed their furniture and their household utensils. They let the holy fires die out in the temples.

On the evening of the final day sacrifices were made to the gods. And as huge fires flicked their tongues into the dark sky, couriers ran throughout the nation, proclaiming that the gods of evil had been placated and that joy should reign again.

Today, few men believe that the year can be divided into days that are lucky and days that are not. Misfortune strikes at unpredictable moments, and no man knows beforehand when.

But modern man has found a way to alleviate such misfortune, no matter when or where it falls. That way is insurance.

If, on some unlucky day, you suddenly get yourself hurt, accident insurance will take care of your doctor and hospital expenses; and it will provide you with an income while you are laid up.

If you injure someone with your car, automobile liability insurance will protect you from the dangers of lawsuits and heavy damage payments.

And if something should happen to you, life insurance, as you know, can provide an income for your family that will allow them to live pleasantly in the home they hold so dear.

Why don't you discuss your individual insurance problems with your local Travelers agent or insurance broker?

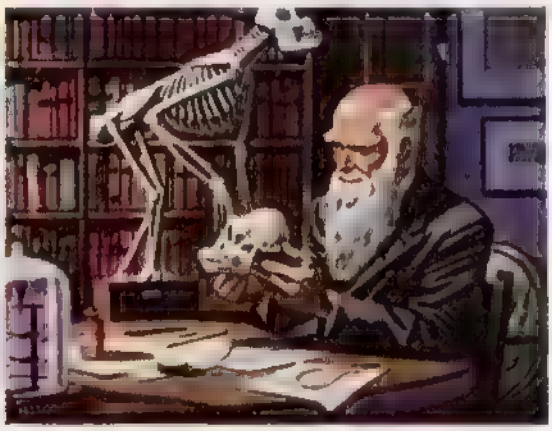
Leonardo da Vinci

Charles Darwin

1. CHARLEMAGNE believed that only by constant study could a man become a good ruler and a wise man. He brought Alcuin, the greatest teacher of the age, to his court to instruct him and the nobility in civil law and statesmanship. And in his zeal to learn everything with all speed, he even mastered a form of shorthand

2. LEONARDO DA VINCI also felt that continual study was the road to perfection. To improve his painting, he studied the science of optics and even dissected the human body. He had great contempt for painters who lacked knowledge of anatomy and he said that the nude figures they drew looked like sacks of walnuts



3. CHARLES DARWIN was one of the most patient students of all time. For 20 years he worked night and day reading and collecting experimental proof for his monumental work on evolution, The Origin of Species. He once said, "When I am obliged to give up observation and experiment, I shall die"

4. THE FACT that a man should perfect himself in his craft by constant study applies to insurance men, too.

For this reason, The Travelers has established schools where representatives can take free courses covering all types of insurance; and regularly The Travelers Companies inform agents and brokers about developments in the insurance business

Thus, The Travelers men acquire a far broader knowledge of insurance than they could acquire in the school of experience alone; and this knowledge can be of great help to you

The Traveling Fortress

CLAUSILIA TRIDENS, like the other snails in its genus, has a shell at whose base is a small lid or door

Clausilia can open or shut this lid at will

When on a journey, the snail can never tell when danger will strike. So he carries his shell along and when he meets an enemy he retreats into his traveling fortress and closes the door up tight. Thus he is protected from the danger without

In the story of Clausilia tridens there is a lesson for every man who owns an automobile. For the automobile owner, every time he sets out on a journey in his car, is exposed to many dangers, too; and he needs a "lid" which will protect him from as many of these perils as possible.

Fortunately, there is such a lid and it is called insurance. If you injure someone in a motor accident, Travelers auto liability insurance will relieve you of worry

It will settle claims amicably, out of court, whenever possible. It will lift attachments which might otherwise be fastened on your car, your bank account, your home, or your earnings. If you are sued, it will provide for your defense, cover the costs and pay any verdicts within the limits of your policy. And since there are Travelers representatives in all parts of the U. S. and Canada, all details are taken off your shoulders promptly.

In case you, yourself, are injured, Travelers accident insurance will take another big worry off your mind. Your hospital and medical expenses can be taken care of. And, during the time you are unable to work, there can be a Travelers check coming in to replace your pay check

See that you have an air-tight lid before you venture forth on the road. See that you have both automobile and personal accident insurance adequate to your needs.

Your local Travelers agent will be glad to explain to you these two important types of insurance.

The ancient custom of sieving the baby

IN THE DAKHLA OASIS of the Libyan Desert a curious ceremony takes place on the 7th day after a baby is born.

A pinch of salt and a little wheat, barley, and rice are placed in a large sieve. The baby is put in, too, and a woman shakes the sieve

The grain that falls to the ground is then collected and tossed to the four points of the compass. All this is supposed to act as a charm to ward off mishap when the child goes traveling in future years.

As you know, no such ceremony "protects" the child or man in this land when he takes to the road in a car. But there is a charm known as insurance that protects you from many of the troubles you are liable to encounter.

Auto Liability Insurance with The Travelers will take care of the troubles that so often come if you hurt other people in a motor smash-up. It helps settle claims out of court. In case of lawsuit, it takes over and pays for your defense and, should the suit be lost, pays all damage judgments within the limit of the policy. This is important, because such a judgment can be so heavy that, if you are uninsured, you can lose your home, your life savings, and have your income mortgaged for years.

Travelers Accident Insurance will take care of the troubles that come if you, yourself, are hurt. It will pay the doctor, the nurse, the hospital, and provide you with a check to take care of running your home while you are laid up.

Why don't you get the helpful counsel of a trained insurance man on the amounts and forms of insurance you, personally, need?

Moral: Insure in The Travelers. All forms of insurance. The Travelers Insurance Company, The Travelers Indemnity Company, The Travelers Fire Insurance Company, Hartford, Connecticut.

How a curious grass saved the city of Provincetown

ABOUT one hundred and fifteen years ago, the lovely old city of Provincetown, on Cape Cod, was in danger of being swept into the sea.

The strong gales which blew across the cape were carrying the sands from behind the town into the harbor at its feet, while along the shore near the town the sea was washing huge sections of the beach away. Unless the movement of the sands could be stopped, it seemed that ere long the town would be deposited at the bottom of the ocean.

A commission investigated the matter and recommended the planting of a special grass. This grass had tremendous roots which would grow to a great depth, and anchor the sand so that neither wind nor waves could sweep it away.

The grass was planted and laws were made prohibiting animals from roaming at large and eating it up. The grass took root rapidly, the movement of the sand was checked, and from that time on Provincetown has rested safe and secure, no longer at the mercy of the wind and water.

Many a man has a little city of Provincetown of his own; this city is his home and his cherished possessions which the storms of life can take away from him. But for a man there is a "beach grass," too, that will secure him and his family from such danger.

This grass, as you can guess, is insurance. It keeps your home secure and safe against the threat of fire and wind In case an accident interferes with your earning power, it provides you with an income to meet taxes and mortgage payments.

If you are sued by someone as the result of an automobile accident, it can keep you from losing your property and your savings. And should you be taken away, it will allow your wife and children to keep up the home so dear to them and to live in a decent fashion.

Such beach grass is worth planting now.

Your Travelers agent or insurance broker will be glad to counsel you on the forms of insurance you personally need.

Moral: Insure in The Travelers. All forms of insurance. The Travelers Insurance Company, The Travelers Indemnity Company, The Travelers Fire Insurance Company, Hartford, Connecticut.

THIS IS Hevea brasiliensis, the tropical tree from which rubber is made

Rubber, because of its remarkable resilience, has become the chief shock absorber of the physical world, with uses extending from the tires on your car to the tremendous engine mountings for modern ships.

But, important as rubber is as a shock absorber, there are some small pieces of paper in your desk which do a more vital job of shock absorbing for you. They shield you from financial bumps and shocks; they are the shock absorbers of the economic realm.

These pieces of paper are your insurance policies. Should a fire destroy your home, or an accident put you in the hospital, or an automobile smashup make you the victim of a damage suit, insurance acts as a cushion that protects you from serious financial loss.

And should you unexpectedly be taken away, insurance will shield your wife and children from the too-common shock of being placed, overnight, at the mercy of the world.

Let a Travelers representative advise you on the most important types of insurance that you, individually, should own.

Moral: Insure in The Travelers All forms of insurance. The Travelers Insurance Company, The Travelers Indemnity Company, The Travelers Fire Insurance Company, Hartford, Connecticut.

When are two warblers better than one?

IF YOU HAVE EVER WATCHED a nest of young yellow warblers carefully, you have observed that both parents co-operate in the job of feeding them.

Sometimes the mother sits on the nest while the father forages for worms, seeds, and other delicacies. Sometimes both the mother and father hunt for food.

But the mother is never left alone to shoulder the complete care of her young if there are more than two young birds in the nest; for the mother warbler, by herself, cannot take care of her children properly. The job is too much for her.

The task of a human mother is even more difficult. It is very hard for her to bring up even one child by her own efforts. For trying to be a real mother while providing food and clothes and a home for her child and herself is a desperate, even heart-breaking struggle for a woman.

No man, who loves his wife, ever consciously exposes her to such a burden. But you probably have known too many cases where devoted husbands have left their wives with small children to bring up, and no money to bring them up with, simply through oversight or delay or too optimistic an attitude toward the future.

Unless you are certain that your loved ones are amply protected, no matter what should happen to you, why don't you call your local Travelers agent or insurance broker? He can give you sound, homely advice on what kinds of insurance are most necessary for you to have, and how much you should have.

Moral: Insure in The Travelers. All forms of life, casualty, and fire insurance; all forms of fidelity and surety bonds. The Travelers Insurance Company, The Travelers Indemnity Company, The Travelers Fire Insurance Company, Hartford, Connecticut.

ANY BOY CAN

by Westinghouse

• For a thing so important to modern life, an electric motor is an amazingly simple device. Just a few pieces of steel, iron and copper, wound with coils of wire. Any bright boy can follow instructions and make one that will run.

• Yet the most romantic story ever told could be written about the electric motor. It runs practically every mechanical device in use today. It turns the wheels of industry. It carries people to work from the suburbs to the topmost floors of tall buildings. It changes housekeeping from dreaded drudgery to delightful adventure. Our daily lives and livelihoods depend—more than we realize—upon the smooth, effortless spin of a thousand electric motors.

• In fact, electric motors are so common nowadays that we accept them as our primitive ancestors accepted air, water and fire. We flick a switch—and an automatic razor zips off our whiskers. We push a button—and our automobile motor starts. A faucet turns—and a faraway pump delivers water. A vacuum cleaner cleans, an electric fan cools, an adding machine adds, a phonograph plays—and it's all automatic, as far as most of us are concerned.

• We have been making electric motors for a great many years—in fact we've made millions and millions of them. Naturally, we have improved their design and construction considerably since 1886. We can remember when we thought a ¼-horsepower motor, which took up more than a cubic foot of room, was a pretty commendable achievement. Now we can pack the same horsepower into a third of the space, sell it for less, and save the user a big dividend in operating cost.

• But after all, it's fitting the motor to the job that really counts. A ¼-horsepower motor and a 10-horsepower job just can't be combined. Neither can an oil rig and a motor designed for an air conditioning system. That is why Westinghouse offers stock motors in thousands of types, sizes and ratings. And if none of these is exactly what is needed, a special model will be built to order.

• The electric motor is "bread and butter" to us—and to almost everyone else. The more we learn about the jobs it can do, the more we can add to its usefulness. Meanwhile, we keep right on with the testing, experimenting and improving that have helped to make the electric motor the unsung hero of American progress.

Doing Business In 35 Languages

by Westinghouse

• To youngsters or oldsters whose hobby is collecting stamps, the incoming mail department of our export company would very likely prove a paradise.

• A single day's mail will bring letters from as many as twenty-five countries. In the course of a year, correspondence is received from practically every country in the world, and it has traveled to us by every conceivable mode of transportation from Tibetan runner to air express. It may be penned in anything from a Chinese ideographic script to just plain American English. More than thirty-five different languages will find their way in and out of the mail basket.

• No doubt you have heard many men say that their business "is different." But rarely will you find a business right here in our own country that is as really different as that of our people whose responsibility lies in the shipment and sale of our products abroad.

• Most of these men have spent years in the field, in Buenos Aires, Singapore, London, Cape Town. They have sold our products in Spanish, French, Portuguese, Swedish and even more remote tongues. They have learned to make change in lira, pesos and shillings as simply as you and I count our change from a dollar bill.

• During the past two years we have run an advertising campaign in 95 newspapers in 41 countries. Each advertisement is translated into 7 different languages. 25 entirely different currencies are used to pay for the newspaper space.

• Climate also plays an important part in the distribution of our products throughout the world. For instance, a radio set which is perfectly suitable for sale in the United States must be specially designed and treated to stand up under tropical humidities before it is acceptable to countries near the equator.

• Another product problem is that of electric voltage and frequency. Here in the United States 110 volt 60 cycle current is standard almost everywhere, but in export territories these voltages range anywhere from 90 to 380 volts, and from 16⅔ to 133 cycles.

• Add to these problems the complications of the present world strife. But business goes on as ever, and our export people insist that theirs is the most interesting business in the world.

• All of the products that we make, from the grain of wheat lamp for doctors to immense turbines for power companies, find their way to the farthest reaches of the globe. American made products find a ready market abroad. And the fact that these products sell at higher prices in competition with those locally manufactured is a tribute to American craftsmanship and salesmanship.

MONUMENT

to an Engineer's Hobby

by Westinghouse

• Just a few weeks back a small crowd gathered on a hilltop in the Alleghenies to pay their respects to the station that had pioneered all radio broadcasting. The station they were honoring was KDKA; the occasion, the dedication of a new 50,000 watt transmitter located at Allison Park, near Pittsburgh.

• Present at this ceremony were many people who nineteen years before had heard and participated in the first official broadcast ever made—the announcement of the Harding-Cox election returns on November 2, 1920. Since that historic day radio broadcasting has developed so rapidly, extended its sphere of influence so far, that not many are aware of its humble beginning.

• It all started in the garage of a young Westinghouse engineer. He was such a stickler for accuracy that he couldn't even tolerate a few seconds variation in his vest-pocket watch. To satisfy this whim, he rigged himself up a crude radio receiving set of the type that was then known as a "cat's whisker", so he could pick up the time signals sent out at regular intervals by the Naval Radio Station at Arlington.

• Out of this hobby came a prodding urge to make radio something more than a signalling device for the benefit of ships at sea. With the help of others, this young engineer eventually established station KDKA and immediately a new voice was heard in the land.

• For the first time a church service was broadcast over the air; the first broadcast of a presidential inauguration was heard; radio announcements of baseball scores, time signals and market reports became a daily feature of this new public service.

• When we remember the flaming speed of radio broadcast development since 1920, it is amazing to find the pages of history attributing so much pioneering to a single station. And so the installation of this new equipment is consistent with Westinghouse's desire from the very beginning to extend radio's usefulness and improve the quality of both programs and reception.

• All this means a great deal to you who are within the sound of KDKA's new voice. That takes in about everybody, for in addition to the standard KDKA broadcasts, short wave programs from the same studios over station WPIT (formerly W8XK) are heard around the world.

• In addition to KDKA, the familiar call letters of Westinghouse stations WBZ, KYW, WOWO and WGL are further indication of our association and interest in this important and exciting industry.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

Industry's No. 1 Job

by Westinghouse

• There's probably no single subject attracting more interest today than our National Defense program. Everyone wants to know the progress of American Industry in producing huge stores of guns, ships, tanks and munitions.

• Right now, several of our plants are working at top speed producing gun equipment and other machines which you would never find in the catalog of the products we manufacture. And very soon our production facilities will be substantially increased with the completion of fifteen new buildings in six different states.

• But the manufacture of these emergency products is only a part of the equipment our company is supplying. The electrical products that we build are a vital necessity in the National Defense program. Our long experience in designing and building practically every known electrical product is now being utilized to the limit by both government and industry.

• Our plants are working night and day filling orders for millions of dollars worth of electrical equipment—equipment such as turbines for marine service; motors and control equipment for cargo ships; motors and generators for submarine tenders; generators and X-Ray equipment for the Army; radio equipment for all the Services; Seadrome contact lights for naval air bases; distribution and instrument transformers for shipbuilding yards. Then there are ignitron rectifiers, multiple arc welders, meters, lighting equipment, Micarta and scores of other products wanted in a hurry by other manufacturers working on defense orders.

• In addition to filling these orders, we have still others from more than 100,000 dealers and wholesalers who sell our home electrical products and Mazda Lamps.

• All of these are orders that must be filled. Neither we, nor any of our industry partners, can afford to permit any bottleneck or business stalemate occur because of lack of the equipment that we supply. We must constantly bear in mind, too, that even greater demands will be made on us tomorrow.

• One of the most important things our company has done to assure efficient fulfillment of all these demands is the creation of an Emergency Products Division. Through the work of this division we are maintaining full concentration on defense problems, but in ways that least affect the production of regular electrical lines.

• National Defense is most certainly a tall order. And we at Westinghouse, like all American Industry, consider it the most important order in our history.

"Mention the Geographic—It identifies you."

TONIGHT

They're Playing Under Lights!

by Westinghouse

• Few fans ever dreamed the day would come when after dinner they could ride out to a stadium and watch a professional baseball game played under lights.

• Yet, the idea of night baseball was advanced as early as three decades ago. True, nothing was done about this so-called "fantastic dream" then. But twelve years ago, a minor league club toured the country with a portable lighting system and played before fans at night in much the same manner as a carnival troupe.

• Night baseball at last became a reality. And it proved increasingly popular, evidenced by the fact that in the past ten years it has developed in the minor leagues to a point where seven games out of every ten are today played under lights.

• In 1935 night baseball graduated to its first major league park. So rapidly has it caught on here that eight of the big league parks are now equipped with the most modern lighting facilities. And we are proud to say that five of these lighting systems were designed and installed by our own company.

• One has only to check the turnstiles to appreciate how eagerly the public has taken night baseball to its heart.

• In 1939, for instance, nearly one million persons attended major league night baseball games. The night games at Shibe Park, Philadelphia, topped the daytime attendance average five to one. In Comiskey Park, Chicago, the first six night games drew over 188,000 paid admissions.

• There has been similar enthusiastic response to night games played in the Polo Grounds, New York; Sportsman's Field, St. Louis; Forbes Field, Pittsburgh; as well as those at other baseball parks.

• Consider if you will the unusual demands of a lighting system that must provide glareless illumination for a fast night baseball game. At Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, our most recent installation, more than 210 million candlepower of light is spread over the field from 864 floodlights, each of some 1500 watt capacity. Their combined output would be enough to light every home in a city of 25,000 population. Distributed as it is, the illumination over Forbes Field is 19 times brighter than the average business man's desk.

• Fortunately, we at Westinghouse were able to bring to this exacting problem a long and highly varied lighting experience. Through the important contributions we have made to better lighting, stores have been made more attractive to shoppers; factories and offices more efficient for employees; school rooms more conducive to study; public thoroughfares, airports and river docks infinitely more safe.

Fred W. Megow

SALES SOAR WITH MODEL AIRPLANES

MEGOW MERCHANDISING METHODS PRODUCE PROFITABLE BUSINESS

A LOT OF WATER has passed over the dam and a lot of model airplanes have soared into the air since Fred W. Megow, back in the summer of 1930, started selling model airplane kits to retail dealers. In his nearly ten years of manufacturing and merchandising model airplanes, boats and trains, Fred W. Megow has developed several sure-fire methods for stimulating interest in model building and increasing business for dealers' hobby and craft sections.

CONTESTS CREATE CUSTOMERS

Megow's have proven to their own satisfaction and to the satisfaction of the retailers that a model airplane contest represents one way of increasing sales. Mr. Megow, who is a keen student of modern merchandising methods, says: "Many plans have been evolved in business for attracting attention, but it is generally conceded that if you want to stop a man in his tracks you must appeal to his pet hobby. Today airplane model building is the fascinating sport of hundreds of thousands of men and boys, as well as girls. Airplanes in themselves are naturally appealing to everybody, and this interest is being constantly kindled by airplane achievements in the news. The building of model airplanes calls for action; it trains hand and mind and, with all the field meets and contests going on, it becomes a genuine sport. For arousing enthusiasm and increasing store traffic, nothing excels a good, live model department featuring an occasional contest of its own."

Experience is the authority for the statement that a model building contest attracts attention, produces traffic for a store and increases business. Megow's has just announced a new kind of model airplane contest which surpasses anything in the way of a merchandising plan ever developed by this company. Actually, the plan consists of a number of contests conducted by local dealers in their own territories. Because of the way the contest is organized, dealers are given an opportunity to offer prizes of a much greater size than they could afford on an individual basis.

VALUABLE PRIZES OFFERED

The contests are conducted by the dealers, who offer a number of Megow gas-powered and other model airplane kits as prizes. The winners of the local contests are eligible to compete for the valuable prizes offered direct by Megow's. These prizes include not only two all-expenses-paid trips to the National Model Airplane Meet in Chicago this summer, but also ninety-eight cash prizes ranging from $50.00, down.

Megow's is also offering many valuable helps to assist dealers in conducting their contests. Special contest packages are available, containing a large, three-piece window display in colors, attractive easels for counter or window, several window streamers, a quantity of contest membership buttons, registration blanks, and detailed instructions for conducting the contest.

Already newspapers and magazines have been filled with accounts of the National Model Airplane Meet to be held in Chicago this summer. Dealers should lose no time in making capital of this fact, which is increasing the interest in model airplanes. It is to the advantage of dealers interested in stimulating business for their hobby and craft sections to plan to start their contests very soon—while men and boys are spending their spare time indoors en-of a new year for it signified to them the rebirth of fruits and flowers and new crops after the long, cold winter.

Thousands of years later the Christian fathers in spreading Christianity throughout the western world told those whom they hoped to convert that the custom of coloring eggs was not in celebration of a pagan holiday but rather was symbolic of the rebirth of Christ. The Christian fathers saw no harm in this pleasant pagan custom and hence it has become a Christian festival although in no way really based on the life or death of Christ.

The origin of the word Easter itself has disputed background, the most accepted belief being that the name is derived from the goddess Astarte or from the divinity of the Chaldeans known as Istar, both of whom were pagan goddesses of spring.

Certainly ancient carvings lend credence to the belief that the "Easter" rabbit goes back at least to the time of Istar, if not considerably further, for old carvings of this goddess show her holding an egg in her hand while at her feet crouches a rabbit—the emblem of rebirth and of fertility, for Istar was also the goddess of the principle of reproduction in nature.

The colored egg custom at Eastertime has persisted down through the centuries, while slightly over 60 years ago the firm that the writer represents first offered the packaged egg dyes that are now famous the world over under the trade name of "Paas."

Garden Toys for Horticulturists

THE OUTDOOR MOVEMENT will start next month, and father and mother are certain to spend considerable time puttering about the garden. Children, imitators that they are, will also want to help in the gardening. A display of such garden toys as wheelbarrows, hoe, rake and shovel sets, lawn mowers and watering cans would therefore be propitious at this time. Encourage the children to start their own gardens by selling them greenhouses and packets of seed.

Use the Mail

CIRCULARS, picturing and describing various Spring items and inviting customers to visit the store, should be enclosed with the April statements.

Easter Toys on the Main Floor

PROSPECTS FOR the coming Easter season appear bright, and one way toy buyers may virtually assure themselves of a large volume of sales is to display Easter items on the main floor. The main floor of a store is always heavily trafficked with customers who pass through it on their way to other departments and with people who just drop in to look around. A small table or a counter filled with Easter items is certain to attract attention and result in some good sales. Such a display should be made for at least a week prior to Easter, and should contain signs calling attention to the wide variety of toys to be found in the store's toy department.

Sell Group Toys

WITH THE PUBLIC showing a tendency to spend more money for toys, buyers should consider the advisability of selling group toys at Easter time. There are any number of Spring items which can be grouped together, wrapped in Cellophane, tied with ribbons and offered as Easter items. Baskets, decorated with fluffy chicks and yellow and lavender ribbons, may be filled with any number of different types of toys and sold at various prices.

Tops and Marbles

IN THE SPRING a young boy's fancy turns to tops and marbles. On street corners and in empty lots are certain to be found groups of youngsters shooting marbles and spinning tops. These items, therefore, should be featured by dealers during the Springtime. While their sales do not run into much money, it is a good idea to get the boys into the habit of visiting the store.

gaged in their favorite recreational pursuits. It is a good idea to hold the finals of the contest in the late spring or early summer, when the weather is ideal for holding outdoor meets. Complete details for holding a model airplane contest may be procured by writing to Megow's, Howard & Oxford Streets, Philadelphia, Pa. It is advisable that dealers planning to advertise their contests submit rules and regulations to the local postmaster for his approval.

KNOW YOUR BUSINESS

"Contests," says Fred W. Megow, "will materially aid a dealer in doing a better business on scale model kits and supplies, but there is more to merchandising a craft and hobby section than the holding of contests Success in handling craft and hobby materials depends, to a large extent, upon being well versed on the subject Either the dealer himself, or some young man in his employ, should take charge of the section and take an active interest in hobbies. Such a person is invaluable in forming clubs and conducting contests. A dealer or an employee who builds model airplanes is in a position to procure completed models for display purposes through contacts which are formed with other model builders. The display of finished models in a window or inside the store is important. Finished models attract attention; they are visual proof of what can be done with the various kits carried by the dealer. A display of model airplanes will not only attract the attention of other model builders, but might well be the necessary impetus for starting other people on the hobby of model airplane building. It has been my experience that a big advantage in selling model building kits and supplies is that dealers can promote good-will by conducting classes, the members of which will in turn become steady customers of the store."

TEN YEARS OF PROGRESS

Megow's will this summer celebrate its tenth anniversary, and much progress has been made by an organization which ten years ago was but a thought in the mind of the founder. Fred W. Megow, back in 1930, conceived the idea that boys, if given the opportunity, would enjoy making scale model airplanes. Accordingly, as an experiment, a box of model parts was fitted up, a home-made sign painted, and a dealer found who would handle the line on a 50-50 basis. As was hoped, boys—and even men—immediately became interested in model building More parts and patterns were made and put into counter display cabinets. Interest in the hobby grew, and other dealers wanted to try the experiment. The experimental stage was soon over and Fred W. Megow was convinced that if model building appealed to men and boys in one neighborhood this hobby should have appeal throughout the country. The business grew from basement to garage, and from garage to a modern manufacturing plant, which has been enlarged from time to time and which today stands at the southwest corner of Howard & Oxford Streets, in Philadelphia. As expansion moves were made, methods of distribution also changed. Once Megow salesmen sold direct from their trucks; today Megow's line is carried by leading wholesalers in the United States and Canada, and there is a direct factory branch at 217 No. Desplaines Street, in Chicago. In line with the progress of the firm and its policy to always supply the needs of model builders, Megow's now manufactures—in addition to model airplane kits—a full line of model building supplies, boat model kits and scale model freight trains.

Julo Miller Jones Demonstrating Educational Playthings to Parents in Macy's Town Hall

"TOYS AND THEIR PLACE IN A CHILD'S LIFE"

TOPIC OF DISCUSSION IN A SERIES OF LECTURES IN MACY'S TOWN HALL

BEGINNING FEBRUARY 10TH and continuing throughout the month, R. H. Macy & Company, in New York City, conducted a series of lectures calling attention to some of the services available in the Macy store. Given in Macy's Town Hall by noted authorities, the subjects of these lectures included Interior Decorating, Skiing, Amateur Photography, Model Building, Fishing, etc. On the opening day Miss Jule Miller Jones, of Holgate Brothers Company, addressed a group of parents on the value of educational playthings. Excerpts from her lecture follow:

"With all the chaos 'round about us in the world today, it is rather difficult, I know, for one to think clearly on the more purposeful things of life. However, when we stop to consider that our children of today will be the men and women of tomorrow, who will be called upon to make important decisions and who will be taking part in business, political and social affairs, we begin to realize what an important and engrossing task is ours in the rearing of these children that they might be equal to the problems which will confront them. Perhaps because of the world chaos today, does it seem more important than ever before that we more diligently try to lay the right foundation for our children, not in annihilating them, but in discipline of them so that in the future they might dwell together in unity and peace.

"The early years of a child's life are very important years indeed. Those people who have devoted their lives to the study of a child's behaviorism, tell us that the first six years are of paramount importance, since it is during that period that he lays the foundation for his future manners, actions, and attitudes towards the world. For this reason, it is important not only that he is placed in an environment that is conducive to his happiness, but also that he is surrounded with the proper toys and materials for his play.

"We are told that a child learns more through play than through any other single activity of his daily routine. A child's play is not a pastime, but is his means of growth, both in mind and body. Proper play materials are as necessary to the all 'round development of a child, as is a balanced diet and proper hours of sleep.

"Of course, we do not expect that a person's career will be directed by placing certain toys in the hands of a child, nor can we hope to manufacture genius by means of standardized toys, be they ever so educational. We do believe, however, that many a child's development has been seriously handicapped by the lack of suitable play material and that many a constructive achievement received its inspiration or its mastery of detail from an appropriate toy.

"True, a child uses toys for only a few years, but during those years, how important they are to him. They are more than his playthings, they are really his tools for finding his way about in a strange world.

"Toys, if they are the right toys, help him to learn how to control his muscles; they stimulate his mental faculties; they help to establish strong permanent habits, and also place the child in the proper frame of mind for learning. The right toys also tend to develop the traits of character which we desire to instill in a child, namely, self reliance, physical agility, mental alertness, creative self-expression, self discipline.

"But how will we be guided in selecting the right toy? I wonder sometimes, if all too frequently, a toy is chosen because it excites our own admiration, rather than because it is suitable for the child we have in mind.

"I think the paramount consideration should be as to whether or not the toy is suited to the age level of the

• The Fifth Avenue Building is a magnet which draws buyers from all over the country. Here they know that they will find offerings of toy companies in many lines. Under this one roof they can study displays, weigh values, and complete their buying trips with convenience and dispatch.

This owner-managed building is easily accessible from all parts of the country. A subway entrance in the building connects directly with railroad terminals. Buses pass the doors. Good hotels are close.

Buyers who visit this building receive special attention. The Visitors' Bureau, a fully equipped suite of offices, is reserved for their use. An efficient Information Bureau is also helpful. The Conference Room, seating more than forty persons, is for the free use of tenants. Excellent meals are served in two restaurants.

A visit to The Fifth Avenue Building will expedite your buying when you are next in New York.

FIRST AID TO PUZZLED TOY MAKERS

The design and construction of a new toy is often a task taxing the patience and ingenuity of even the most experienced manufacturer. Many have been the times when the model of a new item has practically reached completion and would be ready for production but for the lack of a small, but vitally necessary little "gadget" such as an odd shaped rivet, nail, crank, axle, etc. This sort of problem, however, has no terrors for a growing number of toy makers, for they have found that they need only to get a letter off to the Townsend Co., New Brighton, Pa., describing their needs and by return mail back comes word that "we have it." For this concern, established way back in 1816, has been specializing for 124 years in the manufacture of "things" and "jiggers" of every conceivable kind, and in all metals. The assortment which they are able to supply on short notice is almost limitless, and to make their service complete, a special staff of engineers is on hand at all times, ready to design parts not carried in stock. A folder, illustrating 199 different small parts most commonly required by producers of all types of toys and other products is available on request by writing to the Townsend Co., New Brighton, Pa.

NEW LINE OF HATS

The Mode Novelty Company has just introduced a new line of hats, including baseball caps, sailor hats, fishing caps and novelty hats, to retail for ten cents and up. Also in the line are paper hats for the party section. The complete Mode Novelty line may be seen in New York City at the showroom of Al. Hahn, in the Fifth Avenue Building.

IDEAL RE-ENTERS GAS MODEL FIELD WITH CLASS "A" PRIZE-WINNER "MOLECULE"

Modelmakers all over the country will read important news in April issues of nationally circulated model airplane magazines. In those publications, Ideal Aeroplane & Supply Co., Inc., will make first announcements to the model making fraternity of their new gas job, Molecule. Molecule, constructed according to NAA Class "A" specifications, was perfected and put up in kit form after it had made its mark by winning first place in the Eastern States Gas Model Championship. This is the same job that got the big three-page story (with pictures) in a recent issue of widely circulated Air Trails Magazine. Molecule is designed to use the famous Mighty Atom motor as her power plant; this motor was used with the ship when she made her world's record. In addition to large space advertisements in model-makers publications, Ideal is distributing direct mail and attractive, colorful display material to dealers. Molecule, retailing at $1.95, has been heralded as the forerunner of a complete series of gas models to be brought out by Ideal in the near future, in each one of the various NAA specification classes.

NEW AKRO GAME OF SOLITARY CHECKERS

Akro Solitary Checkers is a new game recently introduced by The Akro Agate Co., Clarksburg, W. Va. It is packaged in a colorful box decorated with a Chinese design. The instructions are printed on the field of play, and 26 marbles are supplied with each game. There are four solutions, but any number of variations to arrive at these solutions. The Akro Agate Co. reports that they have tested the sales appeal of this Solitary Checker game to their complete satisfaction and have every reason to believe it will be a very good 10c retail chain store number. They say that it has had an exceptional run on the Pacific Coast, and they believe it will strike the popular fancy all over the country. The game is difficult enough to sustain adult interest, yet is not too hard for the game-playing children.

NEW NUMBERS IN MIDWEST LINE

The Midwest Products Co. of Kellogg, Iowa, will exhibit two new numbers for the first time at the Toy Fair, in Room 545 of the Hotel McAlpin. They are Tak-Tiks and Target-Ball. Among the Midwest games that are reported to have been selling very well, and which will also be shown at the McAlpin, are Reno-Roulette, Chinker-Chek and Tally-Ball. Reno-Roulette, which is illustrated here, is a combination of two popular old games on one board, bingo and roulette. It is an attractively lithographed metal game packaged in modern style, and retailing at $2.00. There are three models of Chinker-Chek, and also three sizes of Tally-Ball, the miniature basketball set that rings a bell when a player scores.

New Alphabet Game Introduced Just Recently

CADACO-ELLIS' TREASURE HUNT

With the approach of the Toy Fair and spring selling in the game industry, the one story everyone on the newsfront would like to be the first to write is the naming of the game hit of 1940, with or without the aid of a crystal ball.

In the opinion of Don Mazer, of Cadaco-Ellis, Inc. At the moment, their "Treasure Hunt" appears to be writing that story. Introduced only a few short weeks ago this new alphabet game has already swung into its second edition in an auspicious start to definitely establish itself as a formidable contender for that enviable and profitable first position.

Unadvertised and without special promotion the game had a first day sale at Marshall Field and Company of such proportions that the store has made it a featured seller and backed it with extensive promotion which has continued sales at a fast pace for the off season of the year. In J. L. Hudson's, Detroit, and other major stores where first distribution was made, immediate consumer response to promotions and newspaper publicity has been reported. In Chicago, particularly, the game has had a rapid spread among organizations and social groups for party use.

Factors which should weigh heavily in favor of the game's success are its broad age span and a great degree of adaptability to varied groups from the standpoint of numbers and level of interest. Additional in the actual play of the game are the advantages of simple rules and plenty of action. "Treasure Hunt" seems unquestionably assured of wide popularity.

The "hunt" is one for the right word, a quest experienced in a greater or less degree by all of us from the time we learn to speak and write until we reach the age when we can no longer do either. Eighty cards bearing definitive phrases such as "a kind of machine," "name of a movie actress," or "name of a river"; an alphabet of four hundred cardboard squares faced on each side with a different letter, and seventy-two "Pieces of Eight," designed to resemble pirate gold, comprise the game equipment. One set will accommodate any number from two to sixteen players.

To play the game, each player is dealt five "Treasure Hunt" cards and at the dealer's signal "Dig!" must turn up his first card and spell out a word descriptive of the card from the stack of letters in the center of the table. The first player completing words for five cards calls "Pieces of Eight!" and all play stops. Losers then must pay one "Piece of Eight" for each card not completed. Additional bonuses are paid the winner for longer words, but a misspelled word carries a penalty of two paid to each of the other players.

The package, combining gold, red and black in an effective pirate chest motif with a border of cartoon pirate silhouettes, was designed by C. Leslie Crandall, winner of many package design awards and recognized as the outstanding man in this field.

NEW JOY DOLLS READY FOR FAIR

The Joy Doll Co. will show their enlarged line, headed by many featured specialties, at the Toy Fair, Hotel McAlpin, rooms 950-952. For the 1940, Joy's designing staff has prepared an unusually comprehensive assortment of Baby Dolls, in addition to many interesting numbers in stuffed animals. Messrs. E. M. Forster and Dave Weinberg will be in attendance.

EXPORT TO BELGIUM

Leon Dever, 111 Rue des Plantes, Brussels, Belgium, wishes to obtain the general agency in that country for several manufacturers of American toy lines. He is particularly interested in mechanical toys, games, dolls, stuffed animals, cowboy suits and outfits, bell and chime toys, guns and revolvers, aerial toys, painting sets and books, rubber toys, roller skates, steel toys, trains, balls and balloons, and novelty items. Mr. Dever states that he is confident he can secure a good amount of business for American toys in the Belgian market, as he has a large following of customers throughout that country. He plans to buy a few exclusive lines on his own account, and to represent other lines; and wishes to hear from manufacturers and have them send their catalogs and export prices.

SOUTH BEND AT McALPIN

South Bend Toy Mfg. Co. will exhibit at the Hotel McAlpin in the El Patio Room on the second floor. This well-known firm pioneered the third floor of the McAlpin several years ago as the first exhibitor on that floor. They will have, in addition to the services of Messrs Chrisman, Bob Muessel and Bert Scheuer, that seasoned expert in juvenile furniture, "Bill Rummel." Bill recently joined the firm of Bert & Harold Scheuer, Inc., Eastern salesmen for South Bend Toy Mfg. Co.

POPULAR PRICED GAS MODEL

The introduction of a new Class A gas model airplane retailing for 50c (less liquids and motor unit) has just been announced by Paul K. Guillow, who states that this is the first that a gas job has retailed in this price range. The new model, the Flight Leader, has many important features, including a removable motor mount and ignition track that allows the model builder to make quick engine and ignition adjustments without having to dismantle half the plane. Other features are the removable wing and empennage, the sturdy construction, and great stability which is said to have been proven by dozens of test flights.

The Flight Leader has a wing span of 36" and can be easily carried around in the trunk of a car, ready for instant flights. The wing loading is eight ounces per square foot, and in conforming with the N. A. A. regulations regarding Class A models it has a total wing area of 171 sq. inches. RE-KOP HOLDS ITS OWN

For five years Re-Kop has been a steady seller, proving it is anything but a fad. Displayed with poker chips and playing cards, it means a plus sale. Players of Re-Kop like the fast action it provides. Four to ten persons can play, and their interest is never allowed to lag. As a combination of the two old favorites, Poker and Rummy, Re-Kop has plenty of attraction, and as a good seller, it offers opportunity in the sale of accessory chips and cards.

CROWN FEATURES JIMINY CRICKET

It hasn't taken movie fans long to agree that Jiminy Cricket, the cute, diminutive little character in Walt Disney's Pinocchio was one of the high light hits in this great picture. In fact, this enterprising firm is already making immediate deliveries on what many believe will be a character toy success rivaling the never to be forgotten Dopey. MEGOW ANNOUNCES AIR YOUTH MODEL AIRPLANE KITS

The Air Youth movement now spreading over the country like wildfire is of momentous interest to dealers alert to opportunity. Those who identify themselves with the promotion of the Air Youth idea in its early stages will not only be promoting a great cause, but they will make their places of business the natural headquarters for the vast numbers of airplane model kits and supplies that will be needed.

Air Youth of America, Incorporated, has placed its organization on a formal basis with the election of Winthrop Rockefeller as Chairman and Thomas H Beck as president. Other officers elected with them are vice-presidents, Edward P. Warner, member of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, William R. Enyart, secretary of the National Aeronautic Association and Miss Jacqueline Cochran, the flier; secretary, Dr. Arthur Gulick, director of the Institute of Public Administration; treasurer, Colonel Henry Breckenridge, attorney. In addition to those widely known leaders, the National Council comprises a long list of the nation's foremost educators.

The purpose of Air Youth is to promote aviation in general and to encourage aeronautical education among the younger generation. "Since aviation is such an ideal peg on which to hang knowledge," says Dr. Gulick, "it is important that teachers learn aeronautical theories if they are to do their work well. Educators have long wanted some organization to marshal aviation for youngsters, and now we have Air Youth."

Among its early activities, the Air Youth organization licensed the manufacture of airplane model kits used in teaching the first steps in learning to build and fly models, and Megow kits for Projects No. 1 and No. 2 are now ready. These kits are for the purpose of teaching the very first principles, and contain complete materials, and Megow has arranged for advertising them in the leading publications in the field. Dealers who wish to be the first to introduce them in their localities should write for information to Megow, Howard & Oxford Streets, Philadelphia, Pa.

TOY CREATIONS OBTAINS INJUNCTION

Justice Schmuck, of the New York Supreme Court, has granted an injunction to Toy Creations, Inc., in their suit in connection with their games of "Radio Football" and "Radio Baseball." The decision, as reported in the New York Law Journal of February 6, 1940, is as follows:

"Toy Creations, Inc., v. J. Pressman & Co., Inc.—An examination of the exhibits in light of the oral evidence indicates that the defendant practiced unfair competition. Unfair competition, tritely defined, means commercial piracy, and the unfair competitor is best described as a business parasite. Abhorring chicanery and deceit, the law, championing fair and honorable business practices, condemns unfair competition and discourages its continuance.

"The unescapable negative of the many decisions anent unfair competition establishes that a merchant is guilty of unfair competition whenever the general public, particularly the unwary, are led to believe his wares and merchandise are the product of another. No one doubts the desirability of honest competition, but a business made successful by the efforts of one person in the use of a special package and name may not be appropriated by another by the use of something so similar as to mislead (Wolfe v. Burke, 56 N. Y. 115). When a merchant purposely dresses up his goods so as to deceive a prospective buyer and lead him to believe that he is purchasing some other merchant's product he indulges in unfair competition and will be forced to desist. The courts never hesitate to protect "the public and the owner of the good will of a business against the deceptive use of a trade name, even though that name was originally chosen without wrongful purpose" (Eastern Const. Co. v. Eastern Eng. Co., 246 N. Y. 459).

"The similarity of names used by the defendant, the manner in which its goods were packed, not only could deceive the buying public, but actually did mislead persons engaged in the business. Guided by the decisions in Neva Wet Corp'n of America, Inc., v. Never Wet Processing Corp'n, et al. (277 N. Y. 163), and N. Y. World's Fair, 1939, Inc., v. World's Fair News, Inc. (163 Misc. 661), the court finds in favor of plaintiff for a permanent injunction. The plea for an accounting and for money damages is denied, as the evidence does not warrant such relief. Costs to plaintiff. Submit findings of fact, conclusions of law and judgment accordingly."

Block & Shlivek are counsel for Toy Creations.

J. Pressman & Co., Inc., announced that an appeal will be taken and that counsel is now preparing papers in connection with this appeal.

Carstens will be glad to know that she will preside over this exhibit of wooden toys made by Toy Kraft, Inc., of Wooster, Ohio. NEW "OUTLAW RUMMY" GAME

Robert Teller, Sons and Dorner announce a new addition to the game market. It bears the significant title "Outlaw Rummy" and can be played by 2, 3, 4, 5 or six persons. The Outlaw Rummy chart fits any regulation size table and is handsomely finished in five color lithography. The chart can also be used on any flat surface. The only equipment necessary is a regular pack of playing cards and by the addition of poker chips wagers can be made on aces, sequences, bidding for the blind cards, the game pot and the outlaw hands of four deuces or a royal flush. The object of the game is for each player to lay down at the earliest possible moment any sequence or ace he may hold to win the sequence or any pots and also to be the first to get rid of his cards, whereupon he calls game. He then wins all the chips in the game pot which has now been increased by the contributions of the losing players. Outlaw Rummy is packed in a convenient carrying tube and will be on display at the American Toy Fair at the McAlpin Hotel in April. This game retails for $1.00 and interesting discounts are offered jobbers and dealers. A national consumer advertising campaign planned.

ZELOF AND NUSSBAUM HEAD SALES FOR NEW TOY ORGANIZATION

A new toy manufacturing company has just been founded by Eleanor Rapaport in Chicago under the name of the American Craft Manufacturing Company. In introducing the new organization, the founder announces the appointment of Geo. Zelof as general sales manager, and Harry Nussbaum as district manager to head sales on their complete new line of "Ever-Ready" instructive toys. Geo. Zelof needs no introduction to the trade as he has been prominently connected with the toy business for a quarter of a century. Harry Nussbaum has made himself well-liked by everyone during the five years that he has been with the industry. Both George and Harry were formerly associated with the Home Foundry Manufacturing Company of Chicago, but resigned in order to join American Craft. They assure their friends everywhere that they are looking forward to meeting them in Room 808, McAlpin Hotel, at the Toy Fair and showing their new line of big sellers. Their new headquarters are located in their own building with main offices and factory at 3423 Armitage Avenue, Chicago, and buyers are invited to drop in at any time.

SCHWARTZ OF RUSHTON MOVES TO ATLANTA

The friends of I. B. Schwartz, Southern Representative for the Rushton-Atlanta Playthings Co., Atlanta, Ga. will be interested to know that he and Mrs. Schwartz are making their permanent residence in that city. "Schwartzie" invites his numerous friends among the Southern toy men to get in touch with him when in Atlanta.

NORMAN BURNSTINE'S LATEST MOVIE

A. A. Burnstine, well known toy sales representative, is justly proud of the continued and growing success of his son, Norman, who, despite his youth, has become one of Hollywood's outstanding scenario writers. Young Burnstine's latest achievement is the featured Warner Bros. production, the Magic Bullet, starring Edward G. Robinson. Critics writing for the professional journals of the movie industry were loud in their praise of the youthful Burnstine's script—the Holly Reporter, saying, for example, that "too much praise cannot be given the superlative script provided by Norman Burnstine."

Jerry Hamburger

JERRY HAMBURGER JOINS NAT L. WOOLF

Nat L. Woolf, president of Nat L. Woolf Company, Inc., of New York City, manufacturers of Roberta and Babbette, popular priced dolls, announces that Jerry Hamburger is now associated with his organization. Jerry is well and favorably known to the buying fraternity and has had a wide experience in merchandising dolls. He should prove a valuable asset to his associate. The entire line will be shown by Nat and Jerry in Rooms 537-9 at the Hotel McAlpin during the Toy Fair.

ART DOLL ACCESSORIES EXPAND PLANT

Art Doll Accessories Corporation have taken an additional loft at 712 Broadway, New York City. This firm was formerly located at 704 Broadway and request that all communications be forwarded to the new address. Messrs. Max Cohen and Nat Trepner state that this move was made necessary by the increasing demand for their line of dolls' apparel, dolls' shoes, stockings and various other accessories.

ATWO'S ENLARGED SALES FORCE

The American Toy Works has again enlarged its traveling sales force for the coming year, and plans have been completed which assure that the Atwo line will be presented to buyers in every part of the country. Joe Levy, sales manager, announces that Bernard Weil is the latest addition to their sales staff and will cover the metropolitan district, New York and the New England States. Mr. Weil has a long record of successful toy merchandising and is looking forward to an active and productive season in his new connection. Vic Goldberg, now a veteran Atwo traveling representative of several years' standing, will continue to take care of a large part of the country, from Philadelphia, through the mid-West and right out to the Pacific Coast. Murray Richstone, who came with Atwo last year, will again look after the trade in the South, where he has long enjoyed a wide following. And last, but not least, visitors at Atwo's permanent showroom, room 409, Fifth Avenue Building, will be well-looked after by that agreeable and efficient young lady, Miss Eunice Ames.

Sabu, Featured Player in the Picture, "The Thief of Bagdad", Enjoys Playing Selchow & Righter's New Game, 'The Thief of Bagdad'

During his brief visit to New York on his way to Hollywood, Sabu, star of Alexander Korda's forthcoming Technicolor picture, "The Thief of Bagdad," was given an original of Selchow and Righter's new "Thief of Bagdad" game.

Sabu, shown above playing the "Thief of Bagdad" game, was delighted by the unusual way in which the game faithfully followed all the excitement and thrills of his adventures in the picture. The "Thief of Bagdad" is a combination of the best stories of the Arabian Nights fantasies, with all the fabulous characters and magic of the legendary East. This production is the most ambitious film yet to come from English studios.

Selchow and Righter ingeniously created their game to follow the theme of the film and have used the fantasy of the picture to make a game with a new and different method of play. The game is so designed that it is easy to play and of interest to all. The fact that an audience of over forty million will see the picture will give the game a great amount of additional appeal since the consumer will recognize the characters and adventures of the film in playing the game.

Each set consists of a folding playing board 18 inches by 18 inches when open, four lithographed magic carpets (importantly featured in the film), four wooden pawns, one magic crystal indicator device and a set of instructions. The game uses many of the characters of the film and incidents built around them to advance the play. Not only are the adventures of the film repeated in the game, but new and different situations will constantly appear.

TRIMBLE TO MARKET "SPONGEGRIP" NURSERY SHEETING

Trimble, Inc., of Rochester, N. Y., has just announced an addition to their line of nursery furniture and specialties. It is "Spongegrip," a new kind of nursery sheeting that, it is claimed, overcomes the limitations of existing sheetings. "Spongegrip" is a rubberized fabric of which one surface has a sponge-rubber texture which keeps it from wrinkling or slipping when laid on a mattress or other surface. It was invented about six years ago by an eminent pediatrician, is covered by U. S. Pat. 1,916,640 and has been developed and manufactured for hospital use. "Spongegrip" Hospital Sheeting is now widely used in leading hospitals. Out of this hospital experience has come "Spongegrip" Nursery Sheeting Hospital patients must lie in bed; hospital mattresses must be protected; discomfort and irritation due to wrinkling of ordinary rubber sheeting must be guarded against; hospital sheeting must withstand sterilizing. All are problems that apply equally to cribs and babies. Thus it was only natural that "Spongegrip" should be adopted for nursery use. The most thorough testing, however, preceded the translation of Hospital "Spongegrip" to Nursery "Spongegrip." Involved were many problems of thickness, color, texture, types of rubber, styling, packaging and construction.

Two types of "Spongegrip" Nursery Sheeting are the result—one in white natural rubber, the other surfaced with the oil-impervious synthetic rubber, Neoprene. The upper surface of either type is smooth and soft for added comfort and will not peel or crack. The distinctive "Spongegrip" under surface, composed of countless sponge rubber air cells—like many little vacuum cups—goes next to the mattress. It is stated that this exclusive texture grips the mattress so that the sheeting stays smooth and always in place without the use of safety pins or bothersome ties. It will not wrinkle to cause uncomfortable ridges and chafing, and the mattress is safely protected.

Trimble, Inc., reports that "Spongegrip" Nursery Sheeting in both types is completely sanitary and can easily be kept sweet and clean by washing in soapy water In fact, to meet hospital requirements, it has been made so that it can be sterilized with boiling water, or in a hospital sterilizer, without harming it. Attractively packaged "Spongegrip" Nursery Sheeting comes in three convenient sizes—27" x 36"; 18" x 27"; and 18" x 18" It can be used in cribs, Kiddie-Koops, bassinets, carriages and in the smaller size as a convenient, non-slipping lap pad.

A Big Job in a Big Department

IN A RECENT LETTER,-received from that grand old veteran toy buyer, Arthur B. Mallett, he tells of a big job being done in a big department. The big department is the toy department of the Chas. V. Weise Company, in Rockford, Ill. The department is owned and merchandised by Gunnar A. Smidt, whose reputation as a keen executive is well established in the toy trade, and the toy buyer is Arthur Mallett, whose years of service in the industry dates back to long before there was such a thing as a Toy Fair.

In his letter to PLAYTHINGS, Arthur Mallett says: "I inclose one of our recent ads calling attention to 'Rockford's Most Complete Toyland.' We feel justified in using this phraseology, as we carry a large assortment of toys and go to no end of trouble to display and demonstrate them properly. We operate the only year 'round toy department in the city, a fact which has made the department recognized as headquarters for toys. It is our contention on that an active year 'round toy department builds business, for our sales for 1939 far exceeded those of the previous year.

"During the Christmas season toys were featured on colorful and elaborate display fixtures, and among the outstanding mechanical displays were those devoted to the Lionel and Toy Tinker lines.

"An indication of the type of business being done in the department is evident from the fact that between November 1st and December 15th, five hundred Baby Dimples dolls retailing at $3.98 were moved across the counters. Ours is the only toy department in Rockford which carried an extensive assortment of dolls, and the sales justified our stocking them. Games occupy considerable space and are promoted extensively throughout the year. The game stock consists of numbers retailing from 10c. to $5.00, and the efforts put forth to promote dollar games has resulted in disposing of thousands. Wheel toys cover a large expanse, but are so arranged on tiers that they are visible from any section of the floor. In short, we have a progressive and up to-date department, quite in keeping with the store's slogan, which is: 'Rockford's Most Progressive Department Store.'"

Spring Clothes for Dolls

THE THOUSANDS upon thousands of dolls which were sold during the Christmas season are now in need of new Spring outfits. Through display and suggestion on the part of the salespeople, dealers should strive to impress upon the little "mothers" the necessity of Spring trousseaux for their dolls

Wheel Goods

A SPECIAL effort should be made to interest customers in giving their children wheel toys as Easter gifts. Yellow and lavender ribbons tied to the items will give the necessary Easter touch.

Start your letter right: "I saw your ad in PLAYTHINGS."

For Automobiles, Trucks, Tractors, Farm and Industrial Units

Wolf's Head Motor Oil has long been recognized as a superior lubricating oil by engineers who design, develop and manufacture America's gasoline, diesel and kerosene tractors. The superiority of Wolf's Head is due to several factors. First, Wolf's Head is refined from 100% Pennsylvania crude. Second, this crude is refined by independent refining people who have grown up in the refinery business. Behind every drop of Wolf's Head is the cumulative result of 65 years of refinery experience. Constant research is carried on in order to keep abreast of the changing developments which take place in gasoline and diesel engines. Being independently owned with close coordination between ownership and operating management Wolf's Head can quickly take advantage of changes in design of automotive tractor and aviation engines. When you sell Wolf's Head, you are selling the highest quality lubrication ever refined. Thousands of car owners, truck fleet operators, and engine manufacturers will verify this statement.
